

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Miss Laura Runkle has been quite ill the past week, suffering with a heart condition.

The Frank Ishler family moved from Oak Hall this week to the Max Herr property, in town, which has been much improved.

Mrs. Mary Breen is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cloyd Brooks, west of town. Much of her sickness is due to her age, 79 years.

Do you remember the short, ugly word used by T. R. when he was President? Well, if you do, don't use it in speaking to John Heckman; he resents it.

Mrs. A. E. Fisher, who was to have been installed as Grand Templar of the Ladies of the Golden Eagle of Pennsylvania at the State convention in session at Easton, died at her home in Easton, on Sunday.

H. E. Fye, who has been a sufferer from blood poisoning for several weeks, is improving but is not yet able to take his place at the Sheffield milk plant. Bruce Knarr is taking Mr. Fye's place in the plant until he recovers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ehrlicht, with F. M. Fisher and the writer as auto guests, visited Civilian Conservation Camp Alan Seeger, in the Bear Meadows region. A brief account of the trip in connection with a few historical facts appears elsewhere in this issue of the Reporter.

Mrs. Carl Hohman, 32, of Kinzer, near Lancaster, died in the Lewistown hospital on Sunday, from injuries received in an automobile accident near Lewistown. Her two children with her were uninjured. Mrs. Hohman was a daughter of Wm. Rimmer, State College, and a cousin of the Rimmerys about Centre Hall.

A Mothers' Luncheon will be given by the young people of Trinity Reformed church on Saturday evening, May 13th, at 6 o'clock. All mothers of the congregation are invited to be present and will consider this invitation sufficient. On Sunday evening, May 14th, a special Mothers' Day program will be given.

A car operated by Elwood F. Hartman, 20, of Stoyestown, R. D. No. 1, when near Miesburg about 4:30 last Thursday morning struck a stone, causing the car to turn over three times. He was taken to the Centre County hospital. Other occupants of the car slightly injured were: Walter Ashbrook, 23, of Hooversville, and Fred Spangler, 18, of Hollisville.

George Homan, aged 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Homan, east of town, is recovering from rather severe scalds on his left arm and on the side of the face. The youth was using a tractor to draw a disk, when it became heated, and in removing the cap the steam and water struck him on the arm and face. Dr. Hugh Morrow rendered professional services.

Mrs. S. L. Hubler, on Friday evening, entertained at her home in Millheim in honor of her husband, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Musser, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Swann, all of Millheim, and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Weaver, of Lewistown. The occasion was a birthday anniversary of Mr. Hubler, assistant cashier in the Millheim National bank.

Rev. and Mrs. Delas R. Keener, of town, and Rev. and Mrs. Albert S. Asendorf, of State College, spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Lancaster, where they attended the one hundred and eighth anniversary of the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church in the United States. The class of 1932, of which Rev. Keener is a member, is also celebrating its tenth anniversary in connection with that of the Seminary. Rev. G. A. F. Griesing, of Aronsburg, is also a member of the class.

Soldering in the Canal Zone is not so "hot" according to a statement in the Millheim Journal, which says: Basil Malone, erstwhile private in the 7th U. S. Observation Squadron, located at France Field, Panama Canal Zone, was an arrival at his home in Coburn, Pa., after a long absence. He says all he thought about on the way overseas on the transport Chateau Thierry was to see the Statue of Liberty (even though it doesn't mean much these days). He's got a bellyful of soldering down by the equator and he doesn't care who knows it.

The gas station at Tussey'sink school house, Potter township, being erected by A. W. Hishel, Millheim, is well on to completion. The frame structure is 26x28 feet, two stories high. The building is calculated to accommodate living quarters for the owner and his small family, and also a restaurant. Two well known brands of gas will also be sold, as well as oils, etc. The station is located far enough from the concrete road so that cars can be driven entirely clear of traffic on the important road. Its location also affords an opportunity to embellish the surroundings with trees and shrubbery.

The checks Sheffield Farms company milk producers will receive next week, covering the period of April, will indicate a slight rise in milk prices over March. Heretofore milk prices for April, as a rule, were as much as twenty cents lower than for March, so it will be seen that to add the rise to the customary drop, the difference is considerable in favor of the producer. A measure was adopted by legitimate New York City distributors, about the middle of April that to some extent put the "chislers" out of business, but the producer will not get the full benefit of the regulation until their checks for May come in.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Mary Weber was taken to the Geisinger hospital, Wednesday morning for observation.

Mrs. Jane Wallizer, an aged lady in Millheim, is suffering from a severe case of dropsy. Her son came to her home to take care of her.

Miss Theresa Fye is at her home at Colyer and will remain for a week. She is a student in the school for nurses in a Johnstown hospital.

The quarantine was lifted at the Grover Weaver home, just east of town, beginning of the week. Florence Weaver, a daughter, had been ill with scarlet fever.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Spyster, with Mrs. R. P. Campbell and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart as auto guests, attended a missionary rally of the churches in Harrisburg, on Sunday.

Mrs. John McMullen, son Jacob and daughter, Mrs. Wm. Campbell; also, Edward Brown, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shoop for a few days. The party traveled by auto.

The first session of May criminal court will open Monday morning with fifteen cases booked for trial. Tuesday, twelve cases will be heard and Wednesday, two, with three pleas.

George Seanson and son, James Seanson, have been in Iowa the past week or more, buying up another load of fine young horses to sell at their sales barn in Centre Hall, Saturday, May 20th. See ad. and posters.

Miss Charlotte Solenberger, of Williamsburg, is at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Lanson Burris, and will remain here for a few weeks. Her father was one of the Blair county World War veterans who made the supreme sacrifice in France.

Between thirty-five and forty men from the Aronsburg Lutheran church on Wednesday evening attended the Brotherhood meeting in Williamsport, held during the time of the meeting of the Susquehanna Synod of the Lutheran church in that city.

Tessie, 8 years old, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Bartsch, recently developed tuberculosis. The disease made such rapid headway that she has already suffered one or more hemorrhages. Arrangements are under way to send her to Mont Alto, or some similar institution as soon as possible.

Howard P. Weaver, of Millheim, father of Mrs. John M. Boob, Bellefonte, is in a serious condition after having received a second paralytic stroke. Sheriff Boob's grandfather, Nathaniel Boob, in Millheim, is also in a very precarious physical condition. He is an aged gentleman and has been in delicate health for some time.

ELIGIBILITY TO EMERGENCY CONSERVATION CAMPS

To be eligible for enrollment in the Emergency Conservation camps a man must agree to turn over at least $25.00 of his monthly stipend to his dependents. This amount will be sent directly to the family by the army officer in charge. The man will be paid the remainder in cash and it is estimated that from $2.50 to $5.00 will be sufficient to cover the needs of the men in the camps. A camp commissary will be stationed at each site but the men will be provided with all the necessities of life such as blankets, clothes, shoes and other incidentals.

A bulletin will be issued to each applicant which includes a detailed explanation of the entire plan and tells just exactly what is expected of him when he signs up for the work.

The men will appear at an army recruiting station where they will give a preliminary health examination and then, if accepted, sent to a military post for two months of conditioning. They will then be sent out to a forest camp where many various jobs will be conducted.

The entire county of Centre will send 87 men as its quota of the 250,000 who will go out from the United States. Lists compiled show that in District 4 alone there are 214 unmarried men between the ages of 18 and 25 who are eligible for admission to the new forestation army.

It is not definitely known when the work of enlisting these men will be begun but it is expected to start within the next few days. Two Centre county sites have already been selected and two more, are under consideration.

The work will consist of fire fighting, planting trees, removing insect mazzards, brushing out forests, making paths, trails and fire lanes, as well as numerous other kinds of beneficial labor.

STATE CHAIRMAN VAN DYKE RECITES ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF DEMOCRATS IN LEGISLATURE

Democracy's part in the session of the Pennsylvania legislature which has just closed should be a source of great satisfaction and assurance to the VanDyke, Democratic State Chairman. No group in either house represented the people as well or fought as hard for their interests as the Democratic minority.

Even the Republican press has had to concede that but for some sixty odd Democratic votes in the House of Representatives much vicious legislation would have passed and more good legislation would have been buried in committee or defeated on the floor.

Here is the Democratic record: Forced the old age pension resolution, probably the most humane piece of legislation before the legislature.

Out of committee and through the House, only to have it smothered in the Senate by a Granger hand-picked sub-committee.

Supported and expedited all unemployment relief legislation.

Forced through the House highway legislation for the relief of local taxation and to effect large economies.

Kept beer out of politics. Had the Republican wing in the legislature followed the Democratic leadership by passing a beer bill for revenue only prior to April 7 the State would not have lost $1,000,000 in revenue.

Achieved several important election reforms and prevented the Republican Old Guard from repealing others. The Democratic bloc saved the anti-party-raiding bill and the measure for permanent registration in Pittsburgh and Scranton, and blocked an attempt by the Philadelphia gang to repeal the Stone bill outlawing the chain ballot. The Democrats also fought for local option on the city manager plan, and for legislation to forbid assistance to voters. They also saved four teachers colleges and two hospitals from being wiped out by the blood-thirsty Republican organization crowd.

The bill of Rep. Norbert Fitzgerald, Democrat, saves $1,000,000 for the taxpayers by raising city treasurers in cities of the third class on a salary basis.

Another Democratic bill, the Kane bill, outlawing "yellow-dog" labor contracts passed through a coalition of Democratic and labor votes. The Democratic bloc also threw its weight behind the 44-hour-week measure and other social and unemployment relief measures.

Strongly opposed the Turner bill because of obnoxious political features.

Through iron rule over committees and sub-committees the Organization Republicans were able to bring much important legislation. This would have been impossible had the Independent Republicans at the opening of the session supported the Democratic proposal for bringing bills out of committee by a vote of 56 members of the House.

The Martin faction of the Republican party is ecstatic over the governmental economies effected, but it is strongly silent on the fact that it took $24,000,000 from the school teachers and only $2,400,000 from the politicians on Capitol Hill, and at that the cutting of teachers' salaries was probably only just begun.

Labor and organizations of farmers and taxpayers had but one friend to whom they could go for relief, the Democratic minority in the House.

ALTOONA BOOSTER STORES TO FEATURE DOLLAR DAY, MAY 17

As announced in their advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue, the Altoona Booster stores will feature one of their Quarterly Dollar Days next Wednesday, May 17.

A special invitation is extended to our readers to attend this event, which is especially attractive at this time because of the fact that prices on commodities are rising, due to economic conditions, which means that higher prices must prevail very shortly on all kinds of merchandise.

It is the policy of the Altoona Booster Stores to urge people in other communities to patronize their home stores first, coming to Booster Stores for those things that their local merchants cannot supply.

Booster Stores adhere to this policy, even on the occasion of an event like Dollar Day and frankly urge the people to give their home stores first consideration, buying in Booster Stores only those things they can secure to better advantage.

Of course, it is not expected that everything will be offered at reduced prices for Dollar Day, but a shopping trip through Booster Stores will reveal hundreds of opportunities to buy things that are needed in the home and for personal use at special prices that will be in force for the one day.

Our readers are reminded that all Altoona Stores observe Eastern Standard Time, the summer store hours being 9 to 5 o'clock during week days, and 9 to 9 on Saturday.
