Jacob Sprow, aged 82 years, is very ill at his home west of town. Mrs. Sprow is also in delicate health and not able to take care of her husband, who has suffered several paralytic strokes. The couple are being cared for by a young Mr. Luse, a nephew of Mrs. Sprow.

A 15 per cent wage increase for 40,000 employes at mines operated by members of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers association was announced Friday by W. A. Jones, of Altoona, secretary of the Central Pa. coal code policy committee. The increase is retroactive, starting July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bauer and two young children, of Huntingdon, were guests for a few days of Mrs. Bauer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bradford, in town, and Wednesday they went to Pittsburgh to spend the remainder of a part of their vacation. Mr. Bauer is the auditor at the Huntingdon Reformatory.

The Fisher clan, which family includes many in Penna Valley, will hold their 13th annual reunion on Saturday at Wernersville, Berks county. Rev. Frank H. Fisher, D. D., of Philadelphia, is president of the association, descendants of Wilhelm Fischer. The event celebrates the 200th anniversary of the landing of the emigrant in America.

Richard Musser, son of Bond Musser visited the parental home in Millheim. The Junior Mr. Musser has been in Philadelphia for about four years and during that time has been engaged in the insurance business. The elder Mr. Musser had been quite ill for several weeks and Monday was the first day since afflicted with intestinal flu that he ventured to leave his bed.

W. H. Baird, of Pleasant Gap, was in town on Monday, on his way to visit his farm, south of Centre Hall. Although in his 77th year Mr. Baird manages to remain quite active; however, his health of late has not been up to par. At the present time there is at the Baird home, Mr. Baird's son, Prof. Lester E. Baird, his wife and four children, of Mansfield, where Prof. Baird is teaching in the High school.

A number of persons in this vicinity have had attacks of an ailment akin to summer complaint, but possibly more vicious in form. The attacks come suddenly and in most cases the duration is but for a night or a day. Judging from reports made by some so afflicted, one might come to the conclusion that the disease is being courted so the novel results experienced could be compared with those of a close friend. Up to this time no one has expressed a desire for a repetition of the ailment with the hope of doing one better than his neighbor.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

L. J. Hipple, of Milesburg was arrested in Lock Haven Sunday night on charges of reckless driving and disorderly conduct, and resisting an officer.

The annual Decker reunion will be held in James Decker's woods east of Centre Hall, on August 3. All families of the clan are invited to attend.—J. W. Decker, sec'y.

The annual ham and egg supper of the Gregg Township Alumni Association will be held at Penns Cave on Thursday evening, July 27, at 7 o'clock. All alumni are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Earl Fleming and Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Bankson of New York City, are touring Pennsylvania, Centre Hall and Oil City, the birth-places of the gentlemen, being the chief points to be visited. Mr. Fleming, after finishing his schooling at the then Lock Haven State Normal, went to Pittsburgh where he was employed in the offices of the P. R. R. Co. for three years, and then located in New York City, where he has since lived, except for the fourteen months spent as a representative of his company in several of the foreign countries, for the greater part of the time in France, in its chief city, Paris. The auditing and accountancy firm now carries the title of Greaves, Fleming and Atkins. Mr. Bankson is a native of Oil City, this state, and is City Plant engineer in the great metropolitan city.

Mrs. Anna Mechley took with her to her home in Altoona two of her grandchildren, children of Samuel Mechley where they will remain until school opens next fall.

Miss Emma Jodon, Miss Cherry Jodon, and William Hettinger and Frank Illian formed an auto party who on Saturday night left Centre Hall for Niagara Falls on a sight-seeing trip, reaching the Falls by 7 A. M. The day was pleasantly spent and on the return trip, at Ocean, N. Y., the party took a ride in an airplane.

AMENDMENTS.

What do you know—or care—about the matter of allowing the city of Pittsburgh and certain surrounding regions to set themselves up as a "Greater Pittsburgh" by creating a metropolitan area?

What is your opinion of the propriety of granting Philadelphia authority to incur public indebtedness to the extent of 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of its taxable property?

Are you qualified to decide whether or not the legislature of Pennsylvania is to be empowered to "define the nature and kind of investments that fiduciaries may make for trust funds?"

Are you sufficiently concerned to take the trouble to inform yourself about the right or wrong of permitting Philadelphia to "provide additional transportation facilities by levying assessments against the properties to be benefited?"

The average voter is apt to know little and care less about any of these questions. Yet he is to be asked, at the November election, to decide them by his ballot. These and six other questions are to be placed before the voters for their decision in the form of proposed amendments to the constitution of the commonwealth.

The list, it is true, includes some proposals upon which an informed opinion is likely—such, for instance, as a $50,000,000 bond issue to pay a state bonus to war veterans, another permitting state appropriations to make grants to blind persons 21 years or over, and another calling for a $10,000,000 bond issue to purchase toll bridges. Among the others there may be some which the voting public considers of sufficient importance to warrant an effort to inform itself about them.

But, as to most of them, the average voter is likely to ask himself what concern they are to him and either to abstain from voting or to "play safe" and vote "No."

The principle which calls for submission to the voters of any amendment to the state constitution may be sound, but in its practice creates some impossible situations. There are many matters which should be referred to the public for decision. But such technical questions as are involved in some of the current list of amendments are not among them.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Kryder, on Sunday autoed to Sunbury where they visited Mrs. Lewis Kryder at the Mary Packer hospital and later went to Williamsport. At the latter place they were guests at the home of Mrs. Della Brungart until Monday afternoon. Passing through the storm-riddled section in Lock Haven and vicinity sights observed convinced them the reports of damage by wind and hail had not been overdrawn.

Fred Bender was home from the Lewistown hospital with his family for a few days, returning on Monday. The following day he was subjected to another, the fourth, blood transfusion to build up his system for the ordeal of a major operation which it will be necessary to perform soon. Local young men whose blood proved to be the proper type, have been volunteering to give a pint or more of the precious fluid for the benefit of the popular young business man.

Pupils of vocational agriculture in Centre county, their parents and friends, are invited to make a personally conducted tour of the Rockview Branch of the Western Penitentiary and the Nixon Potato Farm, on Friday, August 4. The tour of the institution will be conducted by Richard S. Snyder, superintendent of welfare, and Dr. E. L. Nixon will guide the party over his farm, following a basket lunch served at the Nixon farm.

LEWISTOWN FAIR OPENS

Preparing for the greatest agricultural exposition attempted in the 14 years that the Mifflin County Horticultural Association has been conducting competitive exhibits, officers and directors of the Lewistown Fair established headquarters in Lewistown this week and launched an exploitation program for the six days and six nights fun festival that opens Monday, August 21.

Don't Prolong The Agony!

Next time you suffer from Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, a Cold, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains; That Tired Feeling, That "Morning After" Feeling. Get a glass of water and drop in one or two tablets of

Alka-Seltzer

The New Pain-Relieving, Alkalizing, Effervescent Tablet. Watch it bubble up, then drink it. You will be amazed at the almost instant relief. It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hopes. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.

Get a glass at your drug store soda fountain. Take home a 30 cent or 60 cent package.

IN ANSWER TO A LADY'S LETTER

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why?

By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.

As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent.

As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:

On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles.

That should answer a lot of questions.
