CRIMINAL CASES HEARD; DIST. ATTY. FAILS TO PROVE BREEDEN CASE FROM HARRIS

The Breeden case was the first to be tried before the criminal court last week. D. Sherman Breeden, in 1930, bought a small tract of land in Shingletown Gap, Harris township, and started the erection of a hunting lodge thereon. His land was near the home on the George Horner family and it was only natural that he became intimately acquainted with the members thereof. In the family was a daughter, Erma Edith Horner, then fourteen years old. Testimony was presented at the trial which showed that the girl had been taken to Pittsburgh on several occasions by Mr. and Mrs. Breeden, and Mrs. Breeden testified that she and her husband had discussed adopting her until they learned that she was going out nights with men. In due time the girl became a mother and charged Breeden with being the father of her child. Trial of the case took up all of Monday. The defendant was represented by attorney Charles Pritchard, of Pittsburgh. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and the costs were placed on the county.

James Taylor, of Bellefonte, pleaded guilty to the charge of betrayal and was sentenced to pay the costs, $50 for the use of Centre county and stand committed until the sentence is complied with.

The case against Ralph Seyler, charged with a violation of the vehicle code, was dismissed and the costs put upon the county.

The trial in the case of Nannie and Harold Moyer, of Wadde, charged with aggravated assault and battery, was tried on Tuesday. Nannie Moyer was charged with throwing a stone through the windshield of the Stine car, Mrs. Stine having been injured by the broken glass. The jury acquitted Harold Moyer and brought in a verdict of guilty against Nannie. She was sentenced to pay the costs, as well as Mrs. Stine's doctor bill and placed on probation for two years.

William Chalot, of Philipsburg, pleaded guilty to a violation of the liquor laws and disposition of the case was continued until later.

Alfred Lucas pleaded guilty to a violation of the vehicle code and was sentenced to pay the costs, $25 for the use of the county and placed on probation for three years.

F. D. Wagner a Coleville youth, pleaded guilty to breaking, entering and larceny and was sentenced to pay the costs and an indeterminate term in the Huntingdon Reformatory, the imprisonment part of the sentence having been suspended during good behavior.

A not pros was entered in the case against David Wagner charged with receiving stolen goods.

A case which occupied considerable time, on Wednesday, was that of William Miller and his wife, Hazel Miller, against Hugh Butler, of Hewart's township, for assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery. The alleged assaults took place late last fall and the particulars of the case were printed at that time. In the case of Mrs. Miller the jury returned a verdict of not guilty but pay the costs. In the case of Mr. Miller the defendant was adjudged not guilty of aggravated assault and battery but guilty of assault and battery. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $25, and placed on probation for one year.

Settlements out of court were made in the cases against Charles Veam, betrayal; James W. King, false pretense; and Nathan Kauffman, fraud.

In the case of James Baughman, charged by his wife with assault and battery, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and divided the costs between husband and wife.

A Congressman's View of Railroads' Case

The Pennsylvania Division of the National Highway Users Conference, in its efforts to prevent prohibitive regulation of highway traffic which would increase living costs and inconvenience rural communities, is giving wide publicity to a letter from Congressman Brand, of Ohio, to President Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Last spring General Atterbury wrote members of Congress urging regulation of other transportation facilities in order to protect railroad revenues. To this Congressman Brand replied:

"A few years ago you took off the milk train which carried milk from my farms, and I bought a truck, called at the farms, and delivered the milk. You had been charging me 40 cents a 100; now I find I can collect this milk and deliver it for 20 cents a 100.

"It is argued that trucks do not have to pay for a right of way, and that the railroads do; but this is debatable. High gasoline taxes and license charges have changed this situation. On the main roads we are spending annually about $1,000,000,000, and these same roads are producing almost identically that amount from gasoline taxes and license plate charges.

"I have been connected with a manufacturing plant that was worth many thousands of dollars a year to you, but your rates on short haul business have been held so high that you have lost a large part of that business. You retain the long haul business at rates about three times what you charged years ago, but under these circumstances we find ourselves developing plans to split our factory, locating so that practically all hauls will be short hauls and trucks can handle the business. My experience is everybody's."

Worth selling is worth telling—as this.

PICKING CHERRIES IS A MINISTER'S OFFICIAL DUTY

Picking cherries is one of a minister's official duties, according to Arthur C. Dale, Esq., head of the Workmen's Compensation Board. The question is now up for decision before the York county court.

The question arises in an appeal by the State Workmen's Compensation Fund from the decision of Referee Harvey B. Lutz.

Lutz ruled that the Rev. Silas S. Miller, pastor of Zion Evangelical church, was killed in the course of his duties as he fell from a cherry tree on July 24, 1932. He held the minister was under contract with the church for a fixed cash salary and the use of the parsonage and its property.

Under this condition, the referee ruled it was part of Miller's duties to pick cherries, mow lawns and maintain the property.

Chairman Arthur C. Dale and Commissioner Wm. J. Burchinal of the Workmen's Compensation Board, sustained the decision.

The appeal of the State Workmen's Compensation Fund will be argued this week.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drugstore—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

TRUCK DRIVERS URGED TO CO-OPERATE WITH GUARDIANS OF THE HIGHWAY

THE SAFE DRIVER'S BEST FRIEND

Placards like these are being distributed throughout the state by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—The state highway trooper must be looked upon as one who is diligently protecting the interests of every highway user and not as a representative of the law who becomes unhappy if he can't chalk up a large number of arrests every day for major and minor infractions of the law.

This, in effect, is the word sent out by Ted V. Rodgers, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, with headquarters here, to operators of commercial vehicles throughout the state. To give wide visibility to this phase of its courtesy campaign, the truck association has distributed in various sections of the state several thousand placards which carry the illustration and legend reproduced above.

"In a nutshell," Mr. Rodgers said, "the object of our courtesy campaign will be to encourage truck operators to give passenger car drivers the benefit of every doubt and to facilitate the movement of passenger traffic even though at times it may slow up a bit the movement of commercial traffic.

"Courtesy, cooperation and consideration exercised by all users of the highway will insure a maximum of safety, efficiency and economy for all those who must operate motor vehicles on the public highways. The owners and operators of commercial vehicles must appreciate that the modern mode of living has made the passenger car essential to the pursuit of pleasure, health and recreation and that it also serves a very important part in the proper conduct of domestic and business affairs.

"On the other hand, the owners and operators of passenger vehicles should appreciate that the highway, from the dawn of civilization, has been primarily an artery for the proper conduct of commercial and military affairs, and that the big truck which occasionally annoys him, or slows him up, is playing a highly important part in the economic distribution of the essentials of life.

"There is no doubt that widening is urgently needed on many highways of the main state system that carries the great bulk of our traffic, farm vehicles included. It would seem that such highways, carrying many hundreds and many thousands of vehicles daily, should be adequately improved before funds, supplied by the great majority of motorists, are used to surface roads on which the traffic volume scales down almost to the vanishing point.

"However, pending the day when such essential widening and other desirable improvements to main state highways are made, much can be accomplished toward making motoring conditions more pleasant and more profitable by observing the common courtesies."
