

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Dr. Hugh Morrow is out again after a weeks illness due to grip.

Miss D. L. Kirkpatrick spent Wednesday night at the home of her brother, Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick.

Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick and Prof. T. I. Mairs, the latter of State College, attended a meeting of the Council of Huntingdon Presbytery, at Tyrone, on Monday afternoon.

George Bright, formerly tenant on Colyer farm east of Old Fort, but now a resident of Aaronsburg, was recently tendered a genuine surprise party in commemoration of his 53rd birthday.

A drive over the Old Fort-Boalsburg road, on Thursday, revealed a road building crew of more than twenty-five men, and not a single man stood at "attention." Believe it or not, it's the truth.

James S. Reish, of Spring Mills, was named to fill a vacancy made on the Board of Road Viewers by the resignation of Ivan Walker, of Bellefonte, while E. S. Bennett of Runville, will succeed Howard E. Holtzworth, who resigned from the board upon being elected County Commissioner.

Miss Eliza Moore and Mrs. Carrie Geary, both formerly of Centre Hall but now guests at the Phoebe Deacons Home, a Reformed Church institution in Allentown, who had been ill, were found much improved when visited by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kerlin at the home on Sunday.

Mrs. J. M. Kirkpatrick represented District Number Eleven, Woman's Missionary Society at the Presbyterian held in Tyrone on Friday. Mrs. Kirkpatrick is district president of No. 11, which comprises Centre Hall, Lemont, Boalsburg, State College and Pine Grove Mills. In the afternoon of the same day Mrs. Kirkpatrick visited the Bellefonte society meeting.

Miss Thressa Fye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fye, of Colyer, will take up nursing as a profession beginning of February, at which time she will become a student in the nurses' training school connected with Memorial Hospital, Johnstown. Miss Fye is a graduate of Centre Hall High School and stood high in her class work and also took a prominent part in athletics.

Edwin J. Thompson, Esq., of Phillipsburg, is a candidate for delegate to the Democratic National convention to be held in Chicago in June. Our congressional district, composed of the counties of Centre, Clearfield and Blair, is entitled to two delegates. Mr. Thompson was active in last fall's campaign in Centre county and has taken a lively interest in politics since obtaining his majority. He is well known throughout the county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keller, on Saturday, drove to Greensburg and took with them Mrs. Grace Deltz to her home in that place. Returning on Sunday they brought back with them from Johnstown their niece, Miss Margaret Goodhart, and the latter's chum, Miss Cleda Gilbert, who will remain for a week. Miss Margaret will enter the training school for nurses in St. Margaret Hospital, Pittsburgh, beginning next month.

Mrs. Wagner, wife of Dr. John Wagner, president of the Susquehanna Lutheran Synod of which the Penna. Valley Lutheran church is a part, died last week. Interment was made on Saturday in Hazelton. Her death cast a shadow over the services on Sunday at Hazelton incident to the dedication of a Sunday school building of Trinity Lutheran congregation costing $125,000. Rev. Wagner founded Trinity church fifty-five years ago, and at this time is pastor emeritus.

The spring-like weather of last week started many buds pushing forward toward full bloom, and on Monday morning J. L. Tressler, of town, plucked a cluster of dainty little "Fire in the Bush" buds from a bush on the lawn of his neighbor, Clement W. Lisse. One of the buds was fully opened, and we fear that one of these mornings all these pretty little things will feel Old King Winter's cruel icy hand about their dainty throats for having raised their heads in mid-winter.

Mrs. Ruth Thomas and son, William Thomas, Jr., of Johnstown, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Smith, at Pottery Mills, over the week-end. Jesse Smith, son of the late Luther Smith, formerly a resident here, and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Smith, was also a guest at the Smith home. Mrs. Thomas presented her father, who has been blind for a number of years, with a new radio which will help while away the hours, give cheer and instruction.

Mrs. Jennie Phillips, alias Casants, known to the frequenters of her Front street, Phillipsburg, night club as "Ma," was sentenced Saturday morning by Judge M. Ward Fleming, sitting in special session on the Centre county bench, to pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny county workhouse for a period of two years. She had previously been arrested in Clearfield county on a similar charge and was given a suspended sentence by Judge Chase of that county.

The monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary society was held at the home of Mrs. F. V. Goodhart on past Wednesday. There were present Mrs. M. N. Miller, Mrs. Fred Raymond, Mrs. W. H. Potter, Mrs. J. C. Goodhart, Mrs. T. L. Smith, Mrs. S. C. Smith, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs. Emma Emerick, Miss Grace Smith, Mrs. L. E. Allis, Mrs. J. A. Heckman, Miss Martha Baul, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Spyster and Mrs. C. Brunhart. Mrs. Campbell conducted the devotions and led the query. Mrs. Goodhart and Mrs. Spyster also contributed to the program. The hostess, who is the president, served refreshments after the meeting.

SCHOOL NEWS OF INTEREST

GREGG TWP. VOCATIONAL SCHOOL NOTES.

State Project Winners—

The State Project Contest has just announced that the following students of the Gregg Township Vocational School at Spring Mills placed in the State Project contest for the past year:

Samuel Wise, 9th—bees; Russell Mark, 1st—truck; Russell Mark, 2nd—corn; John Zuber, 4th—corn; Dean Digen, 2nd—sheep; John Zuber, 2nd—dairy; Ellis Rearick, 8th—Winner's class grain; Gerald Johnson, 5th—Junior Garden; Richard Feltenberger, 4th—Jr. Potatoes; Ellsworth Stover, 2nd—Jr. swine; J. Adam Condo, 4th—Jr. swine records; Jean Rishel, 1st—dairy, Ellis Rearick, 10th—dairy.

These boys deserve commendation for the fine projects they carried during the year. In order to gain the above recognition it was necessary for each of the boys to enter their project in the State contest competing with hundreds of other projects from various sections of the State. These boys are in Harrisburg this week at the State Farm Products Show where they will receive their prizes.

Give Demonstration—

The following boys in charge of Mr. Hayes gave a demonstration at the Farm Products Show on Monday afternoon: Nevin Shook, Ellis Rearick and John Zuber.

Senior-Freshman Literary Program—

The senior and freshman classes will give a literary program in the Spring Mills Grange hall on Wednesday, January 27, at 8 P. M. The program will consist of musical numbers, playlets, readings, etc., by members of the two classes. The G. T. V. S. orchestra will furnish music for the evening. The public is invited to attend this program which is given for the purpose of giving the student training in dramatic work before the public as well as to furnish entertainment for those who attend. The admission is 10c; the night, Wednesday, January 27.

Basket Ball With Beaver Vocational—

The next high school basket ball games will be played with the boys and girls' teams from the Beaver Vocational H. S. At Beavertown, two weeks ago, the G. T. V. S. girls won by a large score, and the local boys lost by two points. Next Friday when these teams come to Spring Mills the Centre county teams hope to take both games.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Jess Long, all round man at the Centre Hall hotel, had the misfortune to fall down a stairway, injuring himself so that crutches are necessary in locomoting. L. A. Condo is taking his place for the present.

Mrs. Cloyd Brooks is recovering very slowly from a fall at her home five weeks ago, at which time she injured one of her arms and a lower limb. The arm at the present time is giving her the most pain, and must be carried in a sling in a rather unnatural position.

Robert F. Hunter took possession of the treasurer's office on Monday. Delay in assuming charge of the important office was due to a new law applying to the bonding of the treasurer and obtaining a depository bond, the latter bond not having been necessary heretofore.

Frank S. Musser, now tenant on the A. E. Lee farm, west of Spring Mills, announces sale of his entire stock and farm implements, and will discontinue farming after having followed that vocation for about thirty years. He has not decided as yet what he will engage in or where he will locate next spring.

H. W. Dinges, of near Centre Hall, spent the week-end with his sister, Mrs. Rossmann, and husband, John C. Rossmann, in Mifflinsburg, having made the trip on the Greyhound. Mr. Rossmann, it will be recalled, had the misfortune some time ago to break a hip bone, and while the injury is healing he must use crutches to walk.

Slay Bartley of Spring Mills, was adjudged unsound in mind last week and was taken to the State Hospital at Danville. He had been in the county jail for two weeks or more previous to having been examined as to his sanity by a commission appointed by the court composed of Dr. J. M. Locke, Dr. David Dale, and John J. Bower, Esq.

"No; thank God," said the man rather indignantly, "my name and reputation are unsullied." "Then your wife has left you," suggested Doctor Watson. "My wife," cried his friend, his eyes blazing with anger, "my wife is an angel—loyal and kind and true." "I see," said Doctor Watson, "then your children have turned their backs on you." "I never seemed to know my children," said the man, "until this happened. They have been so brave and tender and sympathetic." "My dear old chap," said Doctor Watson, "you told me you had lost everything. Why, you've lost nothing except a patry bag of gold. Love, loyalty, comradeship—all the really important things—are yours still. Cheer up, and don't be an idiot."
