Ash, of State College, surgical; Mrs. John Spicer, of Bellefonte, R. D., surgical; John H. Neese, of State College, medical; Walter L. Bickel, Port Matilda, R. D., medical; Mrs. Raymond Smith, of State College, medical; O. A. Kline, of Bellefonte, surgical; Mrs. Frank Shultz, of Curtin township, surgical; Mrs. Arthur Hanscom, of Union township, surgical; Miss Harriet E. Brakeman, a Penn State student, surgical.

Births at the hospital during the past week: A son, born to Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kimpfort, of Lemont, on Monday; a daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. John Hoy, of Bellefonte, just Tuesday; a daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henninger, of State College, R. D. 1, last Tuesday; a daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. James Seatta, Jr., on Tuesday; Mr. Seatta is a student at Penn State. A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Donovan R. Cook, of State College, on Sunday.

Discharged during the week:
Mary E. Waite, of Bellefonte; Malcolm E. Gordon, of Bellefonte; Martha Harter, Potter township; Mrs. Henry McGilley, of Milesburg; Mrs. Harry Zell, of Bellefonte, R. D.; Mrs. Ralph Emerick, of Wingate; Mrs. Harrison Tressler, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Harry Cox, of Fleming; Mrs. James Myers, and infant son of Bellefonte, R. D.; Joseph A. Spritzer, of Bellefonte, R. D.; Mrs. Nullie Guernant and infant son, of State College.

Thomas A. Fisher, of Pennsylvania Furnace, died at the hospital Saturday morning at 6:30 o'clock.

There were 54 patients in the hospital at the beginning of the week.

Young Theodore Roosevelt, son of the Great T. R., was unsuccessful in riding into public office on the popularity of his distinguished father. And so, regardless of the high standing of the late Samuel D. Gettig, Esq., in the ranks of the Centre county attorneys and his great devotion to the Democratic party, his son, Musser W. Gettig, Republican candidate for District Attorney, has no right to anticipate support from Democrats. And further, a young man who can give no better reason for forsaking the party in which he was born and trained than that given by this young Mr. Gettig, ought to be joshed by members of all parties.

DEATHS.

PETERS.—Daniel Peters, a well-known resident of Nittany, died at the Clearfield hospital on Monday morning, of a complication of diseases after an illness of six weeks.
Deceased was aged 75 years and was born at Unionville, Centre county. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Albina Peters, three sons and four daughters—Lloyd Peters, of Hecla Park; Scott and Paul Peters, of Altoona; Mrs. J. C. Gilbody, of Lock Haven; Mrs. A. R. Zimmerman, of Altoona; Mrs. L. R. Grenoble and Mrs. J. G. Kimmick, of Mill Hall. He was a former employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad company and later was supervisor of Hecla Park. Burial was made at Hubersburg on Wednesday.

FYE.—Mrs. Bessie Amanda Fye, wife of Herman Fye, of Bellefonte, died suddenly Thursday at 11 a. m. at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McClincy, Runville. She was born in Benner township twenty years ago.
She is survived by her parents, her husband and one daughter. Three sisters also survive, Miss Georgianna McClincy, at home; Mrs. Rosie Walker, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Toner Furl, of Maryland. Funeral services were held in the United Brethren church at Runville, Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. James Miller and Rev. G. E. Householder. Burial in the Advent cemetery.

HIPPLE.—Harry Hipple died on Friday at his home in Baltimore, Md., after a prolonged illness due to dropsy. Interment was made in that city on Monday. Mr. Hipple was a native of Pine Glenn, this county, but has lived in Baltimore many years. There are no children, but the deceased is survived by a wife, who before marriage was Miss Mabel Meeker, a daughter of Maynard and Clara Meeker, late of Potter township, deceased.

LONGACRE.—Mrs. D. B. Longacre died at her home, near 69th street Station, Philadelphia, on Tuesday night of last week. The body was shipped by rail to Lewistown and from there conveyed to the Kishacoquillas cemetery, Reedsville, where burial was made Friday afternoon in the Rice family plot.
The deceased was a daughter of Clifford and Catharine Relf Rice, and was born at Reedsville. She was the youngest of four daughters. There survive her husband and two children—Miss Elizabeth, who holds a responsible position with the Pennsylvania company, Philadelphia, and Rice, who graduated from Haverford College last June. Also, a sister, Mrs. A. Frank Gibboney, near Belleville, and two brothers, Frank and George Rice, of Reedsville.

PONTIAC BURNS, SATURDAY NIGHT, ON CHURCH HILL
A Pontiac car owned and operated by William Jordan, farmer on the Charles Miller farm, at Colyer, had hard luck on its way to Centre Hall on Saturday night. On reaching Church Hill, at a point close to the residence of farmer John Stoner, his car became ditched due to turning too far from the beaten road to permit a truck to pass. The rear portion of the car was in a deep ditch, while the front was on an elevation. Mr. Jordan struck a match to make an investigation, igniting the fumes of the gas escaping through the air vent of the gas tank cap. The gas did not explode, but a brisk flame shot up, setting the car on fire. As a precautionary measure Mr. Stoner, who was attracted by the light of the fire, secured his rifle and shot several bullets through the tank. While this hastened the consumption of the gas and probably was instrumental in preventing an explosion, it did not prevent the destruction of the rear portion of the sedan.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED IN STATE COLLEGE DEATH

Further investigation was ordered by the Superior Court on Thursday into the death of Philip D. Foster, 67, former treasurer of Centre county, who died while directing the work of a volunteer fire fighting department at State College. The decision was made in an appeal from a compensation award to the fire-fighter's widow.
It was claimed that Foster died as a result of his work. A doctor, however, testified that Foster had been suffering with angina pectoris for three years previous to his death.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

STORE SEED POTATOES.—Many farmers regularly bury enough potatoes to grow the next year's crop. The seed should be stored in a shed or on a barn floor until thoroughly dried off and until the weather gets almost cold enough to freeze the potatoes. They will stay at about the temperature at which they are buried all winter.

CONTROL CHINCH BUGS.—Burning over waste areas where large numbers of chinch bugs hibernates is recommended as a control practice by State College entomologists. Fall plowing of fields for corn is better than spring plowing. Late plowing, after the insects have left winter quarters, is likely to leave an infestation of the first generation to destroy the small corn.

MULCH THE SHRUBBERY.—Leaves, well-decomposed stable manure, or salt hay can be used as a mulch for shrubbery. The mulch should be 4 to 6 inches deep. Tree branches, boards, evergreen sprays, or wire will keep the mulch in place.

CELERY REQUIRES COLD.—Celery keeps best in storage at 32 degrees Fahrenheit. Well-grown celery, free from injury, may be stored for 3 or 4 months if kept constantly just above the freezing temperature with the tops dry and the roots moist.

SEPARATE THE PULLETS.—It pays well to grade the pullets as they are placed in laying quarters. Those showing the earliest development should be housed separately from the slowly maturing birds. When the smaller pullets are by themselves they will develop more rapidly.

PREVENT FIRE LOSSES.—Fire is a thief, more ruthless than any individual. In a short time it steals the accumulation of years. Fire prevention and protection will cut down the losses.

Recent invention tells amount of light you have—What you need for every purpose.
Perhaps the most widely known use of the photo-electric cell—certainly the most publicized—is the part it plays in using the light from the star Arcturus to light up the buildings of the World's Fair at Chicago every night. But it has been put to a much more beneficial use in a device known as the "Sight-Meter."
The "Sight-Meter" is a small, black case, easily held in the hand, which immediately registers the amount of light available in any location where it is placed. In addition to telling the amount of illumination available, it also gives the correct amount of light needed for various tasks, such as sewing, reading fine or large print.
The wonder of its operation, however, is far surpassed by the knowledge of what its use will accomplish. Far too many people are straining their eyes daily—not only at work but in leisure in homes—simply because the light is inadequate. So willing are most eyes, particularly young eyes, to do work beyond their normal capacity, that the damage is often done before steps are taken to remedy it. The danger of eye strain resulting from incorrect lighting can now be eliminated through the use of the "Sight-Meter" to obtain correct illumination.

THREE SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN CAR STRIKES POLE

Stephen Stritzer and Joseph Fiarro, of Bellefonte, and Miss Elizabeth Ritzenour, of State College, were slightly injured Saturday evening about 8:30 when the car in which they were riding skidded on the highway on the back road to the penitentiary and crashed into a telephone pole. Stephen Stritzer suffered lacerations of the forehead, Joseph Fiarro lacerations of the upper lip and nose, and Miss Ritzenour minor cuts and bruises. They were treated at the Centre County hospital dispensary and discharged the same evening.
