FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Select Good Sire—"As the dam, so the daughters," is a breeder's slogan which should be kept in mind in selecting a dairy herd sire. Heifer calves born in the herd cannot grow into good cows unless the sire is from a family of good high-producing cows. Study his pedigree carefully.

Set Fresh Turkey Eggs—For the best results turkey eggs should be set not more than 10 days old when set. Successful hatching is possible in a good incubator. Twenty-eight days is the hatching period.

Fight New Insect—Gladious thrips is a new insect which has troubled flower growers in recent years. Several methods of control have been tried. Ask your county agent about them if the insect infests your gladoli.

Plant Garden Now—Where only a small space is available for gardening it is best to plant those crops which mature early and use the smallest area. Succession plantings permit the growing of two crops in the same space. Vegetables grown at home aid in reducing food costs.

Cultivate Orchard Sods—Where sods become established in the orchard they rob the trees of needed fertility. When this condition becomes acute the sods should be broken up every 3 or 4 years, the ground cultivated and then reseeded to alfalfa or clovers.

Attend Farmers' Day—Reserve June 9 for a visit to Farmers' Field Day at the Pennsylvania State College. The latest available information on farming and homemaking will be presented by the college specialists in experiments, demonstrations, exhibits and tours.

FRUITTOWN. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klinefelter, son Clarence, Mrs. John Weaver and son Boyd, spent Sunday at Boalsburg with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Addleman. Teressa Fye, a nurse in the Memorial hospital at Johnstown, was surprised on her birthday when Mrs. Fye and children Evelyn, Leona, Marlin and Curtis, accompanied by George Bubb, motored to the George Cooper place and had a birthday dinner there. The Colyer baseball team has organized for the summer. Abraham Grassmyer is improving slowly. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Treaster have taken their daughter to the Lewistown hospital to be operated on for appendicitis. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cooney celebrated in a family reunion last week when their children all came home for a week: Mr. and Mrs. Shupe, of New Jersey; Mrs. Sapro, from New York; and George, of Johnstown. Hazel Brown is spending a few days at State College. Martha Bubb is spending a few days at Potters Mills at Brownie's Place. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jordan and daughter Beatrice, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bubb at State College.
