DEATHS.

CAMPBELL.—Robert Perry Campbell, an outstanding resident of Gregg township, passed away at 1:00 o'clock Tuesday morning after but a few hours illness, from angina pectoris. He had attended the funeral of a neighbor during the day, made a trip into Penns Cave with a boat, and finally went to the corn field to work corn. While engaged in that to which he began feeling ill and returned to the house. At five o'clock a physician called. His condition was not thought at all alarming by the family, until immediately prior to death itself.

Funeral services will be held from the home Friday afternoon, with services at the home at 2:00 o'clock. Burial will be made at Pine Hill cemetery, a short distance west of State College.

Rev. H. A. Fruya, pastor of the local Methodist church, will be in charge of the services, while the sermon will be delivered by Rev. Hazen, of Lock Haven, a former pastor. Rev. C. F. Catherman, of Muncy, also a former pastor, will also assist in the services.

Mr. Campbell was a son of Henry C. and Jane Ann Bailey Campbell and was born and reared in Ferguson township. He graduated from Penn State College and for several years was engaged with an engineering concern. In 1908 he and a brother, Dr. H. Clay Campbell, in the veterinary department of University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, saw the future of Penns Cave when the automobile became the popular mode of travel, and purchased the cave and farm on which it is located from John A. Herman, who had previously acquired the property at sheriff's sale from the Long brothers, Samuel and Jesse. During the first three years of proprietorship of the famous cavern, Mr. Campbell was at the cave only during the summer season.

June 1st, 1911, his marriage to Miss Edith Picken took place, and shortly thereafter the couple located permanently at the cave. (The vision of the Campbell brothers that the automobile would make popular and profitable such resorts with the natural beauty of Penns Cave, was realized. The resort had already been well advertised throughout the State, and with the modern way of travel introduced, visitors to the place became more numerous each year. Many improvements were made to meet the demands of the public. Power-driven boats were introduced, a large dam constructed, an electric light plant built, the cavern itself electrically lighted and many other minor improvements made. In addition to operating the cave, Mr. Campbell was able to make the farm pay a dividend.

The deceased was prominently connected with the Methodist church, having joined that denomination when a youth. He was also a member of the local Masonic lodge and of the Consistory. In politics he was a Republican, but during the latter years the partisan spirit as applied to local, State and National politics had mellowed. He was active in all local affairs, especially such movements as related to the expenditure of public moneys. He was an ardent supporter of the movement in Gregg township that brought about the establishment of the Spring Township Vocational School at Spring Mills. He studied the best methods of farming and stock growing and was able to make application of modern discoveries provided they could be applied profitably. He was a father and husband, who spent much of his time in the home. He was interested in the education of his children, his eldest son being at this time a sophomore in Penn State, and had arranged for similar educational advantages for the two younger children.

There survive the deceased a wife and three children—William Picken, Jane Elizabeth and Robert Clay. Also, these brothers and sisters: John, Tyrone; Milo, Mrs. Herbert Meek, Mrs. Howard Musser, State College; Dr. H. Clay, Philadelphia; Mrs. Harry Koch and Mrs. Donald Devon, State College. Robert P., who was next to the youngest in the Campbell family, was the first of the brothers and sisters to pass to the great beyond.

Mr. Campbell, at the time of his death was aged 51 years, 8 months and 10 days. ROSSMAN.—Harvey Daniel Rossman died at his home at Penns Cave Wednesday night of last week after an illness from complications extending over a considerable period of time. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the home with burial in the Millheim cemetery, Rev. D. R. Keener officiating.

Interment was made at the Shiloh cemetery, close to where he was reared, on Monday afternoon, the services having been in charge of Rev. Clarence Arnold, his pastor, and Rev. Stonecypher, a former pastor.

The deceased was born on the Dale homestead at Dale Summit in College township, April 9, 1856, making his age 67 years, 5 months and 29 days. His parents were George and Helena Musser Dale. He was the last survivor of six brothers and sisters. There survive him his wife, who before marriage was Miss Sadie Ishler, and two daughters, Miss Mary Dale, teaching in Allegheny College, and Luella Dale Cheeseman, at home; also a grandson, Robert Dale Cheeseman.

Mr. Dale engaged in farming during his active life, and on retiring moved from the Dale homestead to Bellefonte. At the time of his death he was one of the county court officers, a tipstaff. Although active in Republican politics all his life, he never aspired to any elective office. He was a past master of Logan Grange as well as of the Centre County Pomona Grange.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS HOLD 36TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

Many Helpful Features Make Up Program.—Meet in Hubersburg Reformed Church, Saturday, Oct. 15.

"The Weavers" is the program to be presented by the Intermediate Christian Endeavors at the evening session of the annual convention of the Centre County Christian Endeavor Union at the Hubersburg Reformed church all day Saturday, October 15. With the help of Warren G. Hoopes and a number of other workers from the State Christian Endeavor Union, conferences on methods, graded societies, new departmentalized program and recreation will be made available to the delegates attending from the 37 societies of the county.

Registration will be at 9:30 A. M., with a cost of 50 cents which covers the evening meal. To the president of each society having five or more delegates registered at the convention, the County Union will give one 1933 scripture text calendar. Also to the society in each of the four branches having the most members of the societies in the respective branch at the evening meeting will be given one of these calendars as a present for their pastor.

In the morning session there will be conferences on methods and materials after which the delegates will be divided into groups and the graded endeavor society explained. At this time the Juniors will witness a demonstration by a group of Juniors from the Bellefonte Reformed church.

At 12 o'clock the delegates will eat the box luncheon each delegate brings. The afternoon session starts at 2 o'clock with a business meeting and annual election of officers.

The New Departmentalized program is the subject for the afternoon session. This is a new organization of the activities conducted by the Christian Endeavor society and is being worked out by the State so that the departments maintained by the State society also will be maintained by the county and other unions, thus advertising all help that the society may request of their union. Each delegate will receive a printed copy of this program along with other helpful material which will be distributed at the convention.

Elizabeth Markie, of State College, who has taught in Assyria for three years at a girls' school, will lead the games and sports. Miss Markie will probably present some games that are played in Assyria.

The fellowship supper promises to be a time of good eats and good sportsmanship for all registered delegates without additional cost. Reservations for this supper should be sent to John Decker, Nittany, Pa. by Thursday October 13.

A friend of the young people will address them in the evening meeting. Officers that were elected at the business session earlier in the day will be installed by the Rev. E. H. Jones of State College. This meeting will close with an impressive pageant, "The Weavers," which in a narrative form shows how Christian Endeavor through his contacts in Christian activities weaves a Christ-like character. The setting and characterization will be somewhat Oriental. Some of the characters will be in foreign dress and some songs will be in foreign tongue. This pageant is under the direction of Elizabeth Markie of State College and Margaret Owens of Phillipsburg. Most of the cast will be from Phillipsburg.

In a game of dodge ball between the local High and Harris Twp. Vocational School, Centre Hall girls won by a score of 15 to 14.

GARNER HITS BACK AT HOOVER INCONSISTENCIES

John N. Garner, Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency, in a statement issued on Hoover's Des Moines speech, says:

I am not criticising the loans to banks, insurance companies, land mortgage companies and other financial organizations, but it must be obvious that extension of credit to a select few on maximum benefits that should accrue from the release of this great volume of credit.

The farmers and the home owners, who have acceptable collateral, are as much entitled to that credit as any corporation or company with equally acceptable collateral. The theory that Government credit should be extended to a select few and that the Government should then supplicate the beneficiaries of this credit to be lenient with those whose mortgages they hold is contrary to all precepts of business or common sense.

Mr. Hoover approved the Hawley-Smoot tariff act of June, 1930, yet in the previous March he was still assuring a nation that property was just around the corner and the turn already in sight. The fact is that the real depression found its inception from the moment Mr. Hoover affixed his signature to the indefensible bill.

Hardly had the ink dried on the President's signature of approval before more than 40 of our customer nations prepared to strike back at America. In the course of a few months these nations, resentful over the 46 per cent jump in our tariff rates raised their tariff bars to shut out our trade.

Mr. Hoover is President of the United States and as such the utmost respect is due him. But at this juncture he is a candidate to succeed himself and his acts of omission as well as commission are subject for legitimate criticism.

Offering no apologies, I say with all the emphasis at my command that if we judge the promises he now makes in the light of those he has made and failed to fulfill, either his sincerity or his ability to make good his latest pledges is open to question.

In making this flat statement, I am only echoing the opinions of men and women in all walks of life, Democrats and Republicans alike, who have followed the official course of Mr. Hoover during the four years of his term now approaching its close.

It is regrettable, yet true, that the section hand, the clerk, the little business man, the farmer, the great executive, the railroad magnate and even the big financier have, reluctantly perhaps, reached the conclusion that promises bearing Mr. Hoover's imprint have often been made either to be studiously overlooked or, to put it charitably, overlooked.

Faith in Hoover, the man, has been dissipated and cannot be revived.

Broken promises cannot be explained away. They do not form even a flimsy foundation upon which to rear another structure of pledges calculated to help re-elect a President whose lack of fitness for the office has been conclusively demonstrated—and demonstrated by himself.

TWO CARS DAMAGED IN COLLISION NEAR HECLA PARK

Two cars were quite badly damaged, but their occupants escaped injury, about 10 o'clock Monday night of last week in a collision along the State highway between Zion and Hecla Park. W. A. Homan, of Centre Hall, driving a sedan, was traveling toward Bellefonte, while Russell F. Stover, of Bellefonte R. D. 2, in a Ford sedan, was driving in the opposite direction.

According to Motor Patrolman N. J. Gallagher of the Bellefonte detail, who investigated the case, Homan's car got over on the left side of the road and struck the left rear fender of the Stover machine. The latter car was thrown off the road and turned over on its right side in a ditch. All the glass on that side was broken and the body was damaged, in addition to damage to the left rear fender.

Homan's sedan was considerably damaged about the front in the impact with the other car. Neither of the drivers received injury except from minor bruises that did not require medical attention.
