

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Laura Runkle has been ill with grip for the past two weeks, but is now well on the way to complete recovery.

The Jodon horse sale at Pleasant Gap, scheduled for Monday of this week, was postponed until this (Thursday) afternoon on account of bad weather conditions.

Charles Chronister, of Tyrone, moved into the tenement house on the Edward Durst farm and will be employed by Charles Andrews on the farm.

Many brands of so-called quick-drying enamels on the market, but there is only one Genuine Hilo, 4-hour hard-drying enamel. Sold by H. P. Schaeffer's Hardware, Bellefonte. 4t

Freight service over the Lewisburg and Tyrone branch has been curtailed, since the early part of this month. Instead of a freight train running east and west each day, there is but one train, making a one-way trip daily.

The train going west on the L. & T. Monday morning, was five and one-half hours late. The delay was caused by trans on the main lines being late, due to heavy snows and high winds.

The Centre Hall hotel was filled with guests to the number of twenty-five or more, Monday night, who became stranded because of road conditions due to the March blizzard. These people were from Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Pittsburgh.

Judge Albert W. Johnson, on Sunday, spoke at all of the services in the Lutheran church at State College. He was accompanied to this college town by W. A. Pursley and John Showalter, also prominent Union county citizens. On their return home, Monday morning, they became snowbound a short distance east of Old Fort and returned to Centre Hall, where the Federal Court Judge boarded the east-bound train, five hours late, for his home. His companions remained here until Tuesday.

Once Manager W. H. Brown gets the State appropriation for the Centre County hospital allowed in a brief article on our last week's edition, he will be in shape to begin at once the proposed nurses' home and have enough cash left to help out all the neighboring hospitals in need. The legislature in 1931 at its regular session appropriated $29,000 to the Centre County Institution, but the figures in the item referred to had too many ciphers by three.

A small group of thoughtful and generous persons in Centre Hall, last week caused to be delivered at the home of John Confer a variety of foods for the use of the family. It will be recalled that Mr. Confer's daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bohrman, died recently, and it was through this sad incident that the wants of the family were discovered. Although much in need the family had not made application for aid to any local agency. The supply of provisions which were delivered by F. V. Goodhart, covered a wide range and will provide for the family's need of necessities for several months. The Confer family lives at Potters Mills.

"GOODBYE, SUE—
"Goodbye, Joe!" The car lurched forward, leaving Mrs. Saul alone on the farmhouse porch. A fifty-mile drive lay ahead of the travelers.

"It's lonely for Mother," Sue observed as she tucked in the rug. "She ought to give up the farm."
"She'd be miserable anywhere else," Joe replied. "All we can do is to visit her oftener."
"Oftener!" Sue echoed. "We're there once a month!"
Joe smiled. "Well, there's the telephone, you know. We could call her up each week. It wouldn't cost much—thirty-five cents, perhaps."
Sue was surprised. "Is that all?" she exclaimed. "Then let's do it! Mother would be thrilled by a regular telephone date every Wednesday night!"
