THE CENTRE REPORTER, CENTRE HALL, PA.

1 4

HOME PLANNING AIDS REVIEWED ON RADIO

Speaker Will Cover the President's Home Building Conference.

Bruce L. Melvin, research secretary of the committee on Farm and Village Housing, of the President's conference on home building and ownership, will tell National Farm and Home Hour listeners what aids to planning farm and city houses can be had from the committee, when he speaks in the United States Department of Agriculture period of the Farm and Home Hour.

The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union monthly broadcast will be heard in the National Farm Home Hour on Wednesday, January 20, and will feature a prominent speaker on agricultural subjects.

Another episode in the experiences of the United States Forest Rangers will be given on Thursday, January 21. This series, inaugurated this month, is designed to arouse greater interest in forest fire prevention and protection.

Many Government Speakers on Air

Five hundred and fifteen broadcasting hours were utilized by the United States government over the networks of the National Broadcasting company during 1931, M. H. Aylesworth, president of the company, reports.

The United States Department of Agriculture made the greatest use of radio during the year. Exactly 254 officials of this department gave 5S1

"If only she would put me in my place the way she used to when I was a child. If only she wouldn't break my heart and madden me by standing for it all. Why did I walk out and slam the door on her just now? Dear darling, she would go through fire for me, and I am a beast to her. Why was I rude to her in front of her friends? How crushed she looked. Oh Mother, how can I treat you so!" And yet, somehow, the daughter of this mother could and did until, in their circle of friends, it was not unusual to hear an exasperated parent exclaim to a child, "Don't be rude about it. You'll soon have the reputation of treating me as the mother of Theresa is treated by her daughter."

Inevitably, it got about, this tyranny of daughter over parent, and the situation became pretty well unbearable all the way around. Except, strangely, the mother of Theresa, even while her daughter wilted and agonized over what was happening, seemed fascinated by the change. There was something actually saddistic about the way she bared herself for the blows of her child, asking questions that she must have known would bring wrath upon her head.

"Daughter, why do you wear your skirts so short. They're ugly." "For the reason that it pleases me to, and if you don't like them, don't look."

"Daughter, where are you going?" "When I want to announce every move I make, I'll post a bulletin."

"Daughter, you look a little pale tonight. Are you tired?" "Mother, if you ask me that again, tired him out, exhausted him. And yet, with these legitimate grievances, he I'll go mad.' adored her, as those who knew the It was shocking, it was terrible, it mother of Theresa could testify-glowas embarrassing even to have to ried in her dominance, complained bithear, and it seemed to the daughter terly of her all his life, and died in her that sometimes she actually went about that home with little needles With Theresa, her only child, every and pins of irritation popping out all over her. Every move of her mothone predicted total eclipse. There was er's seemed a source of irritation. To no withstanding the overshadowing figure of her mother. The girl could hear her crack nuts; see her spill a not be expected to develop a personbit of coffee over into her saucer; ality of her own while her mother have to listen to the rasp in her voice when she telephoned, were such anathema to her that she would rush upstairs into her rom, slamming the door, locking it, crying there.

At sixty-two, after years of this domination which had reduced her to some one little and gray, the mother of Theresa died, quietly, one night in her sleep, and it was to linger with her daughter forever after that her last words to her had been:

a storm did not burst but rolled up. "For goodness sakes, Mother, if you rather, into a great, portentous gloom, Strange, but for some time the don't stop cracking those nuts, I'll go mother of Theresa, too absorbed in her mad. Haven't you any regard for the career of living for her daughter, did nerves of others?"

That memory in Itself seemed to not realize the change. And therein the girl sufficient punishment; the recollection of those words dancing perceptibly, the girl was bucking her in fire before her as the still form, in will against the alleged iron one of her its small-sized bler, was borne tilted from the house. But her actual parent, and it was to transpire in the end that the mother of Theresa had scourging lay in the years to come.

Why had she treated her so? The dead, cowed footsteps of her parent everywhere about the house

"Well, she has nothing to reproach

The daughter of this dead woman

all futilities, for the opportunity to live her life with her mother over

Yes, she had much to reproach her-

When she was thirty, a bachelor from a neighboring town, in love with a certain wistful quality he saw in

It is doubtful if his offer, any more than his personality, would have meant anything, except that in his plea for his case, he mentioned apologetically

the need for his aged mother to live

"She's old, gets on my nerves a good bit, but there's nothing else to do but have her with us, dear, the

There was her chance, and she grasped it, to baby and indulge and protect, from the possible curtness of

In the name of a mother who, alas,

had not been babled and indulged and protected from the curtness of a daughter, she married the son in order to gain a mother-in-law. And her husband marvels at the happiness that

Old Rule for Longevity

are useful kinds of exercise and it is supposed that this is at least a cause of the great longevity of clergymen.

public speakers, teachers in universities and schoolmasters; and Doctor

Andrew pleasantly observes, that one reason why women require less bodily exercise than men, is, that they are in general more loquacious. - London

Penalized for Smoking

penalizing smoking in the streets is mentioned in the court books of the mayor of Methwold, in Norfolk, Eng-

the record of the court held on Octo-

son that is taken smoaking tobacco

in the street shall forfelt one shillinge

Nicholas Barber for smoaking in the street, and do amerce him one shil-linge." The same rule was repeated at

The earliest instance known of Spectator, October 22, 1831.

Speaking, reading aloud and singing.

her patient sweetness is giving to an

with him after marriage.

few years she has left."

her son, a mother-in-law.

old mother's sunset days.

her, came wooing her for marriage.

again.

self for.

Tots' Smart Togs Made of Kidskin

It includes slippers, hat, coat and pocketbook of soft-as-silk white kidskin. When springtime comes or in sunny climes where nightengales are the very young which must be recksinging their roundelays and the air is oned with seriously. laden with the perfume of gay flowers, This call of the hour for "style" is what more ideal than for her diminumeeting with an especially happy retive ladyship to wear this exquisitely sponse in the realm of leather and dainty outfit styled all of fine snowkidskin apparel for tiny tots. Just white kidskin? now the kiddles who know what's what in the mode, are all excitement and kidskin fashions and some of them over the new kidskin and leather togs are decidedly practical as fashions which are now being featured and must be for children who live in the which are just too cunning for words. north where tardy spring takes its You will agree, after glimpsing the own good time in arriving. The latest costumes pictured herewith, that they rage in wee folk's winter togs is legare all of that-as clever and winsome gings of kidskin. The "dear little dimas leather artistry can make them. pled darling," seated above in the il-

During a recent fashion show, when lustration, is wearing brown kid legthe little girl pictured to the left gings with a blue chinchilla coat colstepped out clad in this striking outfit lared in brown beaver. The leggings made all of bronze kidskin, her apfit snugly with zipper fastening and pearance created nothing less' than a three straps above the knee. sensation. From her smart squaretoed shoes to her perky little chapeau she wears the ultra-fashionable bronze they simply cannot resist, especially if kid. The bronze kid coat has a modishly flared skirt and a voguish cape collar. Beige lapin cuffs the sleeves and lines the collar and a bow of a bit of the fur poses jauntily at the very top-notch of the crown of her Of course the touch of fur is a hat.

so naturally nobody'll know

Now without using dangerous dyes you can darken gray hair naturally, quickly restore its original shade by the world's finest, safe way which is now keeping millions of heads young looking. Benefits the hair as it darkens it to the shade you want. As simple as brushing. Try it. Pay drug-gist 75c for a large bottle of WYETH'S SAGE & SULPHUR and just follow easy directions.

Gaelic Sign Too Attractive

Merchants of Dingwall, Scotland decided that during the annual Mod week last year they would make a hit with visitors by having all signs over their stores in Gaelic. One non-Gaelic business man got a neighbor to write an advertisement of the excellent quality of his wares. When a crowd stormed the place the merchant learned that his sign advertised that any customer coming into the store at a certain time would get "three free drinks." And down came the sign in record time.

Hagerstown, Md. - "When I was a girl I was very sickly, pale, weak and thin, had no strength, no appetite, no life—felt drowsy and heavy. My system was full poison and I broke out with boils," said Mrs. W. H. Talhelm of 235 Alexander St. "Nothing seemed to help this condition until my mother started giving me Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it drove the poison from my system. Then the boils disappeared, my appetite came back, and I gained in weight and strength." Druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Discovery

Apt Illustration

Smith-Hope is really a wonderful thing. Jones-True. One little nibble keep a man fishing all day .- Stray Stories.

Mother Understands

talks before the microphone. Most of these talks were broadcast in the National Farm and Home Hour, broadcast each week day at 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., central standard time.

President Hoover, Mr. Aylesworth's report shows, spoke 29 times, which is the greatest number of times any President has been heard over the radio in one year; Vice President Curtis made three radio speeches; the chief justice, Charles Evans Hughes, snoke five times,

Every member of the cabinet faced the microphone at least once during the year.

Thirty-two members of the senate made 52 radio addresses, and members of the house spoke 25 times.

America's three service bands were heard in 241 contests, many of which were in the National Farm and Home Hour. The Army band broadcast 103 times, the Marine band 71 times, and the Navy band 67 times.

Numerous officials of foreign governments also spoke over the networks.

Since his inauguration President Hoover has made 66 radio addresses. In his seven years as President, Calvin Coolidge spoke only 37 times over the radio. Many of President Hoover's addresses were made directly from the White House.

All known records for a continuous broadcast were broken recently when Gene and Glenn were on the air from WTAM in Cleveland for more than seven hours in the interest of the Cleveland Christmas fund program.

. . . An admirer of Lowell Thomas, sent him a heater for his automobile. "Hope this will keep you from catching cold," read an accompanying Next day he got a dozen note. handkerchiefs-"in case he did." . . .

Elaine Paige, style expert of Women's Radio Review, mentioned in a talk a new style knitted beret that could be made at home, and received three thousand requests for directions.

. . .

"Ive gone ping-pong mad!" says Odetto Myrtil, orchestra leader, mistress of ceremonies, and violin and vocal soloist of the Gaytees orchestra program. She has turned the cellar of her Douglaston (L. I.) home into a game room and installed a doubles tournament table, where a championship match is in full swing -Douglaston vs. Great Neck. . . .

Trends in dairy production is being reviewed in the National Farm and Home Hour by J. B. Shepard, economist in the United States Department of Agriculture.

dividual with the purpose to overthrow it.

 $\Delta \cdot$

Theresa

The Story of a

Repentant Daughter

By Fannie Hurst

(@ by MoClure Newspaper Syndicate.) (WNU Service)

Theresa was a trial. No getting away from that. And as she grew older, the many aggravating little

She had been a dominating young

all emphatic personalities, she was no good at halfway measures. The mother of Theresa, all her life, had been as high-handed as she was soft-hearted; as domineering as she was

Her husband, whom she fretted, even as she was later to fret her daughter, declared all of his married life with her that she enervated him

with her excess of vitality, robbed him of ambition by virtue of the superabundance of hers, wore him down,

ate for her, slept for her, thought for

And all that was true enough until

Theresa reached the age of twenty,

when suddenly there developed in the girl, who lived beneath the shadow of her parent like a chick under the wing of the hen, a slow, a cumulative, a rebellious kind of anger that gathered within her like a storm, but unlike lay danger for the mother of Theresa,

because slowly, oh so slowly and im-

no iron will at all, but an extremely malleable one, only awaiting the inher, and reached decisions for her.

arms, blessing her.

merciful.

And so it was that gradually, but with unrelentless consistency, slowly, surely, the daughter gained the upper hand in the relationship of parent and offspring, and within a twelve-month after she was twenty the transposition of their positions was complete.

Almost imperceptibly robbed of her herself for." domination by a daughter who would had! And down through the years no longer tolerate dictation, you could she went reproaching. Down through see the mother whiten, weaken, age, as she loosed her hold and gave way to the years she went unforgetting and yearning, with that most terrible of what time had shown to be the stronger personality of the two.

Not that there was an open issue. Outwardly, the situation was practically the same. That is, in the beginning at least, the old respect and ebedience to the dictates of the parent were there. But somehow, within herself, and to her own secret loathing, the girl had turned against her parent. The older woman "got on her nerves," as the saying goes. She was capable of being short with her, curt in her replies, even rude. And under this treatment, the mother of Theresa, so astonishingly vulnerable to domination once you pierced her armor, became a timid, haunted creature, a little afraid of her child.

Not but what the younger woman fought off this power of hers when she beheld it descending into her hands. She wanted to be gentle with her mother and patient and all the things that as a faithful doting parent she knew were deserved, but the terrible impatience and rancor were stronger than her will.

"Have you noticed how badly Theresa's daughter is treating her these days? What has come over the girl! Why, she is positively rude and horrid to her. And what a change in Theresa. She stands for it."

True, all true, but not quite so simple as it seemed on the surface. Underneath her sense of triumph over the old domineering ways of her mother, the girl was waging a bitter struggle to throw off this tendency to feel annoyed at her mother's slightest remark; to resent her interest in her affairs; to leave her many questions unanswered and to give her the curt, uncourteous reply instead of the considerate one she would grant a mere stranger.

It came to be almost a madness with her. It was practically impossible for the daughter of Theresa to be civil to her mother, although she land. There is the following entry on would awaken from a troubled sleep resolved to atone in a thousand ways ber 14, 1695-"We agree that any perfor yesterday's rudeness; and then, just let her so much as make a simple statement or evidence a natural infor every time so taken. We present terest in her daughter's affairs, and there she was, ready with the stinging retort or display of ugly manner.

"If only Mother wouldn't be meek about it all," she prayed to herself. | courts held in the years 1696 and 1699.

note of supreme delight to this wee Her voice, almost with a dodging lady of fashion. note in it, as if fearful of rebuke, lin-It is difficult to imagine anything gered on the stillness of the halls and rooms. Here was a girl who, after her mother's death, had everything to more lovely and more modern than the adorable all-white kidskin ensemble shown to the right in the picture. reproach herself for. She had heard This motor costume, as the designer people say of others after a death. chooses to call it, is the very newest increasing call for suede jackets.

GREEN TAKES BIG ROLE FOR WINTER

of the new in little folk's fashions.

Green is held to be the color emblematical of both envy and hope. And so, that is perhaps why we see it so much just now, the envy being that of the woman who admires our frock, coat or hat, and what the hope is you can fill in for yourselves.

But, whatever obvious or obscure reason may prevail, there is no doubt about it that green is one of the colors of this winter season.

Since we have all become such adepts at using color, there is but scant fear of any one of us using the wrong shade of green, something that can easily happen unless one is very wary, and fully conscious of any defects of the complexion or coloring. A good bet is always dark green trimmed with black or brown; it is the bright greens that hold so much peril.

By all means go in for a diet of greens, but exercise caution. Brown, too, is a favorite color, and both green and brown are so much used together this season on both sides of the Atlantic.

Lace Frock Holds Own for Afternoon Doings

Nothing has yet been discovered that will quite take the place of the lace frock for late afternoon and informal evening wear, and at least one of these is to be found in every selfrespecting Paris couture collection. Worth's black lace dinner gown with flounces on the long sleeves and at the back of the skirt was very successful with the buyers, and is being extensively ordered by smart private clients at the moment. It's one of those dresses that are literally sartorial live-savers. Having once seen it, one wonders how one has ever got along without something of the sort.

Gloves to Match Hats

Edict for This Season Whether you have always been a stickler for white gloves or not, you will find it hard to resist the gloves that match the hats this season. There tre queer grape tones that match exactly the felt in the hats. There are red ones and green ones. And it must be admitted that they look extremely smart when well ensembled.

There are also classic single or double-breasted types with wide collars that can be turned up around the ears. The latter are more practical for the girl who goes skating or snow-shoeing. Windbreaker types are also to be had, usually in suede, and there is an

As to older litle girls, the lure of a smart leather jacket is something they go in for active sports. This year there is a greater variety in styles, and the colors are beautiful.

Some models have round collarless necklines, fastening up the front with metal clips. Others have soft round collars.

However, there are kidskin fashions

(@. 1932. Western Newspaper Union.)

PASTEL VELVET By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Another party dress to carry through the midwinter season? Let these sketches of Paris frocks be your inspiration. They give accent to the vogue which at present is so outstanding for transparent velvet in pastel colorings or white or black for the formal gown. The distinctive feature of the white velvet frock, sketched to the left, is its graceful peplum which flares about the hips in a movement which is repeated about the hemline of the skirt. The drop shoulder gives to the other gown the original of which is of black velvet, a pleasing departure from the conventional.

(C. 1932, Western Newspaper Union.)

New Fabrics for Winter Show Subdued Patterns

Printed wools and velvets are smart for winter wear. In keeping with the season's vogue for quiet fabrics, however, the printed patterns are small and subdued in color. Brown velvets studded in dull yellow gold leaves and dark green wools patterned with lighter green figures are indicative of the vogue.

Father-I suppose the boy will get married sometime.

Mother-Oh, yes. I do hope the right young woman will pick him out.

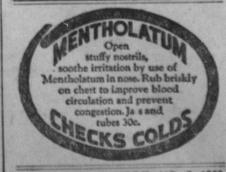

Looking Forward Mother-I declare, I don't see why you want to play with boys, Lorothy. Little Dot-Be yourself, mummyhow did you happen to get married?

ADVISES HEAT OF RED PEPPERS FOR RHEUMATISM Brings Almost Instant Relief

When the intolerable pains of rheumatism or aches or neuritis or lumbago drive you nearly mad . . . don't forget the marvelous heat Nature put into red peppers. For it is this penetrating heat that relieves all pain as it soothes and gets down under the skin, seeming to clear up inflammation instantly. It is clear up inflammation instantly. It is this genuine red pepper's heat that is now contained in an ointment called Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Asyou rub it in you can feel relief come. There's nothing betterfor breaking up a dangerous chest cold, either. All druggists sell Rowles Red Pepper Rub in convenient jars.

It is my humble prayer that I may be of some use in my day and generation .- Hosea Ballou.

W. N. U., BALTIMORE, NO. 3-1232.

