WE HAVE NO GRUNDRYS IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY. "The Democratic Party, fortunately, has no favorite group upon which it can call for large sums under the promise of privilege or immunity, express or implied. The Democratic Party is not for sale."

This was a statement made by the Democratic nominee for president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in a plea for funds to carry on the National campaign, in a radio address from Albany.

"We have no Grundrys to collect donations which are to be returned many fold through tariff increase.

Roosevelt said he felt "neither embarrassment nor reluctance" in asking for party contributions, "because I am asking you to join in a great cause—a cause that makes life worth living."

He said he was appealing "in behalf of what is much more than a political campaign."

"It is a co-operative effort participated in by Democrats and Republicans alike," he continued "to provide for this country new leadership, new policies, new spirit in government. Under our system the only way to do this is through Presidential election."

"Our battle is essentially on behalf of the plain citizen—the average citizen," he said, "and I would like to feel that everyone of those citizens, regardless of his or her political affiliations, should assume the position of a shareholder in the common enterprise, and that his or her contribution should represent an investment that is to return dividends of good government."

WISDOM FROM EDISON. "When the government enters business, it simply mixes a lot of politics with a little business." The late Thomas A. Edison said that.

The experience of the past few years has demonstrated the truth of this. We have seen government in the farming business, the printing business, the paint business and a multitude of others. We have seen it regulate and restrict others. The result has been a tremendous extension of the Federal bureaucracy—at the taxpayers' expense.

"Keep government to the business of governing" would be a good motto.
