Miss Alice is the instructor in mathematics in the Mifflintown High school.

An editorial from the Philadelphia Record, bearing on the debts to this country by foreign nations, is reprinted in this issue, which no doubt will be found contrary to opinion of many of the Reporter readers, but since all indications point to the ultimate settlement of the question in a manner to conform to the Record's ideas, the editorial will be found illuminating, and should be carefully read.

A .22 caliber rifle ball whizzed by Mrs. Clyde Bradford and her son-in-law, C. A. Bauer, on Thanksgiving Day, while butchering at the home of the former in Centre Hall. The little pellet came with such force that it imbedded itself in the weatherboarding of a house nearby, first passing between two of the persons named who were standing but a few feet from each other. Where the bullet came from remains a mystery.

Harvey Musser and son, Coburn Musser, and the latter's wife, drove from Akron, Ohio, to Centre county to visit among friends and relatives, spending most of their time in Millheim and Aaronsburg. Both the gentlemen named are actively engaged in the practice of law in Akron. The elder attorney is a brother of the late Dr. Sumner Musser, and a son of Dr. Philip Musser, long deceased. While in Millheim the party was a guest of Miss Lizzie Keen, a relative.

C. H. H. S. Adopts New Method of Health Instruction

Due to the faulty system of health instruction previously used in the High school, a new system has been adopted. The new scheme makes it possible for one teacher to give full time to the subject of Health and to organize a program for work with definite objectives. By this scheme the pupils receive the same credit as under the former method, but can now take the entire course in one year, thus eliminating the overlapping of courses and studies which resulted in previous years.

The new scheme introduced to C. H. H. S. differs from the Health program as outlined by the Penna. Department of Public Instruction; nevertheless it received the approval of the State School Inspector who visited this school recently.

Under the former system of Health instruction the four classes received instruction once a week. This was supplemented by two periods a week given to outdoor recreation.

Under the present system health is taught four hours a week for one year in the ninth grade, and physical education two hours a week for all grades.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

Students of C. H. H. S. were afforded the opportunity to go through regular election proceedings on November 8. Members of the Senior Class conducted the election, which was undertaken as a project of the P. O. D. class, taught by R. S. Jamison. Leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties conducted campaigns before the election. The party principles and platforms were made known to the student body. On election day each pupil was given a ballot and thus a knowledge of voting was gained that will be of much value when as citizens the students will go to the polls to vote as intelligent, well-informed men and women.
