He was the author of "Ye Collyre" in the local High school paper during his senior year, and has written up the baseball games for the Reporter for several months past. He has the faculty for getting under the surface of things, has a good vocabulary, is both a good speller and an English student—all of which are essential to the exacting field of journalism.

Blausser, of Potters Mills, visited their son, Henry Blausser, at Wrightsville, York county, last week, where the young man is employed on the Laumont Farm, having charge of a vast dairy business. Mr. Blausser also attended a meeting of the York County Tax Justice League, on Saturday, at Haines Park, and spoke highly of the royal entertainment in connection with the meeting. The big spectacle, however, while in York county, was the destruction wrought by the heavy rains of last week, resulting in the worst flood in that district since 1884. Sixteen bridges in York county went down in the flood, and Mr. Blausser states that the scenes were indescribable, water entering stores and houses and doing damage to an extent running into big figures.

REPORT OF STATE CAMP SESSIONS, P. O. S. OF A.

Messrs. J. Ernest Wagner, of Centre Hall; W. A. Martin, of Woodward, and E. S. Ripka, of Millheim, attended the sessions of State Camp, P. O. S. of A., at Chambersburg, last week.

Mr. Wagner, in writing to the Reporter, says:

"The three of us from this section traveled to Chambersburg by automobile. We noticed that the corn crop appeared quite good in most places along our route. On the return trip, however, we saw many fields of potatoes and corn flattened out by the storm. Many Chambersburg people were greatly inconvenienced by water in their basements, as all streams in the vicinity were over their banks. Delegates from the Southeastern part of the State were held up because of the high waters which made even the main highways impassable for a time."

Mr. Wagner gives us the following report of the convention:

The Pennsylvania State Camp, Patriotic Order Sons of America, was held at Chambersburg, from August 21st to 24th. Delegates and officers from all parts of the State assembled for the annual sessions of the State organization. This locality was represented by W. A. Martin, delegate from Woodward camp; J. Ernest Wagner, delegate from Centre Hall Camp; and E. S. Ripka, of Millheim, who is a member of Centre Hall Camp and District President of lower Centre county.

A reception was given the assembled delegates Monday evening at which the Hon. Harry H. Haines, Congressman from the 22nd District, was the chief speaker. He outlined the Recovery Plan and called on the P. O. S. of A. to do their part in helping to speed better times and re-employment under the new administration.

Business sessions opened Tuesday, with Harry J. Farr, State President, as presiding officer. Special ceremonies were held in honor of Irvin S. Smith, who has served the order as State Treasurer for fifty years. Among the resolutions adopted by the Camp was one to send the President and his helpers the assurance that the P. O. S. of A. was ready to support their efforts to aid industrial recovery and put idle workers back on the job.

Chester A. Rhodes, of Monroe county, was elected President of the State Camp for the coming year. He is a leading Democratic member of the Pa. Assembly. Camp sessions closed Thursday noon with the installation of the newly elected State officers.

If your elephant wants to ride on top IT'S ALL RIGHT WITH A CHEVROLET

We didn't actually plan on elephants when we chose the bodies for the new Chevrolet. But we did choose bodies rigid enough, and strong enough, to support six tons of elephant or anything else you can name. Fisher bodies . . . steel bodies plus a hardwood frame . . . exactly the same type of bodies used on all 12 and 16-cylinder cars. Steel alone is not enough to make you as safe and secure as we want you to be in a Chevrolet. A steel body, welded into a solid wall of protection plus resilient hardwood reinforcing to take up stress, absorb shocks and prevent the steel from following its natural tendency to buckle under pressure makes the sturdiest body of all—the kind used on the Chevrolet, and on no other low-priced car. Remember that when you buy a car. Be sure to get all you pay for. . . the super-safety of a steel-plus-wood Fisher body. CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY, DETROIT, MICH.
