SCOTT SAYS VETO CANNOT HALT PROBE

Special Committee Has Power to Delve Into State Offices.

"Governor Pinchot's veto will not stop the Legislature from investigating the cost of State government and taking steps to bring about economies," announced State Senator Harry B. Scott, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Senator Scott is the author of the resolution which the Governor vetoed on the ground that it was intended to embarrass the administration. The resolution provided for the extension of duties by a special finance committee which already is in existence, so that every department could be called in to give an accounting of money spent and suggest ways to cut down expenses.

Senator Scott was in Philadelphia last week with State Senator Frank Baldwin, of Potter county, another leader of the Senate who is the most discussed candidate for State Treasurer.

"Governor Pinchot is mistaken when he says that my resolution was adopted to embarrass him," declared Scott. "It was intended to meet a serious situation that confronts the taxpayers of this State. We must reduce the cost of government to the people who carry the load. The Legislature took the initiative in this and will carry it through."

"Chairman Philip Sterling, of Philadelphia, can proceed with the inquiry under the resolution adopted in 1929 and the committee which was continued in 1931 can carry on the task. Governor Pinchot vetoed the resolution extending the scope of the inquiry but there is ample authority to make the investigation thorough."

State Senator George Woodward, of Philadelphia, who is a member of the Commission, also said the Scott resolution was not designed to hurt the administration.

"I am not surprised that Governor Pinchot vetoed any extension of power to the special finance committee," he said. "However the committee is still in existence and it will function within a proper scope. If the committee should ask any department head for information I do not think it will be refused."

Governor Pinchot, on Tuesday, vetoed the $2,900,000 McKay hospital bill, which would have given the Centre County hospital approximately $9000 in addition to the regular appropriation. His chief objection seems to have been due to the legislature having divided the $2,900,000 instead of leaving that work for the Department of Welfare controlled by the governor.

Saturday, January 20th, at 2.30 p. m., the Dairymen's League will broadcast the League's second annual dairy day program over WOR, New York.

DEATHS.

FOSTER.—Emily Hartley Foster, wife of Dr. J. V. Foster, of State College, died in the Price private hospital, Philadelphia, at 11:00 o'clock Sunday night following an operation by Dr. Kenney. The operation was one very frequently performed by the operating surgeon and was not regarded as serious and no unfavorable conditions were expected to follow, least of all, death. Death was due to shock, as was noted on the hospital certificate.

Mrs. Foster was taken to Philadelphia about a week previous to the operation. The Price hospital, by the way, is the largest and most completely equipped institution of its kind in the State.

The body was shipped to Lewistown and from there conveyed to the Goodhart mortuary at Centre Hall and later taken to the Foster home from which place funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, with interment at the Branch cemetery. Services were in charge of Rev. Barber, a friend of the family, and Rev. Martin, both former pastors of the State College Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Foster was the daughter of Mrs. N. B. Hartley, who is now living in Lancaster. She is survived by her husband and six children, namely: Helen, a teacher in the Canton High school; John, a medical student in the University of Pennsylvania; Loretta, at present studying dietetics in a State institution at Muncy; David, a student in Dickinson Junior College, Williamsport; Albert and Emma Jane, at home.

There also survive her a brother and two sisters—John Hartley, of Wayne; Misses Lillian and Gertrude Hartley, Philadelphia.

Before locating in State College, about 1915, the Foster family lived in and while residents here, like in State Centre Hall, coming here in 1910, College, Mrs. Foster and the family acquired many warm friends.

MILLER.—A message was received here by Perry H. Luse notifying him of the death of a half sister, Mrs. Miller, widow of Dr. Edward L. Miller, at Mt. Dora, Florida, where the lady lived when Dr. Miller died.

Mrs. Miller before marriage was Miss Joanna Atherton and when a young woman lived in Centre Hall for a number of years with the Dr. Peter Neff family. When her marriage took place, Dr. Miller was living in Johnstown. During the great flood of 1889, Mrs. Miller saved herself and children through heroic means. She threw one of her two children onto a roof of a floating house and jumped with the third in her arms. She was separated from her husband for several days, during which time it was presumed she and her children had perished, but although passing through harrowing experiences, the three landed at a place of safety, and, of course, were later united with the husband and father. About fifteen years ago Dr. Miller moved to Florida to the place where both died.

The deceased is survived by a daughter, Vera, married and living in Chicago, Ill. The son, Clarence, died within two years. Mrs. R. E. Wolf, living in Missouri, is a full sister. The three half-brothers living are Perry H. Luse, Centre Hall; Lloyd Luse, Millheim, and Malcolm Luse, of Johnstown.

The deceased was aged about seventy-four years.

On Monday Mr. Luse received the additional information that his half-sister died on Monday of last week from brain fever.

SMITH.—Mrs. Nannie Smith, wife of William Smith, of Zion, died at the Getzinger hospital, Danville Saturday night following an operation. Funeral services were held from the home of an adopted son, Harry Smith, near Zion, on Tuesday afternoon.

The deceased was the daughter of Daniel Stover, long deceased, and was reared at Earlstown on the Samuel Durnst homestead. Her husband and adopted son, both previously named, survive her. She is also survived by two half-brothers and two half-sisters, namely: Oscar Stover, State College; Foster Stover, Decatur, Ill.; Mrs. Marvin Kuhn, Boalsburg, and Mrs. Foster Sharer, Zion.

The deceased was aged about 67 years.

GRAY.—John I. Gray, long a resident of his farm home known as "Grayhurst," near Stormstown, died on Saturday at the age of almost sixty-nine years. He was a son of John W. and Nancy Stine Gray. His wife, who before marriage was Miss Nancy Wedring, died ten years ago, but there survive him these children: James I. and S. P. Gray and Mrs. June Rodgers at home; Nellie, wife of J. H. B. Rumberger, of Warriors Mark, and Jessie W. Gray, of Brooklyn, N. Y. He also leaves one brother and two sisters, S. P. Gray, of Warriors Mark, Mrs. John Stover, of Tyrone, and Miss Anna J. Gray, who made her home with her brother's family.

were held at the home Wednesday afternoon in charge of Rev. Robert Thoma. Interment in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte.

Mr. Detrich was a member of the St. John's Reformed church since childhood. He was a contract painter by trade and lived in the vicinity of Bellefonte all his life.

KREBS.—Mrs. Agnes Krebs died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Glenn, wife of Postmaster George Glenn, in State College, on Friday morning. Interment was made on Monday afternoon in the Branch cemetery, the pastor of the State College Presbyterian church officiating. Her age was 79 years.

The deceased was the widow of Levi Krebs. She was a daughter of Irvin and Mary Caven Ross and was born in Ferguson township, near Pine Grove Mills. The surviving brother and sisters are J. Hale Ross, Linden Hall; Elmer C. Ross, Lemont; Mrs. George Glenn and Mrs. James Lytle, both of State College. There were no children.

SHEESLEY.—Mary Catharine Sheesley, wife of A. C. Sheesley, died at her home east of Spring Mills, of apoplexy, on Tuesday, aged 61 years, 5 months and 27 days. She was the daughter of David and Matilda Garver Smith, and is survived by her husband and a son, L. P. Smith, forest ranger, of Gregg township, is a brother.

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Heckman chapel and burial in the Heckman cemetery, Rev. W. E. Smith, of the Evangelical church, minister in charge.

SEEKING DAMAGES FOR SHEEP KILLED BY DOGS IN CO.

The agent for the Bureau of Animal Industry, Harrisburg, visited Centre county on Monday, looking after the damages for eight sheep killed for Major H. L. Curtin, in Boggs township, last week. As a result of this recent onslaught on sheep, the agent stated, the Department expects very soon to make a check-up on unlicensed dogs in the county. He stated to the county treasurer that there were over 3000 unlicensed dogs in the county at this date. These figures are secured by taking the number of dogs last year and comparing with licenses issued to date this year.

He stated that the Department does not want to impose fines, but they do want all dogs licensed and tagged and kept under immediate control at all times.

Incidentally, it is mentioned for the benefit of the public, the rates for dogs are as follows: Male dogs, $1.10; female, $2.10; spayed females, $1.10. (Applications for the latter must be accompanied with either veterinarian's certificate or affidavit from the owner of the operation.) Those sending applications by mail, must include in check or money order, 2c postage. If applicants want to avoid delay, they must adhere strictly to these instructions.

Mifflin County Barn Burned.

A loss of between $8000 and $10,000 was caused by fire of unknown origin which destroyed the large new modern barn on a farm owned by H. B. Ryde, Mifflin county, together with 15 cows, six horses and mules, 40 tons of baled straw and a large quantity of grain and hay and considerable farm machinery. The live stock and much of the grain and other crops were the property of the tenant of the farm, William Kauffman, who carried no insurance. The barn was built to replace one destroyed by fire. A dwelling house on one of several farms owned by Mr. Wharton was also destroyed by fire within a few years.

Senator H. B. Scott, on Wednesday evening, served a dinner to the committee on crippled children in Centre county, at the Philips Hotel, Philipsburg. The members of the committee from this section of the county are Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kerlin.

George Luse was "on the air" on Tuesday evening telling his audience about the Farm Show and particularly the part Centre county played in the sheep exhibit at the show.

The geological formations found in drilling for oil at "Strawbridge," in Muncy Valley, Lycoming county, are natural to the geological survey of that region. The drill has reached a depth of 4,400 feet, and it is not expected that gas-producing formation will be struck above 5,000 feet.

IT'S THE "MILLER MOTOR COMPANY" NOW

The garage and equipment of the Homan Motor Company, Centre Hall, was taken over by E. W. Miller, on Tuesday, and is being conducted under the firm name of "Miller Motor Company." The delay of actual transfer was caused by conditions not at first taken into account, but since the beginning of the year these difficulties have been adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned. Mr. Miller has also secured the franchise for the sale of the Chevrolet cars and trucks. The twenty-four hour service carried on by the Homan Motor Company will be continued. Three men are employed at present.

SCOTT FOR AUDITOR GENERAL.

Under the head of "Politics in Pennsylvania, in the Harrisburg Telegraph, on Monday, this reference was made to Senator Scott:

With respect to the Auditor Generalship, the name of Senator Harry B. Scott looms up again. Scott has been attracting unusual attention in the Legislature recently. He is a straight thinker, free in his speech and bold in action and is yet conciliatory by nature and inclined to get his results more by a give and take method than by force. He has many friends in the Grundy camp who would be glad to go along with him.

DAILY—EMERICK.

William Daily, of Williamsport, and Miss Dorothy K. Emerick, of Centre Hall, were married last June, although this is the first appearance of the incident in a newspaper. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton E. Emerick, of Centre Hall, and a graduate of a Williamsport business college. She was engaged in her line of work in Williamsport when the marriage to Mr. Daily, who is employed in a garage, conducted by his father, took place. The couple are now living in Williamsport.
