VOC. AG. BOYS SCORE HIGH IN STATE JUDGING CONTESTS

Six hundred students in Vocational Agriculture from various parts of the State participated in judging contests at State College last week. The livestock team from Harris Twp. Vocational school made a very fine record. As a team, they won third place, scoring 1263 points. The first place winner in this contest scored only 4 points more than the Boalsburg team. The Boalsburg team was composed of Tom Ross, Oscar Rockey and Woodrow Ishler. Tom Ross and Oscar Rockey placed 4th and 5th respectively in the individual list. Tom will be alternate on the livestock team that represents Penna. at the Kansas City Royal Livestock Show, Fred Addleman, also of Harris, was high scorer in livestock among those not on teams. Centre county again came to the front in the poultry contest. There were three teams from the county entered in this contest and all three placed within the first ten teams. The team from Gregg township composed of John Zuber, Dean Igen and Ellsworth Stover placed 2nd. Stover also won the honor of placing 5th high individual. The Harris township team placed 8th. The Harris township team of the following: Hugh McClintic, Harold Klingler and Fred Homan. The Harris township teams were coached by E. H. Dale, teacher of Agriculture, those of the Gregg township school were coached by John W. Decker.

30 Years Ago

Items of news which interested those of a generation ago, taken from the files of The Reporter, year 1903.

August 13, 1903. Ex-Commissioner James B. Strohm, of Centre Hill, who for the past two weeks has been ill with typhoid fever, is improving rapidly. Mrs. Emerick, wife of Dr. C. E. Emerick, of town, is seriously ill. Her recovery is scarcely looked for by her many friends. She is suffering from tuberculosis of the bowels. Messrs. John and Samuel Dursi have purchased a new separator, and are now ready to do their share of grain threshing. Mrs. F. A. Foreman of this place, on Monday sold her farm, 82 acres, to Mr. and Mrs. James I. Lytle and Mrs. and Mrs. L. R. Lingle, the former taking 62 acres and the latter 20 acres. August 20—Mrs. Myra Kerr and daughter Katharine, and son William, about October 1st, will go to Chicago to take permanent residence in that city. Prof. A. M. Allison, of Spring Mills, has accepted a position as principal of the schools in Freeport, Ill., and will leave for that place in a short time. Dr. J. F. Alexander is suffering from blood poisoning. One of his fingers was pricked by a nail and in a few days the disease developed. John J. Taylor, who has lived near this place for five years, sold his home east of Centre Hall to William Colyer.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

WRAP HONEY SECTIONS—Cellophane is now used extensively for wrapping sections of honey. It protects the comb against dirt but leaves the contents open to the view of the customer. Any one of the different types of cellophane wrappers now on the market will add materially to the appearance of comb honey and help to sell the product. KEEP FEED COST LOW—In the average herd the feed costs of maintenance is about half the total feed cost. Old cows and low producers should be culled out and passed on to the butcher. Only the good cows should be retained in the herd and these fed to produce their normal production of milk. GROW CELERY RAPIDLY—Celery makes its most rapid growth during late August and September. For high quality, plenty of moisture and a readily available fertilizer are necessary. Mulching between the rows with straw or other material helps to conserve moisture and eliminate weeds. LOOK FOR LICE—Regular inspection of both young and old fowls should be made during the hot weather to determine whether lice are present. PACK FRUIT WELL—Fruit that is packed well will go through to market in good condition and will sell more quickly for a higher price.

Historical Facts

[Under this head will appear one or more historical facts of local interest, to a large extent taken from Linn's History of Centre and Clinton counties, designated for reference as L. H. the figures following indicating page. The "Notes," if any, are those of the editor.] Haines township in 1801 embraced that portion of Gregg (now) south of Brush Mountain and east of a line running through Spring Mill to the head of Paines Creek, and all of Penn township. Potter township in 1801 embraced the western part of the present township of Gregg from Spring Mills, all of Potter, and the eastern half of Harris from the end of Nittany Mountain, eastward bounded by Nittany Mountain on the north and Seven Mountains on the south. The first capital case tried in Centre county was that of a negro named Daniel Byers, Oct. 15, 1802 a mulatto named James Barrows, employed by John Dunlop, was shot dead upon his horse as he was driving a team between Bellefonte and Valentine Works. For this murder Byers was tried and convicted. In accordance with the law of the time, the jury returned with their verdict a valuation of him—"valued him at $24.00." He was the property of J. Smith, of Carlisle. Byers was executed Dec. 13, 1802, by Sheriff James Duncan. With the first swing the rope broke, and Negro Dan fell to the ground unhurt. With that the crowd shouted, "Dan is free," and a move was made to rescue him. Sheriff Duncan, who always carried a lead-loaded riding whip, drew it promptly and struck Archey McSwords, one of two leaders, McSwords scratched his head, and said: "Mr. Duncan, as you are a small man you may pass on." With this Capt. Potter, the head of a company of horse, ordered a charge. William Irvin, of the troop, leveled McCamant, a second leader, with a blow of his sword, cutting his cap-riem through. Meanwhile, Wm. Petriken stepped up to Dan and patting him on the shoulder, said, "Dan, you have always been a good boy, so up now and be hung like a man," which he did.—L. H. pages 34 to 45.

LOCALS TOP MILLHEIM AS MARTZ HURLS SHUT-OUT

(Reported by Hugh Morrow, Jr.) Paul Martz, on the mound for the locals in the Thursday twilight game played here, held Windom Gramley's boys to four hits during the seven hectic innings of the contest to win by a 1-0 margin. Martz's hooks gathered in eight fan-outs out of the twenty-five batters who faced him during the game and in no inning was he obliged to pitch to more than four batters.

Rimney and Knarr led the attack for Centre Hall, having two singles each, out of two trips to the platter, while Goodhart was given a hit when Wagner, Millheim's short-stop, failed to get the ball into play on a force-out at second base, this error of omission bringing Centre Hall's total of hits for the game to five. Centre Hall's lone outener was hung up in the fifth frame when Rimney and Knarr each singled; Emery, running for Rimney, hung up the necessary run.

Aumiller, stellar right-hand performer for the boys from East Penna Valley, five would-be hitters were their made five would-be hitters were their war clubs futilely in the atmosphere.

The entire game was a hard-fought one Millheim having men in scoring position in the first, fourth and final innings. The contest was a pitcher's duel from start to finish, with Martz doing a slight edge on Aumiller in that he struck out eight batters to Aumiller's five and allowed but four hits to the Millheim players' five. However, two of Millheim's hits were doubles by Schure and Cable, while the local boys' five blows were all singles. Each team has one misplay marked against it. Aumiller's weird throw to the uncovered second base being Millheim's misplay, while Bradford's bouncing of the ball to first constituted the only error for the home team.

Local fans saw a slightly altered infield in action for Centre Hall in this game. Stover, regular catcher, was out of the game due to injuries received last Saturday, and was replaced by Rimney. Crawford moved over a notch from his regular position of second baseman to the short-stop position, while Bringer covered the keystone sack. Bradford played in his regular position at third base, while Harry Gross covered first. The outfield was manned by Knarr, Emery and Goodhart. The box score:

REBERSBURG BREAKS THROUGH LOCALS' WINNING STREAK

(Reported by Hugh Morrow, Jr.) Jamison, local southpaw, after setting down the Rebersburg team twice in the second half of the 1933 season, was clubbed from the mound in the second inning of his third start against the boys from lower Brush Valley. The final score of the nine-inning Saturday game played at Rebersburg was 4 to 2.

Jamison set down the batters in 1-2-3 order in the first inning, but in the second his delivery was found for two singles and a double. These hits, along with two errors on the part of Gross and Bradford, rang the bell four times for Rebersburg to send Jamison to the showers. Paul Martz then took the mound with a man on second and none down. He succeeded in holding the opposing team scoreless during the rest of the game, allowing but five hits and fanning nine of the Rebersburg batters. The Centre Hall team scored its two runs in the final frame when Rimney and Goodhart singled and Paul Martz and Jack Bradford each got on base on errors. Johnny Rager, the youthful left-hander who did the throwing for Rebersburg, faced his greatest problem of the contest when in the ninth inning with the score standing 4-2, there was a man on third and one on second, but he succeeded in fanning Emery for the final outout.

The local boys gathered single hits in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings and put over two in the ninth to bring the total to six. Rebersburg hung up eight bingles, three off Jamison in two innings and five off Martz in the remaining seven frames. Each team has three errors chalked against it—Tyson, S. Blerly and Folk being the offenders for Rebersburg and Bradford, Rimney and Gross making the misplays for Centre Hall. This loss by Centre Hall and win by Bellefonte over Lamar, advanced the county-seaters to first place in the championship race and edged the locals back to second place. Centre Hall is now one-half game behind Bellefonte.
