U. S. TO BRING WHEAT ACREAGE WITHIN WORLD PACT TERMS

Farm Administrator Chester C. Davis announced that removal of an additional 5,323,000 acres of wheat land from production would be undertaken. The step is planned to bring the total United States output within the terms of the international wheat agreement, he said.

The United States agreed to reduce both its total production and export surplus by 15 per cent and the domestic acreage must be reduced to 45,500,000 acres from the base period of 1931-1933 to accomplish this result. Within the next ten days, Davis declared, plans for the reduction in addition to that already made under the production control contract sign-up campaign of last fall will be presented to wheat producers. He indicated they probably would call for an additional reduction by present signers or a campaign for new contracts.

Officials also revealed that proposed additional steps for reducing production and stimulating consumption among the countries signatory to the international agreement might necessitate another general conference.

A subcommittee of the international conference has proposed a plan for denaturing wheat to render it fit only for livestock feeding as a method of reducing present supplies. It also has suggested improvement of the quality of bread and flour by reducing the amount of flour obtained from wheat in the milling process.

The United States' representatives at the subcommittee meetings were instructed to make it plain that this country would insist on full attainment of the program of the international agreement as a contingency to any additional steps to limit production.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

LEARN BY DOING—Boys and girls who belong to 4H clubs gain information and experience that will prove valuable to them in their future operations. In addition to the practical returns obtained from their work the social contacts are especially beneficial.

USE RAW VEGETABLES—Stored vegetables, such as cabbage, carrots, rutabags, celery, and onions, make a welcome contribution to the family bill of fare these winter days. At least one raw vegetable a day is a rule of good nutrition because none of the vitamins or minerals is lost or destroyed in cooking.

BARLEY YIELDS WELL—Barley variety demonstrations conducted by agricultural extension workers during the past three years have shown Wisconsin 28 to be the highest yielding under good conditions of soil and season, while Alpha, the old 2-row, rough-bearded variety, has been the most reliable yielder under adverse conditions.

TOO MANY FIRE RISKS—Many fire hazards exist around the farm. These have been increased in recent years through the advent of the gas engine with the fumes of gasoline and hot exhaust pipe, the use of underground metal built into structures, the storing of poorly cured hays, and the use of ungrounded wire fences attached directly to buildings.

WEAN OLDER PIGS—Experiments have proved that the bigger the pig at weaning time, the more efficient use it makes of feed consumed from then until marketing age. Eight weeks of age is recommended as the minimum for weaning.

PRODUCE LARGE EGGS—Keep a strain of birds which lay large, smooth shelled eggs.

POTATO GROWERS ASSOCIATION MEETING HELD SATURDAY

At the annual meeting of the Centre County Potato Growers Association, Charles Campbell, of Penna. Furnace, was re-elected president; J. J. Markle, State College, vice-president; Leo Smeltzer, Pleasant Gap, secretary-treasurer.

Growers at the meeting are making plans to get in a car load of certified seed potatoes this spring.

L. T. Dennison, Plant Pathologist at State College, and Dr. E. L. Nixon, both advised the growers of the county to secure at least enough certified seed to produce the bulk of their seed for planting next year. This is recommended as a profitable practice for potato growing in this county.

Work at this time is being applied to the construction of a dam with a breast of 160 feet, with a base of forty feet and 8 feet at the top, and fourteen feet high.
