

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Nale and daughter, Miss Stella, of Milroy, were guests on Sunday of Mrs. Nale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Zettle.

Irvin M. Burris, of Yeagertown, was in town on Monday. He was much concerned about the outcome of the election in Mifflin county, but certain his favorites would win.

Rev. and Mrs. Leidy Yearick, of Harrison City, this State, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Spayd, over Tuesday and that night. The minister is a cousin of Mr. Spayd.

The baked ham dinner and supper served Saturday in the annex to the Methodist church here was well patronized. Before the guests were all served a fresh supply of meats had to be secured. The net profit was a considerable sum.

Nathaniel Boob, one of Millheim's two remaining Civil War veterans, recently quietly celebrated his 89th birthday anniversary. Mr. Boob has been confined to the house more or less for the past several years due to an injury to a hip, but otherwise he is in good health.

Mrs. Julia Maize, of Millheim, suffered a stroke of paralysis at her home recently. She was seated at the dinner table when the malady came over her, affecting the entire left side and at first affecting her speech. Later however, she improved some and her speech is no longer affected.

An exhibit of electrical appliances made in Park Hotel, Williamsport, during last week, was largely attended by dealers from all sections of Central Pennsylvania. In the evening, entertainment was furnished for the guests. Centre Hall was represented by Cymmer McClenahan, C. W. Boozer, J. S. Boozer, and State College by William Houtz, the contractor.

The following persons visited at the J. F. Wetzel home: Saturday, Bruce M. Dreese, principal of the Herndon school; Friday and Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Arbogast and daughter, Mary Louise. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kline, from Harrisburg. Mrs. Arbogast is a cousin of Mr. Wetzel. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Seasholtz and children, Donald, Marjorie and Joan, were guests of the Wetzel family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wickersham of Thompsonstown, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barton, and the latter couple's daughter, Helen, of Harrisburg, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ehrlich, in town. Donna McKay, a member of the Ehrlich family, on the same day, was delighted to have a visit from her father, R. L. McKay and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harshbarger, of Lewistown.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Royer and son John, of York, on their way home from Lock Haven, where they visited Mrs. Royer's father, James Letterman, stopped in Centre Hall for a few moments, on Sunday. Mr. Royer, a former town boy, is at present employed by Sears-Roebuck in the service department of their large store in York. From appearances the depression has not hit the Royer family, all of which the Reporter is glad to note.

A rooster left his spur marks on the sides of the Studebaker coupe driven by D. W. Bradford, the implement dealer. The dealer was on a business trip and called on Clayton Witmer above Boalsburg, and on coming from the house, observed a white leghorn rooster standing on the running board of the car, fighting his image reflected by the highly polished car panels. The rooster's spur thrusts were hard enough to leave a number of scars on the car. Whoever thought it necessary to protect a car against a rambly rooster's pride of being "cock of the walk."

Mrs. Phillip Irely and daughter Janet, who played at Sunday night's program in Trinity Reformed church, are a part of the Irely trio which has delighted many an audience. Summer, the son, and the third member of this lovely musical family, is at present a student at the University of Pittsburgh. Both children are very brilliant, memorizing and interpreting their numbers in a very superior style. Miss Janet, the cellist, often while playing a difficult alto part, will sing a very sweet obligato while the organ and piano carry the melody. This is considered a very difficult feat. The family does frequent broadcasting and during the past summer was heard on Sunday's program at the New Nittany Lion Inn at State College. We hope to hear more of them at some later time. Mr. and Mrs. Irely usually spend their summers at the home of the former's mother in Aaronsburg. Several winters recently were spent in Chicago and Milwaukee. This winter they will be in Danville and Pittsburgh.

EATING OUTDOORS

IF you have ever traded dry meat sandwiches with a genial Alpine guide over the hospitality of the Swiss hospice: if you have rested on the earthen stoop of a white-washed cottage somewhere in Ireland and eaten bread and tea; lingered over a French dinner "au Bois" with artichokes served in hot butter sauce and wine of ancient vintage; or put away "hot dogs," say, at the old county fair—we needn't waste a paragraph on the luxury of eating outdoors.

It's altogether "what to do." The next question, then, is—how to do it. Foods for outdoor refreshment differ widely according to the occasion. There are motor trips, picnics, hikes, camping, porch lunches, garden parties and so on. Thus there are correct foods for each occasion. For one would as soon wear khaki knickerbockers to a garden party, as to take chilled gelatin salad on a hike.

Some "Outdoor" Recipes A MOTOR TRIP SANDWICH—Piquant Ham Sandwich: Spread between buttered bread the contents of a small can of deviled ham, one teaspoon chopped mustard pickles, one tablespoon chopped walnuts and one tablespoon mayonnaise.

A PICNIC FRUIT PUNCH—Coffee Punch: Mix one cup strong coffee, one cup orange juice and the syrup from two No. 2 cans of grapefruit (reserve the fruit for salads). Add one cup maple syrup and chill. Just before serving add one quart of gingerale and two cups of heavy cream, if desired. The cream may be omitted. This makes almost three quarts of punch.

MAIN DISH FOR CAMPING—Smoky Baked Beans: Chop one onion, add one-half pound of hamburger steak and brown in two tablespoons fat. Add one can tomato soup, one can of oven-baked beans and salt to taste. Heat thoroughly and serve plain or over slices of brown bread.

A PORCH SUPPER DESSERT—Blueberry Charlotte: Remove crusts from eight or ten slices of bread, and butter the slices well. Heat to boiling one No. 2 can of blueberries (or use the fresh berries) and one-fourth cup of sugar. Butter a deep dish, and then arrange alternate layers of bread and hot berries, pressing down well, until all are used up. Let stand several hours in a cold place, turn out in a mold. Slice and serve with cream seasoned with sugar and nutmeg, or with whipped cream.

A GARDEN PARTY SALAD—Gingerale and Grapefruit Salad: Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, then dissolve it in one-half cup of boiling water. Add one-fourth cup sugar and one-fourth cup lemon juice and stir until the sugar is dissolved. When cold, add one cup gingerale and the syrup from one No. 2 can of grapefruit. When about to set, add the grapefruit pulp and eight maraschino cherries; pour into a flat pan or into molds and let chill until stiff. Serve garnished at the side with sprigs of fresh mint and top with cream mayonnaise.
