A. E. Kerlin is on a business trip to New York City.

The forty-first annual Bean Soup Homecoming celebration at McClure will be held on Friday and Saturday of next week.

H. H. Keller is back to Laurel, Delaware, where he is teaching in a High school, after having spent the summer months at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kerlin and their youngest daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Harrisburg, were guests during last week of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hosterman.

W. M. Grove, of Berwick, continues to grow younger, and drives here by auto twice in a week. He brought Mrs. Grove to the Grange fair at its opening and returned for her at the close of it.

While in the act of loading large blocks of granite onto a truck at Centre Hall railroad station, Clayton Homan received a painful injury to one of his feet, caused by a portion of the weight of one of the blocks being let down on it.

Miss Sara Neff, beginning of this week, went to Millville, Delaware, where she entered upon her second year as teacher in the Millville High school. She is a Penn State graduate and taught successfully in both the Centre Hall and East Penns Valley High schools before going to the Delaware High school where she is the head of the Economics department.

The grand jury in disposing of cases brought before it last week, in three instances put the costs on the justices who heard the original complaints. For this the grand jury should be commended and future justices should be encouraged to follow this line of action until justices are persuaded that the court's time should not be taken up with frivolous cases.

The telephone line leading from Heckman's to Poe Mountain tower, in Gregg township, was strung with a copper wire to a point near the residence of L. P. Smith. The work was done by the Penn Hall telephone company in order to give better service at the tower. Richard Brooks had the work in charge. The Forestry Department is improving the service to all towers in this locality at this time.

While picking huckleberries in the mountain recently, H. W. White, of town, felt something interlocking at his feet, and without looking down, gave the object a kick. He then discovered that he was dealing with a snake, and immediately set about to kill it. The reptile proved to be a rattlesnake with all but two of its rattles previously removed. The maimed bell facilitates likely prevented the snake calling attention to its presence.

D. E. Bible and daughter, Mrs. Anna Leonard, and granddaughter, Miss Jean Leonard, and granddaughter, Miss Jean Leonard, on Saturday evening and remained here until Monday. For something like forty years, Mr. Bible has been employed in a department store in Pottsville, and at present continues to hold an important position there. Before returning home the little party drove to the old scenes of Mr. Bible's childhood days in Potter township.

The Post Office Department in checking over business done in the post offices in Pennsylvania, finds that the salary of eighty postmasters will be lessened from $100 to $50, for the postal year beginning July 1st. The only postmaster in this section affected was Coleman Wingard, at Spring Mills, whose salary of $150 per annum will be $100 less during the year beginning July 1st, last. Salaries of postmasters are based on the sales of stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards.

Charles, eight years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Geary, of Newport, fell from a tree and rolled down a steep embankment for a distance of thirty feet, receiving numerous painful injuries. He was picked up in an unconscious condition, but later it was found that no bones were broken. His mother, who had not been in good health for some time, was obliged to take her bed after the accident due to shock. Both the boy and the mother have materially improved at this time. Mrs. Geary is a daughter of Mrs. Belle Whiteman, of town.

Carrie, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Stover, of Spring Mills, was recently brought back from the Wills Eye and Ear hospital, Philadelphia, where she had been for a short time for observation. About two years ago the child underwent an operation for congenital cataracts that proved very successful, and after having been sightless from birth up to that time, she began attending the public school, making three grades during the first two years of her school work. She began school again on Monday and hopes to make creditable scores throughout the term.

Fair associations are obliged to have their officials sign a new form of report made to the Agricultural Department relative to the manner of conducting fairs. Appropriations to fair associations are made on the basis that gambling and games of chance are not permitted. The report required, it is said, is very different from that of former years, and it is surmised that it is due to the assault made on Senator Davis by Governor Pinchot on the "lottery racketeer" question. The Governor, it is thought, is anxious to clear his skirts from permitting organizations obtaining State money that license gambling and games of chance, so he cannot be accused of sanctioning indirectly the thing he condemns Senator Davis of doing. Aside from this aspect of the question fair associations are not too well pleased with the Governor's very definite questioning when many fairs are on the brink of financial ruin.

Merchant and Mrs. H. F. Rossmann, of Spring Mills, spent the week-end with their son, Pealer Rossmann, in Pittsburgh.

The Miller Motor company on Monday received a consignment of four Chevrolet cars by rail—three coaches and one sedan.

H. F. Erdley, cashier of the Spring Mills National Bank, and Mrs. Erdley, on Monday returned from Atlantic City after having spent a few days at the shore.

W. Calvin Meyer, who recently received electric treatment for hemorrhoids at a Buffalo, N. Y., hospital, was greatly benefited and is now at his home in Spring Mills.

J. H. Bitner, of Milroy was in Spring Mills on business on Tuesday. He is conducting a garage and is also dealing in radios, and was in quest of trade in one or the other or in both lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. L. Moore, Miss Miriam Moore, and Rev. and Mrs. J. Frederic Moore, of Yencertown, spent Labor Day in Harrisburg and at Hershey Park. Miss Moore remained in Hershey where she will engage in teaching her fourth year of school.

Miss Luella Ripka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Ripka, has accepted position with the Maytag Stores at Huntington. Miss Luella is a graduate of Centre Hall High school, class of '21, and recently completed a secretarial course in Williamsport Business College.

L. P. Smith, a forest ranger in the Penn district under T. C. Harbeson, resigned his position after being in service for a number of years. Richard Brooks will be in charge of the territory in Gregg township formerly in the care of Mr. Smith, and he will continue to be in charge of the Nittany Mountain section as heretofore.

Rev. L. V. Leshner, pastor of the Millheim Lutheran church, was obliged to call on Rev. Frank Aul, of Susquehanna University, to fill his appointments last Sunday for no other reason than that the parson stumped a toe while walking through the bedroom at his home in Millheim. The injury became so painful that the minister was unable to walk.

What is generally termed the Egg Hill road, leading from Spring Mills to Potters Mills, is being bitterly complained of by the many who are obliged to travel it. It is one of the roads covered by rural mail service from Spring Mills, and is said to have become dangerous to travel at some points. The road is one of the Pinchot roads taken over but has been given little or no attention during the past season. Residents along it are making inquiry as to what measures may be taken to induce immediate action on the part of the State Highway Department.

The Earlstown-Boalsburg Pinchot road is being oiled and chipped from a point west of the intersection of the Tusseyville road. First an application of thin or penetrating oil is applied to the newly graded road. A few days later lime stone chips are spread as evenly as possible by the use of a spreader, the operation being further improved with a drag. This is followed with an application of road oil. It will be noted that the application of oil and chips are reversed from former methods—the chips are applied first and oil spread over them. But one-half of the road is treated at a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Daup, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hagan, on returning from an auto trip to Cleveland and other points in Ohio, report having had a most delightful outing. They left here on Saturday and returned Monday night. At Cleveland the air races were witnessed, and later at Akron the party took a half-hour ride on blimp Defender, being the majority of the seven passengers on board. The blimp was the largest on the field doing a commercial business and gave its patrons good service. The "Akron" shed was also visited, but the great ship at that time was at Lakehurst. The shed itself, however, is an attraction worthwhile, if for no other reason than its immense size. The only special visit made was to Lee W. Frazier, Esq., brother of Mrs. Daup, in Palmsville, Ohio.

HOMESPUN SENSE

Pithy Quotations from Public Addresses of MELVIN A. TRAYLOR, President, First National Bank, Chicago

"It is time some leadership and some party called our attention to the fact there is no magic cure for the ills and evils of human folly. We trod the primrose path of extravagance, of thoughtless and of almost criminal neglect of every sound principle of human conduct, from the individual to the government, and the individual was aided, encouraged, and abetted on that path by the government and those responsible for its administration."

"One of the biggest things was a watered state of mind in which we all thought we were richer than we were, and were living beyond our means."

"In my opinion, no great division of human society has ever been tied to, and tied about, as much in the same period of time as has the American farmer."

"This then is my hope for our future—that we may be rich without forgetting to be righteous; that we may be powerful without being offensively proud; that we may be nationally minded without being narrow-minded; and, finally, that we may live in a world of fact without surrendering our faith."

"I would urge consideration of the complete abolishment of so-called floor trading, which, as I am informed, has about it most of the characteristics of plain crap shooting, and few, if any, more redeeming features than that delightful Ethiopian pastime."

"It is bad enough when the intelligent and wealthy speculate and lose, but when scrubwomen, day laborers, small home owners, wives and youths speculate and lose, simply because they can go to a broker's office and get credit for small sums, the practice ceases to be defensible on any ground."

"Out of the stress and difficulty of the situation I believe gradually we shall return to simpler thinking and simpler living. For it seems to me that we want above everything to abandon the struggle to live up with the Joneses, and to rediscover the true purpose of life, which is the joy to be found in the simple virtues of industry, thrift and sane living. I believe in our people, in our country, and in the God who directs our destinies; and I welcome the future with confidence and unshaken faith."

"We have not failed because of ignorance of economic theories, but because of our utter disregard and defiance of all economic laws. Ambition, stupidity, and greed have dictated policies, and trouble has been the result."

"All through history . . . the nations that have been agriculturists and have included in their agricultural and domestic pursuits the breeding and raising of livestock have been the nations that have endured the longest and performed the greatest work for mankind."

"Open the door of an agricultural school and you close the door of a poorhouse."

"Relief from owing too much money does not lie in borrowing more."

"Human welfare, I believe, means more than the mere assurance to the individual of political rights—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—as enunciated in the Declaration of Independence; it means also the opportunity to exercise these inalienable rights."

"Knowledge is one thing, but courage of leadership is another."

"Falseness and error make the headlines, while truth and fact are lost in the maze of half-point type."

"What does freckle-faced Johnny, snub-nosed Bill or red-headed Jim care about composition, translation or conjugation? The only cube root life will ever give them a chance to extract will probably be that of a hickory or sassafras sprout; the only unknown quantity they will ever seek to find will be the measure of the rubbings they can produce on the worn-out fields their fathers have robbed before them; the only conjugation they will ever undertake will sound something like 'We Work,' 'You Work,' 'They Work.'"

"We cannot trade the hungry, the unfed, the feeble voice of the sick, the empty basket of the unemployed, against the maintenance of party preference or individual advantage or personal achievement."

"I believe I am a better farmer by a long shot than I am a banker."

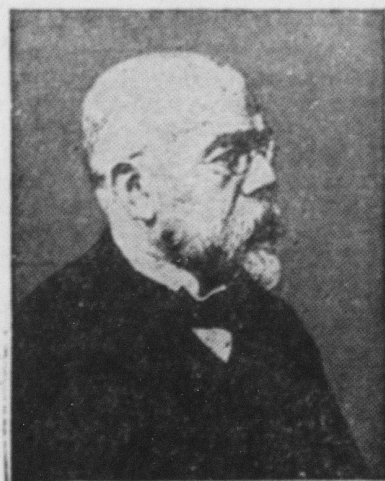

"We must either all thrive together or all suffer disaster."

would be without a sure footing in its battle against the unseen enemy. Koch made it possible to test sputum to learn if a person had tuberculosis; he proved that each case must come from another case, that tuberculosis doesn't just happen.

Today, 50 years after Koch's discovery, tuberculosis associations throughout Pennsylvania and the nation are engaged in a campaign to find the unknown case which has infected the known case; to teach the sick the simple rules of hygiene which prevent infection in others, as well as to help the patients themselves get well. The work of the tuberculosis societies is made possible by the sale of Christmas Seals.

It remained for no less a man than Sir William Osler, at that time Professor of Medicine at the Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, and one of the outstanding physicians of his time, to realize that in tuberculosis prevention much could be achieved by sending nurses into the homes of patients.

A nurse for this special work was appointed in 1903. By 1906 there were 34 nurses in nine cities. Now there are 7,115 in the United States.

ROBERT KOCH, THE GERMAN DOCTOR WHO DISCOVERED THE TUBERCLE BACILLUS

Robert Koch, a German country doctor, started the world fifty years ago with absolute proof that tuberculosis is caused by tiny germs so small that thousands can ride on a speck of dust. This anniversary was recently observed in Pennsylvania and throughout the country. Without Koch's discovery, announced March 24, 1882, mankind
