FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Favor Early Plants—

Strong, healthy plants need good soil, fairly uniform growing conditions, plenty of sunlight, temperature not high by day nor too low at night, sufficient ventilation and proper moisture. Water only on a clear day, when the surface will dry quickly. Apply water only when necessary and wet the soil deeply each time.

Feed Chicks Early—

Chicks can be fed safely as soon as they are well dried off, active and ready to be placed in the brooder house, say Penn State poultry specialists.

Prune Hardy Vines—

Inspect the hardy vines. All except the wistaria can be pruned now. Do not allow the vines to get too thick. Also be sure that they are properly fastened to their supports.

Agitation Hastens Cooling—

Milk cooled by direct immersion cools more rapidly if the water is agitated. Milk cools more uniformly throughout the can when agitation is employed. Experiments at State College show that there is no advantage in agitating the water if milk is not to be cooled below 60 degrees F.

Eat Vegetables Daily—

Each member of the family requires two vegetables besides potatoes each day. A leafy green vegetable should be served at least three times a week. Tomatoes can be used often in the diet. The well-planned garden will provide for these needs.

Trim Market Lambs—

To reduce feed costs and improve the quality of market lambs, all lambs should be docked early and the ram lambs should be castrated soon afterward. Most markets discriminate severely against the untrimmed lamb.

Use Sucker Selons—

Sucker wood can be used for selons to be employed in grafting work this spring.

Star Boarders

ROBERT HART eyed his herd speculatively. Comfortably bedded down and content in their stanchions, forty cows returned his gaze.

"Star boarders," he muttered, "that's what half of them are. I can't afford to replace them—and I can't afford to keep them!" It was the old problem of dairy farming and Mr. Hart pondered it afresh as he returned to the house. "There were a couple of telephone calls, Bob," said Mrs. Hart as he entered. "Old Mr. Beal is sick again. Can you take over any of his cows? Then Tom Parker called. He wants to buy for slaughtering." Mr. Hart laughed. "Let me have the telephone! Coming together like that, I'll say 'yes' to both of them!"
