

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. C. A. Krape, of Spring Mills, was a visitor in town last Friday.

May 12th (today), but little corn has been planted in this section.

Mrs. George Goodhart, who has been ill for a week, is improving nicely, and is on the way to complete recovery.

A warm rain fall on Thursday night greatly aided oats and barley in coming through the upper crust, freshened up pasture lots and meadows.

Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Corman, of Wilkingsburg, were here for a day or two last week, during which time the former whipped the trout streams.

The borough schools under the 5th grade closed last week. The 5th and 6th, 7th and 8th Grades and the High school will close about the end of May.

Jesse Long, for the past two years employed as handy man at the Centre Hall hotel, expects to go back to Lock Haven, his former home, in the near future.

Miss Myla Spiker, who had been ill for about two weeks, returned to work on Monday in the offices of the Agricultural Extension Department, Penn State.

Russell Colyer, an ambitious young man of town, advertises that he will do local and long distance hauling; also, handle movings. Russell may be depended upon to do anyone a good job.

Ralph E. Dinges, after having been steadily employed by the Staley Products company, whose main office is in Decatur, Illinois, as a traveling salesman, was laid off for a three months period. He is at his home here at present.

The regular meeting of the Spring Mills Rod and Gun Club will be held at the Gregg Twp. Vocational School, Thursday evening, May 12, at 8 o'clock. The club is very anxious that all sportsmen interested in the conservation of fish and game plan to attend. If you like to fish, help to make better fishing. Your influence is needed.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford, their son Randall Bradford, and wife, and the latter couple's son, Dean, all of Phoenixville, were over-Sunday guests of the former's brother, D. M. Bradford, and family. On returning home, they took with them Dean, the youngest son of their host, who will remain their guest until the last of the month.

R. E. Condon, proprietor of the Buffalo Valley Nursery Farms, Millinburg, gives an example of his skill in landscaping on the small plot of ground to the front of the First National Bank window, here. The American arbor-vitae, Pfitzeriana, colden retinopora, silver spurosa, and mountain tea were used in beautifying the walled-in section.

George Trevorrow is the name of a young man who arrived in Greensboro, Green county, about three weeks ago, and has since been living at the home of George and Mary Wert Trevorrow and is so well liked that he will remain permanently. He is number three. Over the week end he was visited by John Wert, Jr. and Miss Myla Spiker, both of whom speak well of the youthful Trevorrow.

During the past month the borough received several car loads of screenings from White Rock stone quarries, the only expense being freight and unloading. The screenings are now being given to property owners for improving fronts between the walk line and surfaced street. A number of persons have already availed themselves of the opportunity to improve their premises at a low cost. In some instances the material was well applied, and others in a slipshod manner.

Ralph C. Boozer, of Chicago, arrived here on Saturday, having come east to visit his father, who is a patient in the Lewistown hospital. From here Mr. Boozer went on to Philadelphia and New York by auto on business. In the former city he met his daughter, Miss Mary Ellen Boozer, who is a student in the Penn Hall school for girls, Chambersburg, but at this time all the young ladies are at Ocean City, N. J., to which place the school is moved each year for a period of several weeks.

SPORTSMEN'S CLUBS FORM FEDERATION

Purpose of Organization Stated in Brief Outline of Proposed By-Laws.

At a meeting of representative sportsmen from all parts of Centre county, held in the court house, last Thursday evening, the uniting of sportsmen's clubs in Centre county in one body to be known as the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs of Centre County, was brought one step nearer completion. The chief speaker was Commissioner of Fisheries O. H. Diebler.

As soon as the various clubs have named directors, election of officers will be held. Charles E. Dorworth of Bellefonte, acted as chairman of the meeting.

According to the by-laws, as briefly outlined by Dr. Roy Anthony, of State College, the purpose of the federation is to give sportsmen of Centre county a voice in matters affecting State-wide programs and policies; to encourage district group organizations within Centre county and to develop and carry out a constructive plan for the improvement of hunting and fishing in Centre county. Membership in the organization is to consist of the several affiliated clubs, functioning through their individual membership.

A Board of Directors composed of directors elected annually by affiliated clubs will direct the activities of the organization. Affiliated clubs with less than 50 members will be entitled to one director; clubs with 50 members but less than one hundred will be entitled to two; while clubs with one hundred or more will be entitled to three members. The secretary of each affiliated club will be an ex-officio member of the board of directors.

Officers of the federation will consist of a president, two vice-presidents, and a secretary-treasurer. These will serve as officers for both the board and the federation. Directors' meetings will be held quarterly with elections in April. Meetings of the entire membership of the federation may be called by the directors at such times and places as they see fit with at least one meeting of the entire membership being held annually.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WEEK IN METHODIST CHURCH

The final service of the Young People's Week observed by the Centre Hall Methodist church was held on Sunday, May 8. Groups of young folks from other churches have been conducting these most inspiring and helpful meetings.

The first service was of a musical nature. Numerous hymns and their stories were used as the basis for the meeting. The choir and the congregation assisted the pastor in making a helpful service.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings the Young People's Division of the Yeagertown Methodist church and the Epworth League of the Rhodes Memorial Methodist church had charge. Well planned worship programs and beautiful pantomimes featured these two services. The Rev. J. Frederic Moorq is pastor of these two churches.

A fine group of young people from Pleasant Gap conducted the Wednesday service. The Union Christian Endeavor Society presented a program similar to their regular Sabbath worship. This group deserves much credit for their part in the week's activities.

In addition to a fine devotional service and special selections by their choir the Bellefonte Epworth League presented the challenging play, "The Color Line." Approximately 70 Leaguers from the county seat were present at the Thursday meeting. Doctor H. L. Jacobs is pastor of this group.

About twenty-five League and church choir members from Trout Run, Lycoming county, journey a long distance for the Friday service, John Jacoby conducted the service in a very capable manner and challenges were given to "Adventure with Christ." Rev. C. C. Leverage is pastor of this church.

Charles W. Yoder, a Penn State senior, conducted the Saturday service for the Wesley Foundation. Miss Dorothy Megenthaler and James Galsler brought choice thoughts on "Personal Religion." Penn State may justly be proud of students of the calibre of these young folks.

The Mother's Day Candle Light Communion Service furnished a fitting climax to the special week of meetings. Members of the Presbyterian, United Brethren, Church of the Brethren, Baptist, Lutheran, and possibly those of other denominations joined hand in hand with the Methodists in Holy Communion. What an inspiring sight in front of the illuminated cross! The Rev. Lewis K. Knepper, Field and Alumni secretary and a deputation from Juniata College brought very inspiring messages in music and song at this concluding service of a most helpful week.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Feed Grain to Cows

Grain feeding should be continued for cows on pasture. Early grass is high in protein content and very succulent. High-producing cows cannot consume enough to meet their needs. Use a grain mixture containing about 12 per cent protein and feed enough to keep the cows from getting thin. Usually about one pound of grain to 5 or 6 pounds of milk is enough.

Fertilize the Corn

Corn fertilization pays even at present prices. If one uses what is most needed and keeps costs down. About 200 pounds of superphosphate an acre applied with the corn planter will almost always stimulate growth so as to facilitate the early cultivation. It will also hasten maturity and usually will increase the yield.

Prevent Soil Erosion

Considerable good top soil is lost every year from crops grown under cultivation. Depressions likely to gully should be protected by leaving sod strips when the land is plowed. Where erosion is so extensive other precautions can be used. Ask your county agent about them.

Eat Garden Produce

Fresh vegetables not only stimulate the appetite and furnish valuable food materials but aid in ridding the body of poisons and protecting it against disease.

Plant Sweet Corn

To have an ample supply of sweet corn, plant as soon as danger of frost is past and make the last planting about 90 days before the first fall frost is expected. Early, second early, and late varieties may be included in the first planting and a late variety planted at 2-week intervals.

Grow Better Yields

In Erie county increases of 700 to 950 pounds of grapes an acre have been obtained where cover crops were grown.
