

From Elevator Job to Baronetcy

Sir Reginald Woseley, until recently an elevator operator in a hotel at Waterloo, Iowa, and his wife photographed as they were about to sail from New York to take their places among the titled ones of Great Britain. Sir Reginald passed up his claims to the baronetcy and came to America many years ago. He was recently persuaded by Lady Woseley, with whom he was reconciled after a long estrangement, to return to England and assume his title.

USE RATS IN STUDY OF DECAY OF TEETH

Find Soundness of Dentition Depends on Diet.

Baltimore.—Two Johns Hopkins university scientists have made public discoveries that go far toward explaining the ways in which diet causes, or prevents, decay of teeth. Two fertilizers, phosphorus and calcium, regulated by vitamin D are the tooth savers.

The experiments showing how to work the combination of the three substances were explained in Science, official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, by Dr. E. V. McCollum and Henry Klein. Their work was aided by grants from the American Dental Association.

The tests were made on rats. In the laboratories their caretakers grew tooth cavities in the rodents almost at will, or prevented them almost entirely.

All this was done simply by giving the rats the right proportions of phosphorus and calcium. This correct ratio was about four parts of phosphorus to three of calcium. Proportions of three to two did not work.

Not only the ratio was important but the amount also. There was a minimum of the fertilizers below which they failed of effectiveness. When the rats were fed too little and in wrong proportions, the report states that 80 per cent of them developed cavities in 140 days. With properly balanced diet this decay was cut to 5 per cent.

The investigators further ascertained that the portion of the phosphorus in the blood is of vital importance, and that this is related to vitamin D.

Calcium and phosphorus are two of the principal fertilizers. They reach

Color Contrasts

Lively contrast in two or even three colors is the keynote of many frocks this year, not only for women, but also for children. The dress on the right features red and white on black, or beige and green on brown, for the unusual scarf collar. The child's dress on the left is pleasing in Spanish tile red flannel and white linen trimmed with contrasting bands of brown, peach and vivid green.—Woman's Home Companion.

FEDERAL AGENTS ARE EYEING 'LOVE CLUBS'

Powers Case Starts Government Probe of Matrimonial Agencies.

Washington.—While Harry F. Powers prepares to go to the gallows in March in the state penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., federal authorities are making a nation-wide investigation of matrimonial agencies and love clubs such as the one through which Powers met two women he murdered. There are more than 300 such agencies in the United States, it is asserted, and they have more than a million "members," including both men and women.

The government charges that men and women are not only being swindled by these organizations but also that through them they are also being placed at the mercy of confidence men, blackmailers, and even killers.

Many Others Like Powers. Powers, who was condemned to die for killing a Chicago woman after he had made love to her and obtained her money after meeting her through a Detroit matrimonial agency, is not the first to take life under such circumstances.

Still remembered is the case of Desire Landru, called "Bluebeard," the Frenchman who dismembered the bodies of 11 women to whom he had made love before robbing and then killing them. Landru lured his victims through "love wanted" notices, as also did Bela Kiss, a Hungarian.

Kiss became engaged to more than 125 women through various matrimonial agencies and killed 30 of them. Years ago Johann Hoch, of Chicago, became acquainted with 12 women whom he married, robbed, and then killed.

Agencies Are Thriving. The fate met by the victims of Powers has not by any means put a damper on the business of the matrimonial agencies and the love clubs. Investigating agents have learned. Hundreds of letters are put into the mails every day in all parts of the country as men and women from all walks of life take advantage of honeyed offers of "soul mates" and "conjugal bliss."

Investigators assert that all acquaintances arranged through these matrimonial agencies are dangerous. There are numerous cases where "love club" correspondence has resulted in happy marriages, but at the same time the dangerous contacts so greatly outnumber the safe ones that federal authorities have asserted that there should be more strict federal supervision of the activities of all of them.

TWO WAYS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

He came into the office without announcement or ceremony, like a mad bull raging, and threw upon the desk before me an official looking letter which seemed to have my signature on it. He was angry, there was every evidence to indicate, and I was the apparent cause of his perturbed state of mind.

"Why do I get a letter like this?" he asked.

It was a notice that under our regulations, because of low grades, he had been placed on probation, and that unless his work in the future improved, he would be automatically dropped from college.

"I'm not on probation," he went on. "You got me in bad with the folks at home, and the whole thing makes me sore. What sort of an outfit do you have in your office anyway? I should think you would know your alphabet at least."

"Did you carry all of your work?" I inquired.

"No, I didn't," he explained, "but I got a 'B' in two hours, and that keeps me off probation."

"It isn't my mistake," I explained. "If it is a mistake. We send out the notices as the record comes from the college office. If an error has been made it will be corrected, and it will be made right just as quickly if you are polite, and if you were, you'd feel a lot better than you do now."

He went out not completely mollified, but calmer than when he entered. I looked into the error. There were two Campbells with the same initials and the grades had become confused.

The next man came in quietly and seated himself in front of me.

"I got the loan you recommended me for," he said, "and I want to thank you for it. You don't know how much it means to me to get a little help just now. The folks at home have had a hard time lately and they can't help me any more this year. I'm pretty nearly through, you know, and I'd hate to give up and not finish when I have only a half year to go."

It is rather uncommon to have people thank me these days for any routine service which I perform and recommending the boy for a loan was rather a routine job for me.

ISAVE 50¢ A WEEK

I'm getting about 35 cigarettes from each pack of TARGET

I SWITCHED from ready-made cigarettes to the new Target Tobacco, and I've been saving over fifty cents a week ever since.

"But that isn't all. The cigarettes I roll from Target look and taste like ready-mades. I even find them consistently fresher."

"Target is real cigarette tobacco. It's a blend of Virginia, Burley and Turkish, just like the ready-mades use. That's what you get when you put out a dime for Target—30 to 40 of the best cigarettes you ever tasted. And who doesn't appreciate a real saving these days?"

"And you get 40 gummed papers free with every package."

AND GET THIS

The U. S. Government Tax on 20 cigarettes amounts to 6 cents. On 20 cigarettes you roll from Target tobacco the tax is just about one cent. And where there is a state tax on cigarettes, you save that much more. Besides, we offer you a MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE of complete satisfaction. Try a package. If you don't say they're the best cigarettes you ever rolled, return the half empty package, and your store man will return your dime.

Health Associated With Slimness and Laughter

The old advice, "Laugh and grow fat," is out of date. Not many years ago fatness was regarded as a sign of robust health, but we know now that it is undesirable even in babies or young children.

Dr. Lechmere Anderson, medical officer for Doncaster, England, claims that the phrase should be "Laugh and grow healthy." "Laughter," he says, "is essentially associated with good health, but adipose tissue. If at all undue, cannot be regarded as a favorable condition. Leanness of body is far more likely to be associated with strength and energy."

The fat person, he explains, has to make his heart and his muscles work far harder than they were designed to do, since they are called upon to deal with an extra load of from one to many pounds. For those who wish to become slim and healthy Doctor Anderson recommends the taking of little sugar, bread, or starchy foods—and laughter.

NIP CHEST COLDS, QUICK WITH HEAT OF RED PEPPERS

Relieves Almost Instantly
To break up congestion, to restore free circulation and stop chest colds... to alleviate the circulatory pains and aches of rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago... Nature has stored up in red peppers a marvelous therapeutic heat that penetrates deeply into the skin without blistering or burning and swiftly brings relief. Now this genuine red pepper heat is contained in an ointment, Rowles Red Pepper Rub. As you rub it on you'll feel better. And in 3 minutes relief comes. Drug stores sell Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Try it.

All Around the House

When fish is to be served as the main dish allow a half pound for each person.

Don't have anything else in the oven when you plan to bake a cake and place cake as near the center of oven as possible.

Gelatin for fruit desserts should be whipped until it is the consistency of whipped cream, thick enough to prevent the fruits settling to the bottom of the mold.

To freshen stale biscuits dip them in cold water, one at a time, place them in a paper bag and tightly twist the top and place in a hot oven for several minutes.

Rub a little salt and vinegar into your hands if they become shriveled from washing out a garment. It will remove the unpleasant feeling and leave the skin soft and smooth.

Never fill a hot water bottle from a boiling kettle. Water that is too hot is harmful to the rubber bottle. Use water from 150 to 160 degrees Fahrenheit and pour it from the pitcher into the bottle.

POTPOURRI

Catching Ermine

Because an ordinary trap would tear the delicate fur of the ermine, a steel blade is greased and placed in the snow to lure the animal by its resemblance to ice. Licking the knife, the tongue of the animal freezes to the steel blade because of the low temperature during trapping season. It then becomes an easy victim.

Archaeological Work

Shows Increase in U. S.

Washington.—In contrast with past business conditions, and slightly ahead of those of the present, archaeological research is experiencing a boom in southwest United States.

With activity centering around Santa Fe, N. M., 34 permits were issued during the past year to various scientific institutions and universities, while 22 were issued the previous year.

Prediction of requests for a greater number of permits for next year has been made by Jesse U. Nusbaum, consulting archeologist in charge of the archeological laboratory at the point.

Student Unable to Sell Gold That He Panned

Toronto, Ont.—A University of Toronto student is "broke" with $20 in gold in his pocket.

The student spent the summer panning gold in the Yukon. He sold part of his earnings in the north country, and brought more than an ounce back.

Now he can't dispose of his ounce of gold. The banks won't accept it, the jewelry stores said the amount was "too small to bother with" and the refiners agreed.

"It's a funny situation when you can't sell gold," he said, "but maybe it's the gold standard."
