

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

James L. Foust, of Burnham, was a Reporter caller last Thursday.

Miss Ruth Zang, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Zang, is visiting friends in Milton.

J. W. Evans, prominent Gregg township farmer, was a pleasant caller at this office on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heim, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Heim, all of Harrisburg, were guests on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Colyer.

Mrs. Lavina Flory, widow of W. F. Flory, has closed her home and is living with Miss Laura Runkle at the Centre Hall hotel.

"The Keystone Melody Boys"—Harry and Delbert Berger, Kenneth and Burton Snyder—all of Centre Hall, arrived home a few days ago after a season of entertainment-giving in the Chicago district. They will leave for Pittsburgh in a few days, having an engagement there from the 20th to the 25th of December.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Booser and two children, and the former's mother, Mrs. D. A. Booser, will spend the Thanksgiving season with friends in the East.—Mrs. D. A. Booser with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butler, New York City, and the Booser family with Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Gutelius, at East Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Fisher and Rev. and Mrs. E. Roy Corman, the latter couple of Wilkesburg, expect to spend the Thanksgiving season with the latter's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Corman, of Unionville, Chester county. They expect to witness the football game on the Lancaster field on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day.

The Presbyterians of Pine Grove Mills are in the second week of their evangelistic services. Rev. Seth Russell, of the M. E. church of Pine Grove Mills, preached on Friday evening. Last night (Wednesday) the services were in charge of the Women's Missionary society. They presented a mission play. Friday night the Rev. Mr. Edward Jones of the State College will bring the message. There has been a very good attendance and much interest manifested in these services.

The following persons visited S. W. Smith at the Lewistown hospital from last Tuesday when he became a patient, until Monday evening: Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kerlin, William Kerlin, E. M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart, Rev. Frederic Moore, W. L. Jacobs, D. W. Bradford, W. D. Shoop, Elwood Smith, Rev. S. F. Greenhoe, Dick Bailey, Chris' Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Durst, sons Robert and James, Dr. Hugh Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bradford, Misses Isabel Bradford and Alice Spkyer, all of town; Edward Thompson, of Pittsburgh.

THREE INJURED IN LOCK HAVEN CRASH

Three persons were injured, one of whom is a patient at the Lock Haven hospital, as the result of a side-swiping collision at 9 o'clock Monday night near the Triangle Filling Station.

Gerald Smith, an occupant of the car driven by Kenneth Shuey, of Lock Haven, suffered lacerations and shock and is in the hospital.

Mr. Shuey received body bruises and Anna Smith, another occupant of the Shuey car, is suffering from shock.

James Caldwell, Jr., of Bellefonte, driver of the other car, escaped injury. Mr. Caldwell was driving toward Bellefonte when the accident occurred.

PAST TEMPLARS, L. G. E., ENJOY BANQUET, FRIDAY EVE

Past Templars, L. G. E., of Centre and Clinton counties, and their friends, enjoyed a turkey dinner at Centre Hills Country Club, near State College, Friday evening. The hundred or more sat at the banquet table. Dancing and cards provided entertainment.

Will Present "Forest Acres."

The Junior class of the Gregg Township Vocational school will present "Forest Acres," a three-act comedy, on December 8, at 8 P. M., in the Grange hall at Spring Mills.

The theme of the play is based on the peculiarities of a narrow-minded farmer, and his eventual change due to the business methods employed by a young girl graduate. Much humor is introduced into the plot by the antics of Andy Hobbs and Miss Ruggles, a sarcastic spinster.

BE THANKFUL.

How can you in homes so cheerful and bright
Be sorrowful, blue and sad,
When many a home with scarcely a crumb
Is cheerful, happy and glad?
There's many a home where want is unknown
And only the best is in store,
While others are crushed with the load
Of despair
In keeping the wolf from the door.
So count your blessings, one by one,
They're more than the sands of the sea;
And breathe a prayer of thankfulness
To the One so mindful of thee

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personals from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

Miss Kathleen Siegal, a senior student at Penn State, is at present taking eight weeks of practice teaching at Johnstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton B. Stover and daughter Josephine last Friday evening motored to York to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Burrows. Mr. Burrows has been seriously ill for the past ten days and is in a critical condition. Mr. Stover and daughter returned home Sunday evening while Mr. Stover remained to help her sister care for Mr. Burrows. Friends and acquaintances here are hoping for a speedy recovery.

Harry K. Condo motored to Lock Haven, Saturday, to attend the Homecoming functions at the State Teachers College.

Mr. and Mrs. Pealer Rossmar and son Hayes, of Pittsburgh, visited at the Howard F. Rossmar home over the week-end.

Ralph H. Shook transacted business at Bellefonte, Monday.

Mrs. Katherine Johnson and baby girl, of Philadelphia, arrived here Saturday evening and will spend two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bright Bitner.

Miss Mary Louise Yearick and Vera Thompson, of State College and Mr. Bradley Ritter, of Williamsport, were Sunday visitors at the D. H. Siegal home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Auman visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Diehl, at Millinburg, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hanna and daughters spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wingard.

Mrs. Gore, of Johnstown, mother of Mrs. Walter S. Adman, arrived last week and expects to spend the winter at the Auman home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Krape transacted business at Millheim one day last week.

Miss Irene Hering, who has been seriously ill for the past two months, has improved sufficiently to be removed to a sanitarium, where she will undergo treatment. Her many friends hope for her speedy return to good health.

Miss Jane Rossmar, small daughter of Mrs. Pauline Rossmar, has had tonsillitis for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stover, of Millheim, paid Squire E. T. Jamison a short visit Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Musser, of Penn Hall, are recovering nicely from their recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Stoops, of Lansdale, are spending several days with Mrs. Pauline Rossmar, while Mr. Stoops is enjoying several days hunting in this vicinity.

Grover Gentzel, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at his parental home, that of Mr. and Mrs. George Gentzel. Mr. Gentzel has an excellent position in Broad Street station, which he has held all through the depression and is surely making good. He never forgets his aged parents whom he visits as often as he conveniently can do so.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stover motored to York on Sunday to visit their brother-in-law, Fred Burrows, who is in a very serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. R. U. Bitner, of Avis, and daughter, Miss Grace Bitner, of State College, visited at the home of Mrs. Bitner's sister, Mrs. Ida Hackenberg.

Prof. and Mrs. Ralph Watts, of State College, were visiting at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Curtis Watts, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wise of Penns Cave spent Sunday at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Jacob Sharer.

Mr. and Mrs. Millheim and three children, of Milton, were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mulfinger.

Squire Jamison still fails to show any decided improvement in health.

Miss Irene Hering, who has been in a very serious condition for several months, remains the same.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

IT used to be that almost every other girl thought she could sing. I think parents raise their kids to be more sensible about such things now.

But you still find a good many girls in their teens that sing the neighbors out of house and home, and pretend to themselves and everybody else that they are doing it because they're going to make the world wonder at how loud they can sing in the opera.

There was a girl like that that finally got an opera conductor in New York to listen at her while she sang for him. When she'd been going two minutes the conductor says, "Stop! You can't sing half as good as my parrot."

"Well," she says, "I think you must be prejudiced. You don't give me a chance. Why, all the neighbors say I should go abroad to study singing."

"Yep," he says, "I'd say that too, if I had to live where I'd hear you all the time. Now go on away and let me fix my headache."

Mr. Bringer Substitutes During Principal's Illness.

Professor J. P. Wetzel, High school principal, who has suffered severely with pneumonia since September 1, is now able to be about again, but has not yet resumed his teaching.

During his absence Mr. Hughes Bringer has been teaching in his place while Mr. R. S. Jamison is acting as principal.

Mr. Wetzel became ill after removing the High school exhibit from the Education building at Grange Park after the fair. In a short time he was feeling better, but the following Sunday developed a high temperature and Dr. H. Morrow, his physician, diagnosed the disease as pneumonia. His condition remained critical for at least two weeks, since when his recovery has been steady, though slow.

Juniors Hold Attendance Record, Order Class Rings.

The Junior Class had a perfect attendance for the month of September and until Vinton McClellan left for the Chicago World's Fair on October 13.

A large percentage of the Junior class has ordered class rings which will have the same emblem as those of former classes, although some have ordered silver, some gold tops and silver shanks, and some gold rings.

COUNTY MEETING P. O. S. OF A.

blindly follows governmental leadership. This patriot, rather than seek for knowledge, follows the motto: My country, right or wrong. He is content to let things drift, an attitude which, for instance, would never have dared to question the rule of the English King one hundred sixty years ago. It was men who dared to disagree who brought about the American Revolution and the establishment of these United States. Then, there is the patriot who goes to the other extreme. To him nothing is satisfactory. All existing governmental agencies are bad and should be abolished or replaced. Of such are the Communists and the I. W. W. composed. An example of this can be seen in Russia, where there have been radical changes, the most deplored being the activities against organized religion. The third kind of patriot is constructive and progressive. He seeks knowledge and then tries openly to bring about such changes as he thinks necessary. Many times he will disagree—he will not be a "yes" man to everything. Our country has progressed through the leadership of men who dared to disagree. It is difficult to understand the many changing aspects of our national life today. But, in spite of the many ways in which we may differ with our leaders, let us do our part and trust in God that He is the guide of our President and that we may come out of these trying circumstances a greater and a better nation. We are free to criticize what our government is doing, but let us be constructive rather than destructive patriots.

Following the keynote of these remarks, J. B. White of State College, suggested one definite way in which we can be constructive patriots. In his opinion, the Boy Scouts (as well as the Campfire Girls and Girl Scouts) is a movement whose aims and principles deserve our sincerest support. Members of the P. O. S. of A. as individuals, and every thinking American should do all in his power to aid the establishment and growth of Scout Troops. Here youth is given training and activity which is of a positive nature, seldom hedged about with so many "don't's."

These talks were followed by a few extemporaneous remarks by members of the camps represented. E. S. Ripka, District president of District No. 3 of Centre county, called attention to the negligence of some camps and members in the county. He suggested ways of improving attendance, interest, and financial standing of a camp. Brother Ripka speaks from experience, for he has shown that it can be done, as evidenced by the stability and standing of his own camp, for which he never ceases to labor and boost.

There will be another county meeting, probably at the Pine Grove Mills camp, during the month of December. There are in the county ten local camps, with a total membership of over five hundred. Every member who attends one of these meetings will be inspired to come again and bring other members and friends with him. ***
