

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The Millheim public schools will open on Tuesday, September 6th, following Labor Day.

Russell Colyer, last week, moved a truck load of household furniture from State College to Milton, Delaware.

Hugh M. Ralston, of Milliflburg, is the representative from Milliflburg Order of Moose, in session in Cleveland, Ohio.

Judge M. Ward Fleming and his father, Wilson I. Fleming, were spectators at the Centre Hall-Bellefonte baseball game, here, Saturday.

Fred Homan, the plumber, has moved his family from Williamsport to Centre Hall, and is occupying a portion of the R. G. Grove home, on the diamond.

George Felding is nursing the thumb on his left hand which became infected when pricked by a Canada thistle. Surgical treatment became necessary before improvement was shown.

Mrs. Lucy Henney announces a display of new fall millinery, which she invites her customers to come and see before buying elsewhere. Prices, as usual are moderate.

The Spring Mills Silk Mill is operating a day and night shift, closing only on Sunday beginning 7:00 a. m. Between thirty and forty persons are employed.

Your attention is called to the advertisement appearing this week for the Centre Hall Radio Shop, which is offering Philco and other makes of radios at greatly reduced prices.

Rev. H. A. Pruyn, now at Cannonsville, announces that there will be no preaching services in the Spring Mills M. E. church, Sunday evening, Sept. 4th.

Mrs. Thomas Delaney, on Saturday evening, entertained twelve of her lady friends at a quilting at her home at Old Fort. After the time given to quilting, Mrs. Delaney served refreshments. Before "adjournment" a number of the husbands of the ladies appeared, and these were also served with refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parcell, Misses Ruth Lantz and Jennie Lantz, of Altoona, were guests of Miss Cora Luse at the home of her mother, Mrs. Clement Luse, in town. Miss Luse, during the nine years she taught school in Altoona, boarded and made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Parcell. Mr. Parcell, by the way, is employed in the P. R. shops as a mechanic.

The Boy Scouts ball team from Centre Hall and a junior team from Coburn played a snappy game on the school diamond here Monday evening, the Scouts scoring seven of the twelve runs made in the 7-inning game. The battery for the locals was Spzyker and Frank, and for Coburn, Auman and C. Fryer. The bleacher occupants speak in the highest terms of the performance of both the visitors and local teams.

"Old Judge," the white horse owned for thirty-three years by J. H. Wagner, at Potters Mills, died a peaceful death last week. The animal was bought at Asher Sankey's sale when a colt eight months old, and was in Mr. Wagner's hands until the last. He was a "buggy horse," a gentle beast, and for many years residents living along the highways traveled by the faithful beast were accustomed to say, "There goes Old Judge." He has gone the way of all flesh.

The one-room school house is apparently in bad repute by one or more persons, boys or grownups, judging from the manner the Pine Stump school building was misused during the recent past. Although all the windows except one were screened, a large number of window lights were broken by throwing stones through them, and the sash in the unscreened window broken out entirely. Of course, no one knows who did the mischief, but we all know who will be obliged to pay the bill for repairs.

A portion of the residence occupied by Mrs. Phoebe Emerick is being remodeled for the use of Dr. Light, of State College, who contemplates locating here. Two rooms will be remodeled and cut into three for a waiting room, consulting room and office. The carpenter work is being done by W. B. Fiedler and the decorating by John M. Coldron. The Emerick home was erected during the latter fifties by Dr. Peter Smith, who practiced the medical profession here at that time and up to 1877.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Burkholder and sons, of Sewickley, were week-end guests of the former's brother, M. A. Burkholder, and family. Mr. Burkholder is manager of twin boroughs and finds himself busier than usual even under these distressing conditions. Building permits granted by him in a given period have dropped from one and a half million dollars to figures almost of no consequence. He is however overseeing a large number of men who are making road improvements in the boroughs under his management. He is not feeling very confident that the spurt in the stock market is indicative of permanent improvement in business.

The Homecoming at Hubersburg was a most delightful affair, and if all enjoyed the occasion as much as those from Centre Hall who were in attendance, the efforts of the promoters were indeed worthwhile. Below are given the names of the persons from town who joined in the Sunday program, the heads of the families all having a special interest there through having lived there for a period, or having been born and reared there: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Spayd, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Mark, Mr. and Mrs. John Deany and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Riegel, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Delaney and guest, Mrs. Catharine Welsh of Buffalo, N. Y.

A daughter was born Thursday of last week to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Walker. The new papa is the business manager of the Centre Democrat. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rimmey and Mrs. W. R. Neff, the latter part of last week autoed to Susquehanna county where they were guests on Sunday of the latter's sons, Harry and Hoy Neff.

Miss Phoebe Potter, who will become ninety years of age in October, was found to be in the best of spirits by W. L. and Guy W. Jacobs, who visited her at the I. O. Campbell home, Pennsylvania Furnace, a few days ago.

The latter part of last week Patti Boozer, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Boozer, while playing on the roof of a stable, fell through the floor. When picked up she was bleeding profusely from one of her ears. Her condition for a few days was regarded as serious, but at this time she is much improved.

Irvin Benfer, of Middleburg, is the new barber who has opened a place of business in the Benner store building at the station. A partition has been placed in the large store room, and the new barber is, of course, occupying the front section, which has been converted into an up-to-date tonsorial parlor. An advertisement announcing the opening appears in this issue.

The three sons of Merchant and Mrs. H. F. Rossman, at Spring Mills, recently paid them a visit, and during their stay the anniversary of the marriage of the parents and two of the sons—John G., 1919, and Pealer, 1924, and that of the parents, 1888—occurred. The visit of Pealer gave Mr. and Mrs. Rossman an opportunity to leave home, which is a rare occurrence. They utilized the time in a visit to their son, Wm. S. Rossman, at Ashland. The young men are fortunate in being regularly employed at this time. Prof. John G. Rossman is superintendent of the East Chicago schools, in East Chicago, Indiana, in which capacity he served for a period of three years and is now entering on a two-year term. He was accompanied to the home by Mrs. Rossman and daughter, Miss Virginia, who will enter her third year in College in September. From here the family went to Reading, the home of Mrs. Rosetta Rossman, and later to Washington, D. C., Lexington, and Louisville, Ky., and then home. Pealer Rossman was accompanied on his three weeks vacation by his wife and son, Hayes. He is employed by the Belle Telephone Co. as superintendent of traffic in the state west of Dubois, and is located in Pittsburgh. Wm. S. Rossman, a salesman for the products of the Reading Packing House, was also accompanied by his wife and daughters, Dorothy and Jane.
