Consolidation of six synods of the United Lutheran Church in America into three was recommended at a meeting held in Harrisburg last Thursday by a committee representing the six synods.

Various Lutheran conferences throughout the State will discuss the plan. It will then go to the six synods for final action. If any synod disapproves the merger plan will be inoperative.

The committee advanced the three-synod plan as a substitute for a four-synod merger abandoned last April. The consolidation would eliminate the committee felt, overlapping and thus serve as an economic measure.

Boundaries of the proposed consolidated synods would run north and south across the State, dividing it into eastern, central and western districts. The modified plan will not be made public until it comes before the conferences for discussion, the committee said.

REFORMED CHURCH MOVES FOR BEVOLENCE Mobilization of the man power of the Church to "build up and preserve the priceless values" in these times of economic depression is planned by the Reformed Church in the U. S. as part of its celebration of the 400th anniversary of Ulrich Zwingli, founder of the Church, who died a martyr in Switzerland in 1431.

Advertise Products—A classified advertisement in your local newspaper is a short cut from your farm to the consumer.

Feed Pullets Liberally—It is unsafe to hold back pullets by limiting feed when production starts. It seems wiser to feed such birds liberally so they can maintain weight while laying. Grain should be fed generously while mash is kept before the pullets.

Chestnut Is Decayed—Much of the dead chestnut standing for years in the woods is becoming more and more useless for posts or other timber. Unless it is cut and used soon it may as well be left in the woods. The value of such chestnut for poles and mine timber also has decreased.

Little Equipment Needed—Comparatively little equipment is needed for handling beef cattle, say State College livestock specialists. This is especially true of cattle being fattened for the open market. A satisfactory shelter for beef cattle is one that affords adequate protection from wind, rain and snow.

Feed Silage to Sheep—Silage is a splendid roughage for sheep, but it should not be fed when frozen or moldy. Breeding ewes should receive not more than two and one-half pounds daily until after lambing time. Too liberal feeding may cause weak lambs.

Keep Farm Accounts—A good farm record book accurately kept will enable a farmer to really know his business.

Save Planting Material—Boxes of leaf mold, rich soil, and sand can be placed in the basement now for use next spring when planting seeds in flats and boxes.

Farm Hints by Radio—Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11:45 to 12:15 special farm and garden programs are broadcast from WPSC, the radio station owned and operated at 1230 kilocycles by the Pennsylvania State College.
