FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Improve Dairy Income—

Culling out the low-producing cows from a dairy herd often changes the color of ink in the ledger from red to black—Where the range of production is wide culling out the lowest producers will reduce the income only a few dollars but here will be a decided decrease in feed costs.

Make Sauerkraut—

Use firm, mature heads of cabbage for making sauerkraut. The cabbage should be shredded finely, placed in layers 4 to 6 inches deep in an earthenware jar and each layer sprinkled with salt. 1 pound to 40 pounds of cabbage, and then packed before the next layer is added.

Store Vegetables Properly—

Vegetables which are to be stored should be handled carefully, not allowed to freeze, stored at the right stage of maturity, and kept at fairly constant temperature and ventilation.

Feed Turkeys Wet Mash—

If turkeys are fed a wet fattening mash for 10 days or 2 weeks before they are marketed they will fatten more easily and produce higher quality meat, say State College poultry specialists.

Keep Potatoes Safe—

Seed potatoes dug carefully should then be stored where a low temperature can be maintained. These precautions will insure good keeping, prevent spread of disease, delay sprouting and assure strong vitality when planted.

Bees Need Food Supply—

Honey bees require a good supply of food to carry them through the winter. To generate heat and feed the young bees 40 pounds of honey are needed until a new supply can be gathered in the spring.
