ANNOUNCE PLAN OF RELIEF FUND DISTRIBUTION

Boards to Be Set Up in Each County to Handle Federal and State Relief Money.—Chairmen of County Boards Met in Harrisburg Yesterday.

The State Emergency Relief Board on Friday announced that boards will be set up in each county to distribute federal and state relief money. Governor Pinchot, as chairman of the board, invited seven persons in each county to serve on the boards. The personnel will be made public after the acceptances have been received. The board has $12,000,000 of State money to distribute for six months beginning September 1, and hopes soon to receive funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Each county board will determine through what local agencies relief will be provided, and how much will be spent for direct relief, and how much for work relief.

Chairmen of the county boards and the State board met at Harrisburg yesterday afternoon.

The State board has drafted the following principles for distribution of the relief money:

All relief will be distributed on the sole basis of actual need to persons of the State who have been residents of Pennsylvania for one year, regardless of race, color, religion, citizenship or politics.

No relief will be given to any person who has been offered work that he or she can do but has refused.

All funds will be expended solely for food orders, work relief, or other forms of actual relief.

The auditor general will audit the accounts of each county board.

Members of the county boards and their employees will draw no salaries or expenses from State or federal funds. The cost of local administration will be met solely from local public or private funds.

All costs, other than labor and inspection, of work relief projects must be guaranteed in advance by the State or local community.

Funds will be given to any locality only upon application by the responsible public authorities to the State board through the county board showing an estimate of the number of unemployed in the county, number dependent upon relief, amount of State money still unspent, and an account of the manner in which State money was or is being spent and the ability of the county to meet its own relief needs.

All direct relief will be distributed in the form of food and food orders. Money for the food orders will be paid by the State treasurer. Rent, light, heat, clothing or other supplies must be supplied locally.

The State board, in conjunction with county boards, will determine for each county or locality the minimum food budget for each family, and, if the money is available, these budgets may be increased as winter approaches.

No food order will specify a store. Any storekeeper who increases his prices to holders of food orders will be barred.

An effort will be made to provide as much work relief for every able-bodied man as will compensate for relief supplied him and his family on the basis of their estimated need.

All applications, complaints and requests must be made to the county boards and through them to the State board.

Strange, indeed, that Pinchot always can find something crooked in public men opposed to him. In his mind he is the only politically clean man in his party, aside from the horde he has already appointed to fill places in his administration. A Pinchot foe, we presume, who resigned office to be re-appointed at a higher salary, thereby circumventing the constitution, would be termed a "salary racketeer" unfit to hold public office, by the governor.

Alfred E. Smith has accepted the position of editor-in-chief of the New Outlook, the once popular publication edited by Henry Ward Beecher and later by Theodore Roosevelt.

Finland may pardon 20,000 persons convicted of prohibition violation but who have not yet served prison sentences because prison space is not available. The law has since been repealed, a pronouncement of sentiment against it being indicated by the poll. The figures showing 27,000 convictions in 1929 alone, and the indication that prison sentences were meted out to most of the violators, are evidence that Finland at least made an effort to enforce the law while it was on the statute books and that public opinion did not influence the courts to nullify the law by refusal to convict.

BIG SPECIAL MIDNITE SHOW AT RICHELIEU THEATRE

The Richelieu Theatre will have a big special midnight show Sunday night, with a double feature program: "Laurel and Hardy" in "The Music Box," also Douglas Fairbanks in "Love Is a Racket." If you want a real laugh don't miss seeing this special showing.

Labor Day Special! Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—with Paul Muni, Ann Dvorak. A picture in an honest endeavor to give the public a true conception of the most horrid and cruel power that has ever threatened this country from within and thus aid in the ultimate triumph of law, order and righteousness.

ROAD PAVING IN PROGRESS; 65 MEN EMPLOYED

Robert E. Lassiter & Co., of Raleigh, N. C., on Saturday, August 20, began laying concrete on the Potters Mills-Boalsburg road project, beginning at the western end of the concrete section laid two years ago. The Lassiter company is an extensive roadbuilding concern, and does its work in a systematic manner. The ballast is furnished by the Whitlock-quarries at Pleasant Gap, and is hauled from there by trucks to large bins erected at Centre Hall station. The trucks back into these bins, dump their load and are especially off. Sand is received in lots of three and four car loads, and is also unloaded into a large bin, a clam shell being used. From the bins the ballast and sand are again carried by the same "clam" into a double hopper elevated a considerable height. Under these bins large metal basins and automatic scales are attached. The operator pushes a lever which leaves stone and sand run into the basins until the scales indicate a fixed quantity has been delivered, when the flow is automatically cut off. A second lever opens a trap, leaving the mass drop into compartments on a truck below. The cement is handled direct from box cars to trucks loaded with "batches" in this case is made up of six sacks of cement, 1225 pounds of sand and 1972 pounds stone. To bring the proportion to one sack, or cubic foot, or 94 pounds cement, the additions are 206 pounds sand and 332 pounds stone. These weights indicate the trucks carrying three batches are conveying a load of slightly over five and one-half tons.

When the batch-carrying trucks reach the Koehring paver, they are backed onto a large scoop, a bath is dumped onto it, and here again automatic devices take care so no human errors are made. Into the mixer goes the batch, also an exact amount of water, churned a definite number of times and with the ringing of a bell is dumped into a receptacle and from there carried on a beam to the point desired by an operator.

The company at this time is employing about sixty-five men. The men handling the machinery are skilled in their line and to a rule are employees brought here from a distance. From 1900 to 2500 sacks of cement are used daily. This will give the reader who likes to calculate an opportunity to discover the weight of material that is hauled each day.

SEVEN-GAME FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FOR PENN STATE

Penn State will begin football practice for the fall season September 6, according to Bob Higgins, head coach, who has issued the call for candidates to report. The team will play a seven-game schedule this season, as follows:

- Lebanon Valley at home—Oct. 1.
- Waynesburg at home—Oct. 8.
- Harvard at Cambridge, Mass.—Oct. 15.
- Syracuse at home—Oct. 22.
- Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.—Oct. 29.
- Sewanee at home—Nov. 5.
- Temple at Philadelphia—Nov. 12.

NEW CROSS-BRED WHEAT RESISTS HESSIAN FLY

A new kind of "cross-bred" wheat that has an inherited resistance to the Hessian fly, a wheat pest, along with other desirable wheat characteristics was described by J. H. Farber and R. H. Painter, of the Kansas Agricultural experiment station.

The new wheat had less than 1 per cent infestation by the fly as with 41 to 48 per cent for a type susceptible to the fly. They found the quality of resistance to the fly can be combined with other desirable qualities such as bread-making quality, stiff straw and winter-hardiness.

BOALSBURG-STATE COLLEGE ROAD CONTRACT LET

Award of construction projects totaling 3.66 miles of concrete road and a concrete bridge on route 256, between State College and Boalsburg, Centre county at a cost of 107,919, was made on Wednesday of last week by the State Highway Department to W. C. Gates, Tyrone.

Federal aid funds will be used by the State, which will pay $92,864. State College borough will pay the remainder together with the State.

PINCHOT CALLS DAVIS LOTTERY RACKETEER

United States Senator James J. Davis has been called upon to resign as a candidate for re-election.

Governor Pinchot made the demand. He called Davis a "lottery racketeer," referring to the Senator's connection with the charity lottery of the Order of Moose.

He alleged that Davis also has "been under suspicion" since his first nomination.

He said that the junior Senator was "widely suspected of having profited from certain questionable stock transactions."

Governor Pinchot predicted that if Senator Davis is re-elected he may not be seated, and recalled his successful effort to have Wm. S. Vare barred by the Senate.

He demanded that the Republican State organization ask Davis to resign as the Senate nominee.

In the event of refusal, he called upon General Martin and the Republican State Committee to pre-empt a ticket and "run a clean candidate against Davis."

In the primary election last April, the Governor endorsed Smedley D. Butler, retired marine general, and campaigned actively for him throughout the State against Davis. Davis defeated Butler overwhelmingly.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT PARK. WASHINGTON CENTENNIAL PAGEANT PRESENTED BY 4-H CLUBS ON GRANGE PARK

The customary Harvest Home services were held in the auditorium on Grange Park, on Sunday afternoon, 2:30 o'clock. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Russell F. Auman, of Seaside, a suburb of New York City, who serves a Lutheran charge there. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. D. J. Wolf, pastor of the Homestead Reformed church, and prayer was offered by Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick, pastor of the local Presbyterian church. The Junior vesper choir of the Pleasant Gap Lutheran church, Rev. J. W. Wagner, pastor, rendered the musical portion of the program.

Rev. Auman, a son of T. A. Auman, of Rebersburg, gave a masterly production, based on Titus, in Crete. The theme, "Getting Happiness by Working for the Happiness of Others," a timely message, and under the industrial and financial depression was a cheering one.

The auditorium was filled to overflowing. The sermon was commented on most favorably by many who heard it.

Rev. Auman is attending the Union Seminary connected with Columbia University of New York City. There is a bright future for those willing to let God use them for His glory and the uplift of mankind.

The Leisburg chair works, real estate and personal property, will be sold at public sale September 27th. The factory operated successfully for nearly forty years, and at its best employed 250 men. In 1923 it went into the hands of receivers, who were unable to revive the business.

The pageant was divided into six acts, depicting the achievements and interests of George Washington. In the first act, "The Return to Mt. Vernon," the theme of Agriculture as the universal enterprise was brought out in an interesting fashion. It was Washington's desire that the soil be made more productive, rather than cultivate more land. The second act, "Washington, the Patron of Agriculture," reviewed the experiments of Washington as an agriculturist and enumerated his enterprises at Mount Vernon. The third act, "Washington, the Patron of Education," gave Washington's recorded opinion of the need of Universal Education for the advancement of the nation and the security of its institutions. This scene was depicted by characters symbolic of the progressive steps in education. The remaining acts, "Keeping Faith With Washington," developed the co-operative extension movement on foot in agriculture today.

Throughout the nation farm boys and girls are organized in 4-H clubs—almost a million in the U. S. In Pennsylvania there are over eleven thousand. These organizations are conducting up-to-date, effective demonstrations in farm methods and home-making practices.

President Hoover says the depression is over, but when one recalls that Hoover, Coolidge and a half-dozen other big shots in the Republican party declared stocks were not too high and the country's finances were in a sound condition immediately prior to the crash, the President's forecast will be questioned. The people at large have lost faith in Hoover both as a herald of prosperity and a performer.

A "Granger's Picnic" of Former Years

The picture shows the late Hon. Leonard Rhone, who more than any other individual was responsible for the development of the Grange Encampment and Fair, looking approvingly upon an obelisk constructed of farm products, during a Grange Fair week many years ago.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Dale, son Thompson and daughter Dorothy, of State College, are spending their vacation at Cedar Craft, Canada, where the doctor is fishing.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Centre County Motor Club will be held at the Markland hotel, Bellefonte, Friday, September 2, at 6:15 o'clock.

The residence of F. V. O. Housman, on Main street, Millheim, was purchased by M. C. Vonada, of Gregg township, and after April 1st next, will be occupied by him.

Miss Mildred Wagner, of Millheim, one of the faculty in the Millroy High school, finished a course in Harvard University to further fit herself for teaching the branches assigned her.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Cooney and two daughters, Misses Margaret and Rebecca, of McKees Rocks, are here for the fair, and also visited at the S. M. Campbell home in Millheim.

N. R. Bierly of Rebersburg, was a brief but pleasant caller at the Reporter office Monday morning. He is employed as a mechanic in the garage conducted by his uncle, in Rebersburg.

The Phillipsburg Kiwanis club, together with the personal aid of Senator Scott, are transforming a section at the eastern approach of Phillipsburg heretofore a washed-out sandy area, filled with debris, into a beautiful body of water—a swimming pool and recreational center.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bohn, accompanied by their son, Jay Bohn and daughter, Mrs. Gladys Gray, also their grandson, Leslie Davis, all of Willard, Ohio, are spending the week with friends and relatives and attending the Grange Fair.

Miss Rebecca Derstine and Rev. M. S. Derstine, of Ramey, Clearfield county, are at the Puff-Boozer home in town. Rev. Derstine is serving a Methodist charge at Ramey, having been transferred there from Luzerne county by the last conference of his church. Before coming here he paid his daughter living in Williamsport a visit.

It is much to the credit of the Lassiter company to say they have a decidedly smooth-working organization. The men work quietly and without unnecessary interruption. For the men who came here with the company, it may be said they conduct themselves properly wherever found, and if they can wear their neither do so while working or in semi-public places.

The foundation walls for the new barn to be erected at Oak Hall Station by Waldo Homan to take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire, are about completed. Concrete was the material used. The Meyers Brothers at Coburn, have contracted to furnish the lumber, and the construction work will be under the supervision of Mr. Bierly, the well-known Rebersburg builder.

A find of eleven blacksnake eggs was made by Elmer Grenoble of Smulton, recently while cleaning up a manure pile at a barn. The eggs had been deposited in the litter so that the fermentation of the manure would perform the function of incubating. The eggs were quite large, larger than bantam eggs, and longer in proportion. One egg was accidentally broken, exposing a reptile in the making of a few inches in length.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bible, son, J. R. Bible, Jr., son-in-law, George Wesneski, and wife, of Phoenixville, motored to Centre Hall last Friday and until Sunday night were with relatives. Mrs. Bible came here expressly to see her mother, Mrs. Nancy Bradford, who contemplates going to Ohio after the Grange fair to live with her son, Daniel Bradford, at Willard. Mr. Bradford is expected here this week and will take his mother back home with him.

The Philadelphia Record in its Sunday edition published a picture of Richard Luse, Centre Hall, Charles Harter, Nittany, and Beatty Henry, of Martha, a swine-judging team who won the championship trophy awarded by the Jefferson County Berkshire Brooders' Association at the annual 4-H Club contest at the Pennsylvania State College. The picture appeared in connection with the same article printed in the Reporter last week, which gave an account of the contest.

Two Millheim young men—Frederick Hosterman and Paul Shreckengast—are preparing to enter service of the good old U. S. A. The former will become a student in Severn Preparatory school, near Annapolis, Md., to fit himself for entrance to the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, and the latter will take a course in Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, to obtain training and credits necessary for entering West Point Military school. The appointment of students to these institutions are largely political, but young men feel they will be favored with the recognition provided they qualify.

H. S. Lambert and H. G. Smith, prominent agriculturists in Gregg township, called at this office on Friday on a bit of business in connection with the Gregg township school board or which the former is the secretary. Mr. Lambert is an enthusiastic booster of the Milk League and spent some time in explaining the workings of the organization and the purpose of the present movement among milk producers in the New York milk shed. Mr. Lambert is a successful farmer and is well informed in present day subjects and is capable of imparting his information and opinions in a convincing way.
