GRAND JURY WILL HEAR FIFTY CASES NEXT WEEK

Fifty bills will be presented to the Grand Jury when it meets on Monday, February 13.

Bills of involuntary manslaughter against C. H. Pickard of Clearfield and Warren Long of Howard will be presented to the grand jury for consideration. Pickard, it will be remembered, was the driver of the automobile which collided with Long's car and then struck Rev. Lewis Crain, killing him instantly and fatally injuring John Wenrick. The coroner's jury at the Crain inquest exonerated both drivers. When Wenrick's relatives demanded another inquest and the same jury recommended that both drivers be held for court.

One bill of unusual nature to come before the grand jury is that charging Gross Shook with practicing medicine without registration.

Cases to be heard on Monday include the following liquor law violations: Caleb Miller, William Chalot, Peter Zaleski, Charles Bassel, John Chassarik, Perry Ganzales, Calvin Cobble, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Joseph McCullough, Wm. H. Dando, Wm. Chilcote, Raymond E. Berry, Earl Mauk, Steve Starry, Octavous Catharino, James Taylor, F. & B. Wm. Chalot, maintaining disorderly house.

Leshar, Northumberland, heads an All-County Taxpayers' association formed in the Northumberland county court house to demand a 40 per cent cut in all county salaries and elimination of excess jobs. They also asked a reduction of the county tax rate below the six and one-half mill figure announced by county commissioners.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Buy Well-Bred Chicks—

Since the cost of the chicks is only a small proportion of the total cost of production, it is profitable to check up on the source of chicks to make sure that the parent stock is bred for high egg production and large egg size. It pays to buy good breeding.

Spraying Helps Celery—

Celery growers have found that spraying with bordeaux mixture has given an average increase of 55 crates an acre over unsprayed celery. Controlling blight also resulted in a finer quality product.

Grow Food for Year—

With proper selection of varieties and successive plantings, vegetables may be harvested fresh from the garden from early May to November. The surplus may be canned for use the entire year. Raw vegetables may be stored for use until the following May.

Produce Quality Fruit—

Quality fruit is not an accident. Careful management throughout the growing period favorably influences the product. Preventing injuries in harvesting and honest packing also promote the quality of the product put before the consumer.

Use Adequate Equipment—

If electrical service is to represent light, power, heat and ice, then nothing smaller than a 60-ampere switch should be used with a 3-wire service.

Make Fine Syrup—

To get clean maple sap, use metal sap pails protected with covers. Prompt evaporation prevents souring and discoloration of the sap. Correct evaporation entails rapid elimination of water in modern equipment and accurate concentration to 11 pounds a gallon at 60 degrees Fahrenheit. To get proper density, use both the thermometer and the hydrometer.

The Hi-and-Run Driver and His Victim

THE extent of the burden placed upon general taxpayers by heavy commercial vehicles is not generally realized by the public, according to the Railroad Employees and Taxpayers Association of Philadelphia. In the eight years from 1923 to 1930 inclusive, total expenditures for highway construction and maintenance in the United States exceeded $11,700,000,000. Of this great sum, highway users of all kinds contributed in license fees and gasoline taxes less than $4,000,000,000, or little more than a third. The remainder of the cost, over $7,800,000,000, fell upon farm and other property owners and income taxpayers. It is conceded by experts, the Association says, that heavy trucks contribute a smaller relative share to highway costs than the lighter vehicles, partly because of consuming less gasoline in proportion to length of haul and weight carried. Hence, large trucks must be paying even less than one-third of their fair share of highway expenses. The more than two-thirds contributed by general taxpayers is a gift from the public to those who are using the highways for profit in the heavy transportation business.

Fortify Against Flu and Grippe

Medical Authorities agree that you are much less likely to suffer from Colds, Flu, and other Contagious Diseases when your system is alkaline. Wrong diet, over-work, loss of sleep, too much food, drink, or tobacco, too little exercise, all tend to create an acid condition. To build up resistance and maintain health
