Spring Mills

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personals from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Duck, on Sunday, became the parents of a son, born at the Centre County hospital.

Mrs. Benjamin Gentzell has been quite ill for two weeks from bronchial pneumonia. She is 91 years of age, which makes recovery all the more difficult. She is, however, not despondent, but is living in a faith that assures her a blessed home in the beyond.

The candidacy of John W. Decker, one of the faculty in the Gregg Twp. Vocational School, to become a member of the lower house in the State Legislature, is being received with much enthusiasm by the Democratic voters—men and women—in Gregg, and with not much less enthusiasm by the Republican voters in the district. Tax payers, who know John Decker, know that he would not fail to represent their cause in every question that comes to issue in the State capital.

Ice on Penns Creek took leave without making disturbance.

We are glad to announce that Arthur Grove, who had been in a rather serious condition, is reported some better.

Thomas Kerstetter was one of the fortunate trappers to capture a beaver that weighed 45 pounds.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy McCool.

Word has just reached the writer that Grace Reitmeyer, well known by some folks of this place, had died in Chicago. She was the only daughter of the late Prof. J. W. Reitmeyer. Her mother and two brothers, Dallas and Paul, of Jersey Shore, survive.

The Odd Fellows banquet was well attended. The American Eagles furnished the music.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. McCool, of Altoona, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. D. M. McCool. The latter, who had been visiting at their home for several weeks, was brought to her home by her son Roland.

C. H. S. ALUMNI TO MEET.

A business meeting of the Centre Hall High School Alumni Association is called for Tuesday evening of next week in the High school building. A good attendance is desired.

Tusseyville.

Owing to the deep snow there were only nine pupils in attendance at the Tusseyville school Monday.

Those who visited Mary Swartz during the week were Mary Stoner, Mary Hornor and Margaret Wert.

Mrs. John Wert visited her mother, Mrs. Annie Rossman, Thursday.

Albert Smith and family moved from Centre Hall to the Florey house at Tusseyville, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holderman spent Friday afternoon with Mr. Holderman's mother, Mrs. Hess.

Mrs. Sadie Weaver, of Colyer, visited friends in town Friday.

The proceeds of the box social held in the Tusseysink school house Friday evening amounted to $23.00.

Robert Smith and family, of Centre Hall, visited Sunday morning with their son, Albert, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Neville and daughter Lois were Sunday visitors at Spring Mills with the Spicher family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Grove and daughter Colleen, from Huntingdon, spent Sunday at the Smith and Martz homes.

Mr. and Mrs. George Donabey and son Jack were supper guests at the A. W. Holderman home, Sunday.

Postmaster C. P. Ramer has been notified that our post office will be closed, effective April 1st.

Lester Brouse and family spent Sunday at the Rocky home.

Mrs. Annie Kliefelter is recovering from a siege of the grippe.

Dean Wert was a Sunday guest at the Calvin Weaver home.

Samuel Horner and family from Brush Valley were Sunday callers at the Chas. Slutterbeck home.

Joseph Ramer's lady friend, from Lewistown, was a Sunday guest at the Ramer home.

Visitors at the Calvin Bottorf home Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cooney, of Colyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Williams and son Paul Bogden, Potters Mills.

Mary Curry visited the Tusseyville school Monday afternoon.

It is generally regretted that our former mail carrier, W. F. Keller, has been retired by the P. O. department.

"Bill" was a friend of everyone on the route young and old, and we certainly miss his daily greetings.

Boalsburg.

Mrs. Mattie Tressler spent part of last week with friends at State College.

Miss Anna Sweeny, Miss Sara McClenahan and Mrs. Frank, of Centre Hall, attended the funeral of Mrs. Lytton, on Saturday, and also called on friends about town.

Alfred Leve transacted business at State College on Monday.

Millard McGirk and family, of Altoona, were visitors in town, Sunday.

Miss Margaret Dale entertained seventeen young ladies at a quilting party on Monday evening. Sauerkraut, welters, rolls, coffee, candy and nuts were served for refreshments.

The local I. O. O. F. degree team will go to Stormstown Thursday to put on the initiatory degree.

Rev. Wink, Leland Walker and J. D. Patterson went to Howard Monday evening to arrange for entering the Boalsburg baseball team in the Centre County League.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Dale, of Pleasant Gap, were visitors in town Thursday.

Mrs. Annie Rine is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Norris, in Bellewood.

Miss Geer and Miss Mitchell, entertained the Girls' Hi-Y club at tea on Tuesday.

Arlene Gingrich Lytton Dead—

The body of Mrs. Arlene Gingrich Lytton, of Norris town, was interred in the Geringer family plot in the local cemetery on Saturday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Wagner, of the Lutheran church.

Arlene Gingrich Lytton was the daughter of the late Henry and Ellen Stover Gingrich and was born on the homestead at Cedar Creek forty-two years ago. After graduating from the Boalsburg High school she entered a Reading hospital and later graduated as a professional nurse, following that profession until several years ago when she was married to Mr. Lytton, of Norris town. She is survived by her husband, a stepson and daughter, three sisters, Mrs. Cora Hassel, of New York, Mrs. Bertha Cramer and Miss Rosella Gingrich, of State College; and two brothers—Earl and Rome, of Cedar Creek.

POTTERS MILLS.

Visitors at the Michael Smith home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Windom Gramley, of Millheim; Mrs. Annie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Corman, of Spring Mills; Roy Smith and family, of Lewistown; Mrs. Ruth Thomas and son William, and Earl Smith and family.

For your WIFE - your CHILDREN!

Every woman, when leaving or coming to her home at night appreciates the feeling of security which comes from well lighted streets. She also wants to feel that her children have the same safeguard.

Every man wants the greatest possible protection for his family, his property and his person. Police and traffic systems are necessary and valuable but they are handicapped without adequate street lighting.

To provide this is the responsibility of every community.

The forces of crime work in the dark—they shun the light. Accidents from traffic, falls, or other causes are materially reduced where light is adequate. The friendly rays of light along the streets stand guard as staunch allies of law and order, retarding and discouraging crime, and preventing accidents.

It has been proven again and again that the cost of the protection which light affords is extremely small when compared to the losses that follow when streets are dark.
