

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Miss Anna Sweeney, of Boalsburg is at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs, where she will remain for some time.

Miss Nellie Smith, superintendent of the hospital in Steubenville, Ohio, came to Centre county last week to be with her father, J. Frank Smith, at Bellefonte, on his birthday, Thursday.

While argument on the Detweiler-Coldron case has been heard in the higher court, interested attorneys are not anticipating a decision in the immediate future.

Dr. Leroy Locke, Dr. Richards Hoffman and John J. Bower, went to Pittsburgh Thursday as members of a sanitary commission in connection with the case of a prisoner in the Western Penitentiary.

Rain set in Tuesday afternoon and continued during the early part of the evening. The several inches of snow which fell Saturday night and Sunday has all disappeared, except in sheltered places.

Centre County Pomona Grange will present the "Traveling Journal" to Penn State Grange, at State College, this (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock. All Pomona Grange officers are urged to be present.

The Centre Hall Business Men's Association will hold its first banquet next Tuesday evening. The program committee reports having surprise feature numbers that will be pleasing in the extreme.

A fire fire, Sunday evening, brought out the South district fire fighters, but their services were not needed except to watch. No damage was done to the Dr. Hugh Morrow dwelling where the fire raged in a flue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Riegel, of Centre Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riegel, of Berwick, on Sunday visited an elder brother of the gentlemen, John Riegel, aged 84, at Johnsonburg, who has been critically ill.

Two more trains running between Williamsport and Lock Haven are to be eliminated, the service to be taken care of by the Johnson Bus company. One train leaves Lock Haven at 5:45 A. M. and the other arrives at 10:50 P. M.

Mrs. Robert McClellan, at Linden Hall, is suffering from an abscess on one of her feet. Last fall she was struck on the foot by some falling object and received a bruise. This all seemed to have disappeared until recently when an abscess began forming.

Frank Musser, on Tuesday, got his car tangled up with one of the gas pumps at the Hagan garage and in his efforts to release it by reversing the engine, pulled the pump from its fastenings. Mr. Musser, who formerly lived on the A. B. Lee farm, along Sinking Creek, now lives at Coburn.

About four inches of snow fell between Saturday night and Sunday morning. During that time and throughout Sunday wind blew in gales, drifting the snow in favorable places. Sunday night mercury dropped close to zero, the low temperature extending over the early hours of Monday morning.

Miss Caroline McClasky, highly respected citizen of Pottery Mills, was a pleasant caller at this office on Saturday. In a brief conversation with this lady we were convinced that if all Americans took the same philosophical view of present day conditions as this well-informed lady, our so-called ills would soon vanish.

Jig-saw puzzles are now being made locally by H. L. Ebricht, cashier of the First National Bank. The most recent one is cut from the official Pennsylvania Highway road map, approximately 10x20 inches. There are something over three hundred interlocking pieces. Material is built up of three-ply thin slabs of wood.

Bruce Jacobs is the young man who drove the Exclusive Dollar Dry Cleaner truck that upset on Nittany Mountain road above Centre Hall. In the spill he lost his wrist watch to which more than a little sentiment is attached. He is advertising in the penny-a-word column for the watch. Since the accident occurred without any fault on the part of the driver, additional sympathy is due him.

The borough council held a special meeting last week, and on Friday evening a regular session. At both the meetings the question of reviving the old or organizing a new board of health was under discussion. A movement is now under way to form a local board of health or have a local individual appointed to perform the function. The latter method seems to have the preference and may be finally adopted.

Thomas S. Swartz, prominent citizen of Potter township, a resident of Tusseyville, became suddenly ill Saturday afternoon while in this office, on business. Dr. Hugh Morrow administered to him and in the evening took him to his home. He has since been confined to bed. Immediately prior to this issue going to press, he was reported somewhat improved, although suffering from pains in the head.

"Water, water everywhere," that was the cry Tuesday morning when the tenants in the Odd Fellows building opened their places of business. A stream was coming through the ceiling in the Weis store room when Manager Fred Luse turned the key which was an hour or more earlier than the fixed schedule. He had been informed of the fact that the main water pipe leading to the second floor had burst, by Ralph Whitman, who heard the flow of water as he passed the building early in the morning. The damage done to merchandise was light.

PRUNING DEMONSTRATIONS ON FOUR FARMS IN CENTRE CO.

The pruning of apple trees, peach trees, pear trees, plum trees, grape vines and raspberries will be demonstrated on four different farms in the county next Thursday and Friday, February 16 and 17, according to County Agent R. C. Blaney.

J. A. Reuf of the fruit extension department of the Penna. State College, will be present and show the latest methods of pruning and will answer any questions that may be brought up in regards to orchard and small fruit culture.

These demonstrations will be held according to the following schedule: Thursday, Feb. 16, at 9:30 A. M.—At the L. F. White farm, near Bellefonte Aviation Field.

Thurs., Feb. 16, at 2 P. M.—At the farm of James I. Gray, located on the Buffalo Run road, one mile west of Stormstown.

Friday, Feb. 17, at 9:30 A. M.—At the farm of Charles Ross at Linden Hall.

Friday, Feb. 17, at 2 P. M.—At the farm of John Saxon, located on the main road just west of Unionville.

This is the season of the year when fruit trees and small fruits of all description should be pruned. These demonstrations are arranged for the benefit of anyone interested, regardless of whether they are commercial orchard men or have a few trees in the back yard. The demonstrations will be held regardless of weather conditions. Those attending are urged to come prepared for the weather.

Farmer S. E. Brown, of Potter township, is contemplating holding a stock sale this spring, the date to be announced later.

SCHOOL NEWS OF INTEREST

(The following news items are taken from the current issue of "The Tiger," the Centre Hall High School publication.)

CLASS NEWS

SENIOR CLASS.

It was decided in a class meeting held on January 10 that the Senior Class will hold a chicken and noodle supper in the school building on February 18.

The various details of the supper have been left to committees appointed by John Spzyker, the class president.

There is a good deal of indecision as to whether or not the Senior Class will hold a class play this year. No definite decision was reached at a class meeting recently.

JUNIOR CLASS.

The Juniors are largely represented in various clubs. The boys form a large portion of the Hi-Y club. Thirteen of the Junior Class participate in the opera. The Junior girls had a perfect attendance record during the month of December.

The following Juniors are reporters for the editorial staff of "The Tiger": Robert Bradford, Mabel Burkholder, Alice Foust, Paul Foust, Ruth Hartley, Woodrow Meeker, Beulah Meyer, Doris Moltz, Sara Odenkirk, Ruth Reiber, Marian Treaster and Helen Weaver.

The business staff has the following Junior aspirants: Robert Bradford, Carl Burkholder, Lee Cummings, Mary Dasher, Paul Foust, Marvin Ishler, Jack McClenahan, Sara Odenkirk, Reuben Tickert, Richard Ross and Kenneth Snyder.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

The Freshman Class has lost several members during the last quarter. They are Donald Bloom, William Mowery and Geraldine Bohn. Geraldine is continuing her studies at the Coudersport High School, while the boys are at home.

Woodrow Bradford, the class president, is back to school from a two months' absence due to illness in the family.

Cherokee Indians Entertain at Assembly Program in December

A party of four Indians of the Cherokee Tribe entertained the school, December 15th. The party consisted of a Chief, who was eighty-six years old; Chief Running Elk, who was thirty-three years old; Running Deer, who was twenty-one; and Running Deer's wife, who was twenty-three. They came from the Cherokee Indian Reservation in Oklahoma and are on a tour through the East, telling the students of the habits of their tribe.

They gave Indian songs and ceremonial dances. All of these dances are given in honor of one of their gods, or for some definite purpose, such as rain, thankfulness or the hunt. The manager of the Indians gave a brief history of their modes of living.

Recapitulation.

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Rows include Cash in treasury, Balance due Borough, Poor and Special Water taxes, Total.

We hereby certify that we have examined the above accounts and find them correct.

SCHOOL LIBRARY OFFERS WIDE SELECTION OF MODERN WORKS

The Centre Hall High School is a member of the Junior Literary Guild. Every month the school receives two books, one for girls and one for boys. The two books for the month of December are "Herboby of Hungary," by Alexander Finta, and "Romantic Rebel," by Heldgarde Hawthorne.

The Adult Literary Guild books are "The Adams Family," by J. T. Adams, and "Round-Up" by Ring Lardner.

The Tiger staff and reporters have also been given the book "Writing for Print."

SCHOOL ADOPTS NEW METHOD FOR BOOK REPORTS

Pupils of the Centre Hall High School are giving the required number of book reports in the form of a pre-announced test. Formerly book reports were written on a card and handed in. This method later gave way to an oral type and each pupil reported on each book to Miss Geary. This method was followed until a few weeks ago when the present procedure was accepted.

Nine books from the school library must be read by each pupil to meet the English requirement for a school year.

AN HONOR.

The school year 1932-33 has brought a reward to THE TIGER in the form of the Second Prize in the Third Annual State-wide Publication Contest, sponsored by the Penna. State Press Association. Our school paper was entered in competition with much larger schools. The First Prize was won by Blue and White of the Roosevelt Junior High of Altoona, and the Third by Orange and Black of Galeton High School. "The Journal" of Coughlin High School of Wilkes-Barre placed Fourth. This gives us real encouragement and a challenge to keep the standard of our High School high. THE TIGER is one way of giving the public a glimpse of school life, and gives the students practical experience in financing and editing a newspaper. It also provides an outlet for good literary work produced by students. The Press Association gives THE TIGER special credit for the humor column and distinctive verse.

Our chief criticism is lack of organization in the news and magazine departments. With the cooperation of all student aid in this, our school can keep on making THE TIGER a "favorable advertisement for so small a school."

Because of Mrs. Malcolm Smith's illness, the Centre Hall Borough School Board has employed Miss Luella Reschler to direct the opera, "Jerry of Jericho Road," now being rehearsed. The opera has been scheduled for the second Friday in February.
