

DISCOVER TROPICAL SECTION WITHIN THE ARCTIC CIRCLE

Explorers Find Hot Springs in Hidden Valley.

Ottawa.—The often-mentioned "land that time forgot," in Canada's far northwest, is a reality and no mere prospector's myth or fragment of Indian folklore.

Such is the positive assurance given by Dr. J. Norman Henry of Philadelphia and his companions, who are now homeward bound with the proud distinction of being the first white men who have ever gazed upon the hidden tropical valley, which lies within the Arctic circle, in northern British Columbia.

The valley remains today as it must have been in prehistoric eras, before the glacier age swept over North America—a luxuriant garden of rich tropical growth, such as are now common only in the equatorial zone.

Bubbling Hot Springs.
The valley, located in the mountains near the junction of the Racing and Toad rivers, nearly 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton, is three-quarters of a mile wide and nearly a quarter of a mile in length, and is honeycombed with bubbling hot springs, to which it owes its continued existence.

In some of the craters the water was too hot to touch, and Indian guides who know the district vow that the water in the valley does not freeze even in mid-winter when the surrounding district has a temperature of 50 degrees below zero.

The expedition was disappointed in its hope of finding prehistoric animal life in the valley, although Professor Henry believes that systematic excavation might yield well-preserved remains. The best of the vegetation had also been destroyed by fairly recent forest fires, but a number of specimens were obtained which are expected to astound the botanical world.

For centuries, the location of the "valley of steaming waters" has been a jealously guarded secret among a band of Indians inhabiting a section of the Peace river area. Their numbers have been decimated by tuberculosis and other diseases, until today only a handful remain; and, rather than see the secret lost forever, three members of the tribe consented to guide the Henry expedition to the spot.

Rich in Wild Life.
From the Indian camp north of Fort St. John, a ten days' journey led the party to the valley, over a route which would have been impassable but for a collapsible rubber boat which the expedition carried and which enabled them to cross several torrential rivers.

Although no new species of animal life were discovered, the district is rich in game—moose, caribou, mountain sheep, bear and goats being seen in large numbers. Miss Mary Henry, daughter of the expedition's leader, shot two splendid mountain sheep.

The botanical end of the expedition was directed by Mrs. Henry, who collected large numbers of specimens which will be presented to the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, and the Royal Botanical Gardens, Edinburgh. Doctor Henry, leader of the expedition, is a retired physician, and a former college mate of Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railways.

All Around the House

A marshmallow rolled in cinnamon makes a delicious addition to the cupful of cocoa.

Sandpapering baby's shoes before they are worn prevents slipping and saves many a fall.

Whip cream in a pitcher. It stiffens more quickly than in an open bowl and with less spatter.

A slice of ham can be broiled or baked. Any left over can be ground up and served with cream sauce on toast.

Before washing a woolen sweater which has buttons and buttonholes, sew up the buttonholes to prevent their stretching.

Boiling water should be poured at once over fruit stains on linen tablecloths. Milk—used immediately—will remove ink stains.

When making sauces for puddings always stir in the same direction. It makes no difference what direction as long as it is always the same.

When roasting chicken or turkey place the fowl with the breast down in the baking pan for the first half-hour of roasting. This allows the juices to flow into the breast, making it moist and tender.

Raid on Sheep Corral Brings Dog Curfew Law

American Fork, Utah.—A dog curfew has been invoked in this little Utah town. Every canine found on the streets between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m. runs the risk of being shot on sight. The measure was taken after a nocturnal raid on a corral, in which 50 sheep were killed or maimed.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

Doc was polishing up my dental machinery and putting in new parts and getting everything in good shape and proper working order. Doc is a philosopher, and while he has my mouth pried open so that he may more easily and efficiently do his work, he regales me with his opinions of life in general. I am, of course, in no position to reply.

He has just bought a new motor car, high powered, easy riding, simple to operate, and he is advising me to do the same thing. The price is moderate, he assures me, which naturally makes the prospect more alluring. He tells me about a wonderful trip he had last summer, and then he drifts to the complicated character of life as we live it now in civilized North America. Everything moves fast, everyone is trying to outdo his neighbor. We wear ourselves out in trying to get at the head of the procession which, no matter how rapidly we go, always seems to keep ahead of us. We are never at home, never quiet, never satisfied. Life seems to grow more involved and more complex every year.

It was not always so. When we were young we had time to stay at home, time to sit and talk with our friends without likelihood of interruption, time to read, and, if we were so disposed, time to meditate.

Doc thinks he would keenly enjoy the simple life. He has been reading recently the story of how people live in some of the South Sea Islands. The climate is equable, there is no frost in winter and in summer the waters of the Pacific washing the shores of the islands keep them refreshingly cool and pleasant.

It is a wonderfully simple life and as one views it in prospect it seems to bring complete relief from the complexities with which we are harassed in this Twentieth century.

I'm wondering if we would like it after all. Perpetual sunshine might grow monotonous. We would probably lose our appetite for breadfruit. We'd long for new clothes and motor cars and movies and electric lights, and all those things. Maybe life might be too simple.

Head Bumps

Phrenology was originated by F. J. Gall early in the Nineteenth century. He believed that men with certain prominences of the skull possessed definite qualities to a marked degree. He classified individuals with regard to their skull formation after studying hundreds of cases of a given group, such as poets, musicians, etc. One authority has said "the whole system is a tissue of baseless assumptions."

Horns of Lost Cattle

Herd Enrich Texas Man

San Antonio, Texas.—Remains of a lost herd of longhorn cattle, famous in the history of the Texas range, have been found by L. D. Bertillon of Mineola, Texas, and their horns have made him rich.

In 1812 Jacob Don Lonner's entire herd of several thousand longhorns stampeded in a storm near Terlingua creek. They were never found.

That is, not until Bertillon tramped a nearby canyon to a cave opening and found a great heap of bones and horns. Bertillon has since sold more than $50,000 worth of horns, and is now negotiating for a sale to the prince of Wales.

Large-Hearted Fish
A catfish weighing about two and one-half pounds swam up to the boat of Clifford King, of Del Rio, Texas, and nibbled bits of chicken tossed to it. After taking a few bites the fish swam back to the channel and returned in a few moments with four others. They partook of the refreshments, then swam off and returned in a short time with a whole school of fish about the same size.
