

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Paul Ripka is back from Pittsburgh where he was visiting among friends.

Mrs. Salome Spyster, of Alexandria, is visiting her son, C. A. Spyster, and family, in town.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature to abolish teachers' institutes as a measure of economy. The measure should pass.

The Sprucetown M. E. church will hold a festival on the factory lawn, Saturday evening, July 30. See posters for further information.

C. B. Stover, the enterprising tinner, plumber and hardware dealer in Spring Mills, made a business trip to Centre Hall on Monday and called at this office.

Mrs. Lyde Allen, of Centre Hill, is in Philadelphia at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Webb, where she expects to remain for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Margaret Finkel has changed her place of residence from Milroy to Pine Station, and writes she desires the Reporter sent there that she may continue to read the home news.

The annual George Horner reunion will be held Saturday, July 30th, at Grange Park, Centre Hall. Friends and relatives are welcome. Bring your lunch and enjoy the day with us.—Secretary.

Of the 258 school teachers put on the retired list with a pension by the School Employees' Retirement Board, Beila B. Grove, of Spring township, is the only one from Centre county. She has taught forty-two years.

Walter Palmer, the Potters Mills youth who was so seriously injured recently by being struck by an automobile while crossing the road at his home, continues to be a hospital patient, but his condition is gradually improving.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Smith and grandson, Dean Runkle, of town, and Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott Smith and two children, of Wilkesburg, spent Friday of last week at the home of Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Foss, at Lees Crossroads, Cumberland county.

The Hennigh residence, near the Grade school house, occupied by George Vogt, was repainted on the exterior by J. M. Coldron. The colors are Colonial yellow with brown trim. Ellis Hennigh, of Georges Valley, had the work done for the Hennigh estate.

Prof. J. F. Wetzel recently visited at the home of his brother, Prof. E. E. Wetzel, and family, at Hershey. Bob Evan Weasel, son of the former, is spending two weeks in the Reformed church camp, Camp Mensch Mill, Alburtis, Lehigh county.

William Bradford, Randall Bradford, Ellis Moses and Roland Keller, all of Phoenixville, were in this section for small fruits. With headquarters in the Bradford hunting camp, two and one-half crates of huckleberries were gathered, and later four crates of cherries.

The alley between the Boozer garage and the Clover Farm store was oiled and chipped and put into first-class condition this week. The expense for this improvement was all borne by the adjoining property owners, J. S. Boozer and T. A. Hosterman.

Mrs. James S. Stahl was happy in having the greater part of her family come home over the Fourth. Claude K. Stahl, of Narberth; Mr. and Mrs. C. Asher Stahl and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Snyder and children, of Altoona, comprised the gathering.

Centre Hall is furnishing six students for the Summer Session at State College—R. S. Jamison, Miss Agnes Geary, Robert Neff, graduates of Penn State; Harold Keller, graduate of F. & M.; Ernest Frank and Harvey Flink. Daily trips by auto are made by each of them.

Five youths, Masters Russell Reish, Dean Weaver, Dean Noll, Donald Loughner and Jack Bradford, some of whom are not yet in their teens, are camping at Dauberman's dam, along Sinking creek. The boys struck camp Monday morning and will depend on their own ability for cooking, etc. They will return home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. L. Moore, on the Fourth, motored to Elysburg to visit the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Christine, and to Shamokin to visit other relatives. Returning home they brought with them Mrs. Christine, Mr. and Mrs. Hull and daughter, Miss Betty. Mr. Hull came up Sunday and took all back home excepting Miss Betty, who is a teacher in the Shamokin public schools, and who is spending the week with her cousin, Miss Miriam Moore.

Misses Bettie Ebricht and Isabel Bradford, on Tuesday, went to Camp Kanestake, on Spruce Creek, where they will remain until camp breaks on Monday, 25th inst. This session is for girls of high school age. Camp Kanestake is undenominational, being owned and controlled by the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association of which body H. E. Paisley, Philadelphia, is president. Rev. E. H. Bonsall, Jr. is the Young People's Superintendent and is in charge of the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Heckman, of Johnstown, stopped in Centre Hall with the Bartholomews on their way to Lamar where they were guests of Mrs. Adam Heckman, mother of the former. Before coming here they visited Mrs. Heckman's brother, Samuel Kreamer, and family, in Lewistown. Their stops at all points were brief. Mr. Heckman is general manager of the Penn Traffic Co., Johnstown, an extensive concern handling anything from a clothes pin to the top of the column of your wants. Before visiting about here he attended a meeting in Harrisburg as a representative of the Penn Traffic Company.

Miss Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Delaney, is spending the week with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fisher, at Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Swartz and children, of Philadelphia, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Durst, over the Fourth. The ladies are sisters.

Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Buck and children, of Minneapolis, Minn., spent a week with Rev. Mr. Buck's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Geary, in this place.

Mrs. C. E. Fye, Miss Evelyn Fye, Harry Eckert and Franklin Jay motored to Johnstown on Sunday and brought back with them Miss Thressa Fye, a nurse at the Memorial hospital.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wetzel were Prof. O. R. Wagner, Millheim, and Prof. Floyd R. Kilinger, McClure. Mrs. Wetzel and daughter Clara Louise are now visiting with the former's brother, H. J. Hughes, and family, at Cortland, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. "Jack" Anderson, of Bellefonte, are celebrating over the arrival of a son, who has been named Joseph Charles. The mother was formerly Miss Edith Moltz, of town. Baby Anderson was named Charles for Charles D. Bartholomew, a relative and foster father of the mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Knorr, of Reading, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Huyett, in town, the beginning of this month. Mr. Knorr, who is a nephew of the Huyetts, is a son of John B. Knorr, deceased, head of the extensive shoe firm of Knorr and Rutz, of Reading, which closed its business after the death of Mr. Knorr.

Mrs. James H. Lohr, of Rutledge, a Philadelphia suburban town, accompanied by her daughters, Misses Nellie and Mabel, and son, William S., arrived here by auto on Wednesday evening for a visit with the Bartholomew family. Mr. Lohr is a member of the Lafayette College faculty, and his sisters also hold responsible positions in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Brooks, accompanied by their son and daughter, of Lemont, and the former's father, W. S. Brooks, of town, autoed to Cleveland, Ohio, recently, where a short time was spent with Joseph Brooks also a son of W. S. Brooks. It was the first trip to the important Ohio city for the Lemont group which added greatly to the enjoyment of the outing. Joseph Brooks is a railroad man, an engineer, but like many of his kind finds his engine "parked" until something happens to revive shipping by rail.

The beautiful grounds about the home of Thomas P. Delaney, at Old Fort, made a charming setting for the joyous event of last Sunday when Mrs. Minnie Hoy, widow of the late George Hoy of Howard, spent the day there with her children, as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fisher and five children, of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Saylor and two sons, of Bellefonte; Samuel, of Bellefonte, and Edith, who is a teacher in the Greensburg public schools. Visitors were Mack Basert, of Mill Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Auman, of Centre Hall. Mrs. Delaney is well known for her culinary art and skill and supplied a most bountiful feast which was served in a most delightful manner on the lawn where tables were spread under the trees. The profusion of flowers added great beauty to the scene.

C. K. Stahl, of Narberth, long at a desk in Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, was with his mother, Mrs. J. S. Stahl, for a brief time, recently.

Cars operated by C. H. Schaeffer, of Madisonburg, and Harry E. Rishel, collided Saturday morning. The cars were badly damaged, but the occupants were uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott Smith and children, Wendell and Myra, of Wilkesburg, spent ten days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Smith, parents of the former.

R. D. Louder, of State College, and Miss Betty Ebricht, of Centre Hall, spent the week-end as guests of the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilts at their cottage near Newry.

Rev. C. W. Rishel, of State College, recently became a patient in the Clearfield hospital where he is undergoing treatment for kidney trouble. An operation to correct the difficulty may be necessary at a later date.

Bruce Knarr is back to Harrisburg in the Department of Revenue, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, where he filled a place a year ago. He went to the capital city on Tuesday, with the hope that the appointment is more than seasonal.

Miss Mildred Brown, who has been teaching in one of the Philadelphia public schools for five years, but who is now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Brown, near Potters Mills, has been retained to teach during the 1932-1933 school term.

Mr. and Mrs. Bahler, of Dubois, and Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Pruzyn and children, Jack and Elaine, of Spring Mills, were evening dinner guests, on Monday, of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bartholomew. Mr. Bahler attended the convention of cleaners and dyers held at State College during the beginning of this week.

The Buck family held a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Geary, on Sunday, all of the three members of the family—T. R. Buck, of Berwick; Rev. Harry W. Buck, of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Geary—being present, together with the wives and children of the brothers and the husband and daughter of the sister.

The new Chevrolet coupe purchased by the Baker Oil Company, Milton, from the Miller Motor Company, was re-dueced by John H. Bitner, of Milroy. It is an all-white job, except the lettering, and shows high class workmanship. Mr. Bitner is a former Potter township youth, who has built up a good business in Milroy.

Miss Anna Stover is in town, having come here from Wausaukee, Wisconsin, for a short visit with her brothers and sisters. She is a nurse and has been employed during and after the World War in Government hospitals in various sections of the U. S. She was recently transferred from the Wisconsin city to one in Virginia, and when she leaves here, she will go direct to the southern state.

The friendship of the Bartholomew toward Mrs. Earl Lomison brought an appreciated favor for a number of Orviston people, on July 4th, who accompanied the Orviston ball team to Centre Hall to witness the two games scheduled for the day. The group had planned a picnic dinner, but "it rained" and rained, so the party were invited to spread their provisions in the Bartholomew dining room, and the invitation was accepted by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lomison, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gray and sons John, Sheldon, Floyd, Donald and Paul; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Confer and son Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gillespie, Roy Cyphert, Ronald McClure, Orviston, and Paul Hanley, of Monument.

A Tribute to Pennsylvania

Bruce Barton, author of "The Man Nobody Knows," has written this tribute to Pennsylvania for the "Parade of the States" Monday night programs of the General Motors Corporation, part of an educational plan to make the country as a whole better acquainted with the individual states—their history, scenic beauty, industries and people.

IN a Pennsylvania city stands the old cracked bell that rang in American independence. For many a year it marked red letter days. But not even the Liberty Bell, toll it ever so proudly, could peel forth all the glories of Pennsylvania.

To this sylvan land of William Penn came men of thrifty hand and honest heart to worship God as their conscience led. Here Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence, here the American Constitution was framed. In Pennsylvania, Washington cheered his ragged soldiers through the bitter winter of '77. From Pennsylvania he steered his bark across the darkness of the Delaware. Here he lived as America's first president, and here he uttered the farewell that men can never forget.

From a Pennsylvania summer storm Benjamin Franklin snatched a thunderbolt with his kite and key. Here he fathered our first circulating library, hospital, insurance company, and the academy that grew to manhood as the University of Pennsylvania.

A Pennsylvania farm boy, Daniel Boone, tracked America's path to the West. A Pennsylvania heroine, Molly Pitcher, manned a cannon in the Battle of Monmouth. A Pennsylvania general led the army that turned the tide against disunion. And on a Pennsylvania hillside, looking out over the graves of the boys in blue and the boys in gray, Abraham Lincoln voiced his immortal Gettysburg Address.

No other state can boast so many American beginnings. Pennsylvania printed our first daily, opened our first turnpike, established our first bank. Her children enrolled in our first art school and medical school. In our own time, Pennsylvania gave us the first public broadcasting station.

Do you seek cities? Here are Philadelphia and Pittsburgh among America's first ten; Scranton, Erie and Reading among our first hundred.

Or pleasant countryside? Here are quiet rippling streams, clean ploughed acres, blossoming orchards, and the blue-gray crests of friendly mountains. In Kipling's words, "The things that truly last when men and times have passed, they are all in Pennsylvania this morning."

Linger in Gettysburg and lovely Valley Forge, in Independence Hall and the little house where Betsy Ross set careful stitches in the first American flag. Drive through Lancaster County, richest of garden spots. Go to Bethlehem for that rare treat for music lovers, the annual Bach Festival; to Harrisburg to see the capitol's murals. Visit Pennsylvania's colleges—she has more than any other state.

Keystone of the thirteen original states, Pennsylvania is a keystone of America's financial and industrial structure today. To the Keystone State, pioneer and leader, General Motors pays tribute!
