Playing Schedule for C. C. Baseball League Approved; 10 Clubs Enter

Centre county will have a ten-club baseball league this year. In addition to the eight clubs of last year, Boalsburg and Kato are new additions. A playing schedule of thirty-six games has been approved. This gives each club four games with each foe, which will likely prove less popular with the fans than when the eight-club league afforded six contests with one another. It is doubtful whether the ten-club league can be made permanent. It certainly has less desirable features than the more ideal 8-club organization. Be that as it may, the fans are getting hungry for their popular pastime, and are anxiously awaiting the umpire's call of "Play ball!"

The schedule is made up as in former years—first and second half—with the winner of the first half playing the winner of the second half for the county championship. The schedule follows:

May 5—Lamar at Centre Hall; Pleasant Gap at Millheim; Rebersburg at Boalsburg; Orviston at Bellefonte; Kato at Howard.

ALFARATA CHORUS TO FILL ENGAGEMENTS IN PHILAD'A. ATLANTIC CITY, OCEAN CITY

The chorus will be the biggest attraction to be featured at the church this season. The best talent of Philadelphia has been used in recent concerts in this church.

The Alfarata chorus will also fill a week's engagement in the Walnut St. theatre, which gives them the honor of being the first chorus ever to appear on that stage. The young people are working hard for their concert on April 14 and 15 in Williamsport, at St. Paul's Lutheran church. The first week in July the chorus will make its second appearance in both Atlantic City and Ocean City, N. J., in tabernacles of 10,000 capacity.

In thong statement issued by Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, the main thought is that if he is not re-elected the country will go to the tow-wows. He aims to make it appear, "I am the savior of the country; you can have my services six years longer; I am your Moses." The senator forgets that he was too stupid to even make a gesture to avert the panic we are merging from. All he did was to stand at the corner designated by Hoover—the corner prosperity never would have turned save for the policies outlined by President Roosevelt.

CONFESSION COURT RESULTS IN FIVE PRISON SENTENCES

Judge Fleming's last confessions court resulted in five men being sent to penal institutions.

Poster Wber, Tyrone, charged with passing forged checks, which had also been done on previous occasions, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00 and to serve one to two years in Western Penitentiary.

William Hendershot, of Bellefonte, pleaded guilty to having stolen meat and lard and chop from Epley White, and was sentenced to eleven months and ten days in the Allegheny county workhouse.

For driving a car while intoxicated, Lewis Jacobson, Philadelphia, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25.00 and ten days in jail.

Walter E. Hackman, of Rebersburg, was brought before the court on a bench warrant for failure to make his payments on a support order for his wife and child. Hackman stated that he was married in 1922 but he and his wife never went to housekeeping. At the time he was engineer in a power house at Pottstown and drawing $150 a month. In February, 1923, his wife had him arrested for non-support and the late Judge Quigley made an order for $25 a month. Some time during 1934 he left Pottstown and returned to the home farm near Rebersburg, owing to the illness of his father. He made his support payments until about three years ago when he came into court and asked for a reduction in the order, and the same was reduced to $12 a month. Last year, however, he paid only $12 the entire year. Hackman told the court that farming has been so poor that he hasn't made enough of money to pay his feed bills and taxes. Mrs. Hackman, whose parents are dead, has been staying with her sister at Madisonburg and supporting herself and child by working in the knitting mill at Millheim. The court gave him ten days in which to file a bond to assure payments of the order or go to the Allegheny county workhouse.

WISS SPELLING BEE LAURELS AS "DIETETICS" TRIPS FOE

William T. Baldwin Jr., 25-year-old Lebanon county resident, spelled down 48 other county representatives in an old-fashioned "bee" held in Harrisburg on Wednesday last week, and was crowned State champion.

The "ring" squad, armed with thousands of words, ceased the barrage as J. R. Brotherton, of Luzerne county, cracked on "dietics," and left Baldwin standing alone.

The contest, was sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction as part of its program commemorating the 100th anniversary of free schools in Pennsylvania.

Winners from 49 counties lined up for the word test. Fifty were registered, but Clinton county's entry did not participate. They were "set down" rapidly and by noon only 29 remained.

The last four participants withstood a heavy attack. They huddled 23 extremely difficult words before Mrs. Edna Bell, housewife, of Hopwood. Fayette county, the last of 22 women, spelled "electrolytic" with an "I" instead of a "y."

Some of the words conquered in this period included aphyllate, cenotaph, paradigm, guibillity, chenille, and irascible. After Mrs. Bell dropped out, the three remaining spellers went through ravenous, libel, irate, pazeant, revoked, incredulity and anniversary.

Then the Allegheny county representative, Theodore Epstein, a young lawyer, spelled "crustacean" with an "r" instead of an "e."

The two remaining contestants succeeded with recurrence, Fascism, plicking, callisthenics, conceded and delicatessen. The runner-up then spelled "dietics" with an "a" in place of the first "e."

Brotherton is a 42-year-old retired lawyer of White Haven. One of the words he huddled was "piccadill." He made it known that only the night before he searched for the spelling on the pronouncement that it would be given to him in the contest.

Baldwin received a hand-embossed parchment scroll attesting to his championship. He is employed by a telephone company and gave his occupation as "commercial representative." The department said he attended Virginia Polytechnic Institute for two years and prior to the county matches, which he won, he never participated in a spelling "bee" except in regular public school exercises.

Lynn J. Meyer, Millheim, Centre county's representative, was the fifteenth in the order of elimination, the misspelling of "militarise" having been his undoing.

The order in which contestants in the final round dropped out and the word on which they faltered follows: Henry Newell, Bradford, boutonieres; J. Shellenberger, Juniata, parakeets; C. E. Zelders, Snyder, redingote; Sol Levine, Greene, balliwick; Mrs. John C. Wilson, Montgomery, progenitor; Mrs. C. M. Bower, Perry, bulimia; Frank M. Walling, Crawford, gemel; the Rev. Walter Wagner, Northumberland, erysipelas; Ellwood Roberts, Northampton, guimpe; Charles R. Hess, Huntingdon, gneiss; Charles R. Hess, Lehigh, xanthous; Mrs. C. L. Moore, Butler, exuberant; A. R. Weaver, Chester, harakiri; Mrs. Robert Augle, Cumberland, lavalliere; Robert Young, Lockawanna, analogous; C. Raymond Bolbach, Lancaster, cirrhosis; Mrs. Edna Bell, Fayette, electrolytic; Theodore Epstein, Allegheny, crustacean; J. R. Brotherton, Luzerne, dietetics.

Mrs. Mary Stahl is back to her home west of town, after having spent the winter with her sons, Asher and Bruce, in Altoona, and Claude K. in Narberth, near Philadelphia.

Russell Lair and family are now living in Centre Hall, in the Shirk home, owned by Mrs. Daniel Bloom. Mr. Lair will be employed on the Bartholomew farm by Mr. Bloom, the tenant.

Up to April 4 a total of 1,735,929 automobile drivers' licenses were issued. During the month of March 395,185 cards were granted, 53,248 more than during the same month of last year.

Orvis A. Campbell, chief of police of Lewisburg, in a signed article in the Journal, complains about yelping dogs and yelping cats, and wants owners to keep their animals "under direct control." It will only be a short time, chief, until the pussy cats will again have that satisfied look, but yelping dogs,—that's different.

The output of Chevrolets during March was 110,266 cars and trucks, the third largest output in the history of the company since 1929. During the same month 14,891 new Pontiacs were built, three times the production of March in last year. Since March 19 the average daily production of Pontiacs has been 700 cars.

By this time farmers and townspeople who changed residence are settled in their new homes where the large percent of them will remain for at least a year. If you are a subscriber to the Reporter or any other publication received through the mail and changing homes has also changed your post office address, do not fail to notify the publishers.

Samuel Kreamer, formerly a partner in the mercantile firm of Kreamer & Son, doing business in Centre Hall for a number of years in what is now known as the Odd Fellows' building in Centre Hall, is seriously ill from diabetes from which disease he has been a sufferer for a number of years. After leaving here the Kreamer family located in Lewistown, where Mr. Kreamer, as long as he was physically able, was employed in the Viscose plant.

W. A. Smith, former mayor of Montgomery, and prominently connected with the Work Division of the Emergency Relief in Lycoming county, and sister, Mrs. Russell Glass, also of Montgomery, were guests for a few hours of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Smith, on Friday. They were on their way home from Franklin county where they disposed of a large saw mill and extensive equipment belonging to the late Mr. Glass.

The Lizzie Keen property, opposite the Neff undertaking establishment in Millheim, was sold a few days ago at private sale to Mrs. Mary McCool of Potter township, by the executor, F. M. Fisher, Centre Hall. The home, a double house, was offered at public sale a short time ago, but the bid offered was not attractive. Mrs. McCool expects to improve the place to some extent and occupy a section of it herself. The other part, of course, will be offered for rent.

Wheat fields are presenting a promising appearance. The extremely low temperatures during the winter gave the wheat plants a severe test, but when the first spring showers and sunshine came along the apparent dead plants were revived and now are most promising. Unlike the past few springs, grasses and clovers are also making a recovery sufficient to indicate no injury from the continuous freezing.

A heavy crop of hay will be appreciated by farmers in this section, where the yield has been much below the average during the past few years.

Two weddings have been announced in the past few days, both popular Pleasant Gap girls. The first, Miss Edith Hile and Clyde Adams, at Cumberland, Md., and the second, Miss Grace Ishler and John Royer, of Pine Grove Mills, at the Lutheran parsonage at Pine Grove Mills. The latter couple will reside in one of the houses owned by the bride's father, H. J. Ishler, in the village. The first mentioned, Mr. and Mrs. Adams, will not go to housekeeping for some time. Mrs. Adams is a graduate of Lock Haven Teachers College and is now employed at the primary school in Horntown where she will finish the term.

Robert Lee Breen, son of Mrs. Grace Breen, of town, was the third young man to enlist with Uncle Sam for service in the Coast Guard Artillery, Philippine Islands, and left here for Fort Slocum, near New York City, on Friday. The day previous he went to the Harrisburg recruiting office conducted by A. Pollon, Colonel, Cavalry Recruiting Officer, and was accepted. He expects to join the same unit as his buddies—Spyster and Snyder—and will sail for the Islands in a very short time. On Monday the Breen family received a letter from the young man stating that he had joined the air forces instead of the Army and that he had been assigned to service in Panama, with no definite time set for leaving the States.
