

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. H. E. Fye, on Thursday evening, entertained the Senior Service class in the Lutheran Sunday school at her home.

J. M. Cordon this week repaired the Odenkirck store room, soon to be occupied by George Johnston, the grocer.

Mrs. R. E. Corman, of Wilkensburg, was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisser, from Wednesday to Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Leister took dinner on Friday at the N. R. Belry home, at Rebersburg, and brought home Mrs. Clara Leister.

Miss Gertrude Pruyn, of Hollidaysburg, was a week-end visitor at the Methodist parsonage. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Pruyn, and family, were Sunday visitors.

Little Miss Ellen Virginia Hemmels is spending a week at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McClenahan, while her parents are visiting in Altoona.

The Rev. Seth Russell, pastor of the Pine Grove Mills Methodist church, was a recent caller at the Spring Mills parsonage. Mr. Russell is a junior at Pennsylvania State College.

A report that appears to be authentic is to the effect that the trustees of the defunct Penns Valley Banking Company expect to pay a second fifteen per cent dividend within a very short period.

Miss Cora Luse, a teacher for several years in the Altoona High school, was at her home here for the week-end. Using the Greyhound as a means of transportation, she remained here until Monday afternoon.

General discussion of the new Penn State athletic policy will draw former students from all parts of Centre county for their organization meeting at 8 o'clock on Monday evening, February 29, in the Little Theatre in Old Main, Pennsylvania State College.

The George Washington social held by the class in the Methodist Sunday school taught by Miss Elizabeth Bartholomew, on Saturday night, gave a very favorable net profit. The attendance was very good and all were pleased with the program.

Mrs. Bessie Comly, who lives on the Van Tries farm, near Linden Hall, was a caller at this office on Saturday concerning the public sale of farm stock and implements, Wednesday, March 9th. She will sell five work horses, all guaranteed by her to be gentle and safe.

John J. Bower, Esq., Democratic chairman in Centre county, for several years, is a candidate to succeed himself. A friendly rival for the honor is Charles Freeman, of Philipsburg, the pleasant mannered and competent clerk of the Democratic board of county commissioners.

The gas well at Strawbridge, in Muncy Valley, on Friday, had reached a depth of 5,962 feet. It is believed that the Oriskany sand in this operation will not be encountered above 5,200 feet. Drilling is progressing at a fairly good rate of speed as the formation is now softer than that being drilled through several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gibboney, of near Belleville, on passing through town on Monday, stopped at this office just long enough to let it be known who they were. Mr. Gibboney is the well-known apple grower in Milfin county, and it is likely the couple were on their way to Penn State College for additional information on the subject uppermost in their minds during much of the year.

Mrs. C. E. Emery was accompanied to Philadelphia Wednesday of last week by Dr. Hugh Morrow to consult a specialist at the Wills Eye and Ear hospital. Mrs. Emery has been suffering from eye trouble that was diagnosed at the hospital named as resulting from an infected tooth in the lower jaw. As soon as conditions will permit a second trip will be made to the hospital for the purpose of having the tooth removed.

The following persons enjoyed a turkey dinner at the Harry Cummings home on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foust, Misses Alice Foust, Pauline Burkholder, Russell Allen, Mrs. Rebecca Foust, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Garbrick, Paul Wasson, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Leister, Mrs. Clara Leister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cummings, Leo Cummings, Miss Tessie Cummings, Chester Foust, Miss Agnes Cummings. The bird which furnished the piece of resistance weighed twenty pounds.

William R. Camp, of Tyrone, has been ill from a serious attack of asthma for several weeks, but his condition has improved during the recent past, which inspires hopes that he will fully recover. Mr. Camp became a resident of Centre Hall about fifty years ago and engaged in undertaking and furniture, manufacturing some articles of furniture. He removed to Tyrone thirty-five or more years ago where he conducted a furniture store until he retired. He is in the eighty-third year of his age.

FLOYD G. HOENSTINE IS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT

A letter to the Centre Reporter from Floyd G. Hoehnstine, of Hollidaysburg, makes announcement of his candidacy, on the Republican ticket, for Representative in Congress from this, the 23rd, district. His pledge to the people and his opinion on certain matters is set forth in the following communication:

In announcing my candidacy for the office of Representative in Congress from the 23rd district (Blair, Centre and Clearfield counties) I want to state that I desire the opportunity to represent and work in the legislative halls for the good of the people and the furtherance of God and country.

If elected, I shall endeavor at all times to advance the interests of the people of this district. Many things can be done by an aggressive representative to improve the welfare of the citizens individually and collectively. Past history will prove that the outstanding members of the legislative bodies were young men when they assumed offices of this nature. A congressman's value to the people he represents will naturally increase with the years of service but his does not imply that a congressman must be in congress 6, 8 or 10 years before his influence is felt.

The four principal fields of employment for the people of this district are: Railroad, Farming, Mining and the Administration of Public Affairs. Five years employment in the coal industry has acquainted me with the fundamentals of mining. My former employment with the Pennsylvania Railroad and my daily association with officials and employees has acquainted me with the difficult tasks facing that industry and their effect on the community. Being born, reared and the owner of a farm, I am well acquainted with the farming situation and will welcome the opportunity to improve the conditions of the farmer of this particular section of the United States.

The management of public affairs, which is commonly known as politics, is concerned with the employment of over 6000 men and women in this district, part or full time. The welfare and interests of this large number of individuals must be safeguarded against a constant turnover, intimidation or the undermining of their characters.

One other problem of vital importance is the welfare of the disabled veterans. No nation can afford to permit the men who offered their lives in defense of their country to become beggars or dependent upon the community. The present congress as well as past congresses have been petitioned to pass a bill granting pensions to the widows and orphans of World War veterans. There are approximately 200 such families residing in this district who would benefit from such a bill, many of whom are in want and dependent upon charity.

A new order of politics is necessary in order to bring back prosperity. A relationship between individuals and interests that will bring a better understanding and a fuller cooperation for the mutual benefit of all must be established. A reduction in wages in certain classes of incomes must be made in order to conform with the present conditions and the proper place to inaugurate such a reduction is in the salaries of the congressmen where a raise of 33 per cent was made a few years ago.

The Federal Government's obligation to alleviate distress during the present economic conditions is as great as the State's or the community's. Only by full cooperation between the individual, the local, State and National Governments can the need for relief at the present time be adequately met. If elected I pledge my whole hearted effort, my undivided time and full cooperation to the solution of the present day problems and the tasks of a congressman.

CONCERT BY TRANSUE SINGERS IN METHODIST CHURCH

A concert by the Transue Singers has been scheduled for Sunday evening, March 6th, in the local M. E. church. The soloists are Anna Edmondson Lutz, mezzo-contralto; Earle Transue, director, and tenor; accompanist, Gene Russell.

The concert promises to be of a high musical order. A silver offering will be taken.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The sixth child, a son, was born on Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Snyder. Upon arrival he tipped the beam at eight pounds. Dr. Morrow was the physician in charge.

There is but a very slight change in the physical condition of Mrs. P. H. Luse who has been ill and confined to bed for a period of over twelve weeks. She is delirious much of the time, although in this respect the only improvement is noticed.

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Leister motored to Williamsport, taking with them Miss Agnes Cummings, of Centre Hall, and Paul Wasson, of State College. The latter two returned to school after a week-end visit in Centre county. They are very much pleased with their school work, both in Healeys and Potts' colleges.

The Men's Choir of the Millheim Lutheran church rendered several numbers on Wednesday evening in a program given in connection with the dedication of a pipe organ in the Beaver Springs Lutheran church. The choir is composed of twenty members, all of whom did themselves credit.

Walter Soliski, accompanied by his bride, of Pittsburgh, on a trip by auto through this section, stopped over night with Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Smith. Walter will be recalled as the genteel shoemaker who did business here. The couple had the appearance of having missed the ills of the depression.

C.N. Kryder, who has been ill for more than three weeks at his home here from something akin to bronchial pneumonia, continues to be bedfast all the time. Indeed, his condition at times is considered somewhat alarming, since during each afternoon a high fever contributes to the complications.

The Susquehanna University Glee Club, Solingsgrove, will give a recital in the Municipal Theatre, Millheim, on Thursday evening, March 3, at 8:00 o'clock, under the auspices of the men's choir of the Lutheran church in Millheim. The Glee Club will be accompanied by a string quartette. The admission charge will be 15 and 25 cents.

A Washington program, under the auspices of the East Penns Valley High School, Prof. O. R. Wagner, principal, was given on Monday evening in the High school building. Numbers on the program were put on by several schools in the district covered by the High school. These were followed by an address by Hon. Francis Lee Lybarger, of Millburg. The entire evening was employed by the large number of school children and patrons in Penn and Haines townships and Millheim borough.

John I. Thomas, of Philipsburg, for fourteen years employed in the State Mining Department, will retire March 1st as Deputy Secretary of Mines.

In the "Good Old Days"

In 1680 or thereabouts there seems to have been a strong idea as to the business of being a wife. Here it is, as printed in the man-made books and newspapers of the good old days: "The wife's occupation is to make her husband and herself some clothes, to make blankets and coverlets, to wash and wring, to ynowne all manner of corns (grain), to make malte, to make heye, to helpe the husband to fylle the dounge cart, drive the plough, to loade heye, corne and suche other. To go to market, to sel butter, chese, mylke, egges, chekyns, hennes, pygges, gese, and all manner of cornes." Three gentle cheers for the men of old, and see how you like it!—Exchange.

Not Inviting

A man out near Ontario had been pestered by fruit thieves and although he had applied to the authorities, they had failed to help him. Finally he hit upon a bright idea, that so far has worked like a charm.

The motorist, as he pulls up alongside the fence with the intention of climbing over and helping himself to forbidden fruit, is suddenly confronted by the sign: Skunk Farm.

Of course, you may believe it, or not, as you choose, but most people, whether they do believe it or not, do not care to take any chances.

Picture Depicts First Forms of Life

Scientists generally agree that the first forms of life originated in water and an effort to illustrate this has been made in an oil painting by Charles R. Knight of New York, which has been placed in the hall of historical geology of the Field Museum of Natural History. The painting is a present by a patron of the institution. The artist gave a great deal of time to scientific investigation before making the painting. In it he has portrayed these earliest known forms of life as appearing in a group of pools. Within the waters of these pools algae of a blue-green hue are shown in such quantities as to tint the liquid with their colors. They also have built up a series of stony basins. In other pools cushion-shaped forms of pink algae are shown. Other portions of the deposits are seen to be tinged brown or orange by algae of the colors. The adjoining rocks are represented as being bare and naked, no other life being in existence at this time. The rocks are mostly of black lava, but some areas of a reddish color are shown to indicate the great iron-bearing deposits which were also formed at this time.

Fair Warning

When Viola Lawrence, Goldwin film editor, was first learning to drive her nifty coupe, she hid herself to the great open roads around Beverly. Crawling up one of these, she was horrified to see a turtle directly in her path. It was a hundred-foot boulevard, but Vi didn't want to take any chances so she stopped the car, picked up the turtle and carried it across the road.

Next day, in about the same place, she saw the turtle again crossing the road, but in the opposite direction. "Turtle," she cried, feeling more confident of her steering ability, "you take your own chances, I'm not getting out today."—Los Angeles Times.

Altoona Man Gets Higher Price Per Word For Writing Than George Bernard Shaw

Wins New Automobile for Twenty-Word Slogan at Average to Him of $40 Per Word

RALPH J. Alleman, of 2611 17th Ave., Altoona, Pa., has topped George Bernard Shaw and other literary lights in the price he receives per word for his writing. It was announced today. He has won a new car for a twenty-word slogan submitted in the national Cremo Twenty Word Cigar Band Statement Contest. The price paid to him per word is around $40. "An auto a day helps drive depression away" is the slogan which the American Cigar Company seems to be following in its contest for a 20-word statement descriptive of the merits of the Certified Cremo Cigar. Every day, Sunday excepted, until further notice, it is awarding a closed car, allowing a choice of the three leading popu-
