

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Well, March went out like a lion; in fact, like a pair of lions.

Mrs. W. W. Kerlin has been ill with grip for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Finkle and daughter Dorothy Ann, of Millfield, were guests of Mrs. Finkle's parents here over Easter.

F. D. Lee, on Sunday morning, suffered a severe attack of acute indigestion from which he has now fully recovered.

Mrs. Alvin Myers, of Altoona, came here last week to be with her mother, Mrs. Sarah Stover, who has been very seriously ill for some weeks.

The Baker House, Lewisburg, remodeled into apartments by J. P. Strickler when prohibition came in, was sold in a bankruptcy sale and was purchased by E. M. Elliott, Coudersport, for the sum of $6250.

1932 makes the twentieth year we have sold the Old Reliable tested Burpee's Garden Seeds in bulk, insuring you better results. Sold by H. P. Schaeffer Hardware, Bell 1431, Bellefonte, Pa. 21.015

The Huntington Presbytery will open a session in State College on April 11 and continue throughout two days, being without a Moderator, Dr. Speer will preside until a new Moderator is elected.

Four children in the Elmer Runkle family—Miss Sarah, Jay, Dean and Jannette, in town, have been ill during the past ten days or more. At this time all of them are very much improved.

Alfred E. Crawford, teacher of the Linden Hall school, was unable to reach the school house from Centre Hall on Monday and Tuesday mornings on account of the drifted condition of the road in the Pine Stump section.

James Seanson, long a truck driver for the State Highway Department, was one of nine drivers from Centre county recently taken to Clearfield where they attended a school giving special instructions in handling large trucks.

Ralph Henney, son of W. A. Henney, reached town the latter part of last week from Philadelphia. He is in the regular U. S. Army service and is now located in the city named where he is taking training in a special line of military work.

The State Highway department blasted the State hill, just west of Port Matilda, the early part of last week, and the power shovel has been busy casting the earth over the embankment, and loading trucks which have been hauling this material on the streets of the town.

Several automobiles standing at the Van Ties farm buildings at Linden Hall, last Friday night, were robbed of the greater part of the gasoline in their tanks while the owners were at the farm house engaged in dancing. The cars were run a short distance away, the gas siphoned from them, and returned.

Mrs. S. J. German, of Laurel, Dea. ware, accompanied H. E. Keller to his home here for the Easter vacation. Mr. Keller, during the six years he has been teaching in Delaware, has been rooming and boarding with Mr. and Mrs. German, being one of sixteen school teachers to do so. They left for the Delaware town early Monday morning by auto.

John S. Getchell and son Ralph, of Uniontown, drove to Centre Hall on Sunday and brought with them Mrs. Getchell's mother, Mrs. Dolly Brumgart, expecting to leave her here at her home. Her condition upon arriving here was such that it was thought best to take her back home with them, and this was done. The aged lady failed to realize that she was at her own home.

Mrs. Rebecca Foust, widow of Howard Foust, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Cummings, west of Old Fort, on Monday morning while dressing had the misfortune to fall and break a bone in the left leg at the ankle. Road conditions prevented surgical attention until the following day. Mrs. Foust is 75 years of age, which fact makes the mishap serious.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Smith, in town, during the past week entertained a number of relatives of Mr. Smith from various sections. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Duzenberry, Harrisburg; Mrs. Noll of Vicksburg; Mrs. Kramer, of New York City, who were occupants of a car which stopped for an afternoon. Two of Mr. Smith's brothers who visited him were Washington Smith, accompanied by his son, George, of Rockview, and Edgar Smith, accompanied by his wife, of Alliance, Ohio. The Alliance Mr. Smith and Mr. Duzenberry are railroad men.

Floyd G. Hoenstine, of Hollidaysburg, Republican candidate for representative in Congress from this, the 23rd, district, made his first visit to Centre Hall on Friday, in the interest, of course, of his candidacy. Mr. Hoenstine is a clean-cut young man, of pleasing personality, and believes that in view of his excellent showing in his first attempt at the nomination, two years ago, his chances to capture the Republican nomination on April 26th are encouraging. He has been investigating the record of the Hon. Mitchell Chase, the present Congressman, at Washington, and finds that that gentleman has been conspicuous by his absence in a large number of cases when important legislation was voted upon. In Mr. Hoenstine's opinion, this is not rendering real service to a congressman's constituency, and, of course, he is right. Neither has the Hon. Mr. Chase been instrumental in bringing about such beneficial legislation in the interest of ex-service men as he would have them believe, according to Mr. Hoenstine.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Michael Delaney has almost fully recovered from a recent illness.

Pattie Boozer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Boozer, has been ill for a week or more.

Chorus practice Friday evening in the High school building. There still remain three nights of this term. A full chorus is desired every night.

Walter Spannake, of Irvington, N. J., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Miller since Friday. He is employed by his father, who is an architect, in his New York office.

If you are a Reporter subscriber and are changing address this spring, kindly give us at once both your old and new addresses so that you will not miss an issue of your paper.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Kline and young son, David, of Youngstown, Ohio, arrived here Thursday evening of last week, having responded to a call due to the illness of Mrs. Kline's father, D. A. Boozer.

Miss Sara Haines, teacher in the Centre Hall High school, who commutes from her home in Millheim daily during the school term, was the guest of Miss Agnes Geary over Monday night owing to the road conditions.

The Miller Motor company made the following sales of Chevrolet cars recently: Allison Hollabaugh, State College, coach; C. W. Bollinger, Keelsville, coach; H. T. Spicher, Pleasant Gap, coupe; Samuel Waxler, Renovo, 1 1/2 ton truck.

Miss Terrissa Fye, a student nurse in the Johnstown City hospital, was at her home near Tusseyville during Easter. She is a graduate of Centre Hall High, but was obliged to wait nearly a year after graduating to attain the proper age before she could enter as a student nurse.

Ralph Musser, a gas and oil distributor with headquarters at Mill Hall, this week moved his family to Rock Springs into the William McWilliams property purchased by him. He will continue business at Mill Hall as heretofore, but prefers living at the place named. The property has been greatly improved by the new owner since he acquired it.

D. A. Boozer, who became ill Wednesday of last week, is very much better at this time, but continues to be confined to bed. Dr. Cassidy, of Lewisburg, and Dr. Morrow were in consultation over the case last week, since which time the latter has been in charge, with Miss Beatrice Noll, R. N., of Pleasant Gap, in care of the patient. His illness began with dizziness and vomiting.

Balanced Farming Would Help
Farmers, Says Chicago Banker

Melvin A. Traylor Would Make Modern Farm More
Self-Contained

Speaks From Own Experience

Speaking before the International Chamber of Commerce at Washington, Melvin A. Traylor, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, said in part:

Like all of us, in every line of activity, the farmer was deceived by high values in the time of his prosperity. In a well-intentioned, but what now seems at least an unfortunate venture, the Government provided abundant credit facilities for the farmer's use. These facilities were supplemented by other large and liberal lending agencies which, likewise, were misled by land values. The result was that millions of farmers assumed obligations out of all proportion to any possible normal farm income.

All of us interested in farm activity and farm finance must assume our share of responsibility for this situation. We are learning our lesson and will have to take our medicine with the farmer himself. For this mistake, time and hard work seem to be the only remedy. Certainly, more credit will not solve the problem.

Agricultural Industry Relief
I wish I possessed some prophetic vision that I might suggest an easy way by which the agricultural industry could be relieved of its distress and started on a course of well-being and profit. God has not given me that power, but I think there is at least a partial remedy which the farmer himself can apply. That remedy will start him on the only course which, experience and observation convince me, any of us can hopefully anticipate: the making of a comfortable livelihood.

When we find that on approximately 20 per cent of the farms in the United States there is not a milk cow nor a chicken, and that on more than 30 per cent there is not a hog, and on approximately 90 per cent not a sheep; when we know, further, that on many farms in our large agricultural states, no gardens are kept and almost every article of food is purchased at the store, we are forced to the conclusion that the farmer, by and large, is not farming as he should. I know that there are certain sections where some, or all, of these means of increasing farm income cannot be applied, but, so far as possible, every farmer should produce his own milk and dairy products, his own meat, and his own poultry, raise his own garden truck, and can the fruit and vegetables he requires for winter use.

Pigs and Chickens Help

Until he obtains from his farm every item for personal consumption which it is humanly possible for him to produce, he has not done his job properly. Pigs and chickens and cows are worth more to the individual farmer than all the government relief programs that may possibly be conceived.

Once the farmer lives at home, then I believe that whatever kind of money crop he may produce, whether it be large or small, the price high or low, his major difficulty will be solved and his margin of income for the necessities and luxuries he so much deserves will be greatly increased.

There is no romance about farming. If it is successfully done, I know it means hard work day in and day out. But so does any other business successfully performed. I know the privations of farm life. They are much less now than they were thirty years ago. I should like to see every farm home equipped with the modern conveniences of urban life. I would like to see every farmer with an automobile, a radio, and all other modern inventions which have contributed so much to social welfare.

No one is more entitled to these advantages than the farmer; but the farmer, like everyone else, should have them only when he can pay for them. The income for such purposes will be largely determined by the extent to which the farmer exhausts every possible means of supplying his necessities from the farm itself.

The way out for the farmer is not an easy one. Neither is the course smooth for industry, finance or government, and the problem in one sphere is little less difficult than in any other.
