LOCAL H. S. DEFEATS PORT

MATILDA AT BASEBALL

Scoring off Rickert's single in the twelfth inning of a game at Port Matilda on Tuesday, Bob Walker broke the 5-5 tie which had been held for four innings, and won the ball game for Centre Hall.

Fred Spiker went the entire route on the mound for the "Tigers," and allowed ten hits. Rickert was the outstanding pitcher of the game, collecting three hits out of six trips to the plate.
"Mac" McClellan distinguished himself by driving out two hits and accepting eight chances in the field without an error. Dick Johnson, smashing a twobagger to left center in the 8th inning, drove Frank across the plate with the tying marker.

The girls' game on this same afternoon ran into three extra innings before Port Matilda scored the sixth and winning run.

Ruth Hartley, Harriet Smith, and Ruth Reiber were the outstanding hitters for the locals. Irene Smith pitched the entire game. Richards, for Port Matilda, drove out two two-baggers.

COMMUNITY DAY AT GRADE

SCHOOLS, THURSDAY, 26TH

Community Day will be observed at the Grade schools, Thursday afternoon, April 26th, 1:30 o'clock. The work done throughout the year will be on exhibit. This includes permanent drawing, posters, paintings, sand-table work and the like.

The period for sports will be devoted to a game of baseball—boys vs. girls.
The patrons of the several schools and any others interested are invited to inspect the exhibit and enjoy the sport on the ball diamond. A good attendance will tend to entice the school children both in their studies and play.

Deaths

LOCKE.—Dr. Melvin J. Locke, 67, died at his home in Bellefonte Saturday. He is survived by his widow, his father, 94, who lives in McChainsburg, Ill.; four children, Dr. LeRoy Locke, of Bellefonte; Mrs. R. M. Pennington, and Melvin Locke, both of Philadelphia; and David, at home, and one brother. His widow was formerly Miss Mary Alexander. His first wife, Miss Blanche Kipe, Philadelphia, died in 1929.

Doctor Locke was a graduate of the Hahnemann Medical College and hospital, in 1891, and came to Bellefonte in 1895, becoming chief surgeon of the Bellefonte hospital and consulting surgeon of the Lock Haven hospital.
Burial was made at Bellefonte on Wednesday morning.

PACKER.—Mrs. Anna Maria Packer, widow of George W. Packer, passed away at her home at Beech Creek, as the result of general debility, although she had been confined to bed only nine days.

She was born at Blanchard 91 years ago, within one mile of the house in which she died and where she lived 71 years. She is survived by two sons and four daughters: Ira T. and Harry W. Packer, of Beech Creek; Mrs. J. D.
Roffe, of Jersey Shore; Mrs. Lella Chamberlain, of Bradford; Mrs. E. M.
Barrow, of Corning, N. Y.; and Mrs.
Ada Thompson, of Lock Haven.
Funeral services were held at her late home on Wednesday afternoon of last week, by the Rev. David Nelson, burial being made in the Disciple cemtery, at Blanchard.

FOSTER.—Charles H. Foster passed away at his home on Pugh street, State College, Friday afternoon at the age of 75 years, 29 days. Funeral services were held on Monday, with burial in the Branch cemetery.

Mr. Foster was a railway mail clerk for thirty-seven years, having been retired since 1922. He was prominently connected with the organization of both the banks in his home town and the development of real estate projects.

His first wife, now deceased, was Miss Maude Snyder, and the second whom he married in 1930, survives him.
There survive him also one sister, Miss Mary Foster, State College, and one brother, John, of Sheffield, Ala., and the following sons and daughters: W.
H. Foster, Gouverneur, N. Y.; Mrs. H.
T. Jenson, Houston, Tex.; Miss Cora Foster, Williamsport; M. S. Foster, of New York City, and J. C. Foster, of Bethlehem.

The deceased was a son of William H. and Mariah Cavet Foster and was born and reared in State College.

WERT.—Mrs. Amanda Wert, wife of James A. Wert, passed away at the family home in Aaronsburg Wednesday morning of last week, following an illness of diseases incident to her advanced age.

Mrs. Wert was a daughter of Jacob and Sarah (Corman) Brungart and was born on the Brungart homestead east of Rebersburg August 23, 1854, hence was aged 79 years, 7 months and 23 days.

Surviving are her husband, James A.
Wert, and three children: John B.
Wert and Claude E. Wert, both of Centre Hall, R. D., and D. Sparr Wert, of Aaronsburg; two brothers: Clayton and Jeremiah Brungart, as well as twenty-three grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren. A daughter, Sarah, passed away some years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wert celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary last month.
They spent the last twenty-five years in Aaronsburg.

Mrs. Wert was a lifelong member of the Lutheran church.

Funeral services were held in the home Saturday morning at 9:30 o'- clock, and continued in the Aaronsburg Lutheran church, the Rev. Louis V. Leshar officiating.

Interment was made in the family vault at Wolfs Chapel.

A team of Western horses purchased recently by Bruce Krumrine, tenant on the Emerick farm, Potters Mills, died last week, one on Wednesday and the other on Saturday. Although a large number of Western horses have been sold in Centre Hall and Pleasant Gap during the past few years, the death rate among them has been extremely light. With the care and attention one is expected to give an animal brought from any distant section, especially when climatic conditions are radically different, the light loss from death may reasonably be expected to continue. The light loss of horses due to shipping, together with the splendid type of animals offered here, and the altogether satisfactory service they are able to and do give, are the prime reasons for the success of dealers who cover this region throughout the entire year.

While screening tankage at his rendering plant, on Nittany Mountain, George Vogt punctured the palm of his right hand with a nail protruding from a board which he was handling. For a time the wound occasioned considerable pain and was swollen, but by the beginning of the week there was such improvement that further complications are not anticipated.

The news from the Philipsburg State hospital concerning N. B. Spangler, Esq., Bellefonte, a patient there, is to the effect that he is improving and will be back to his home in about a week.

Spring Mills will begin in the Grammar room at Spring Mills on Friday,

Senior Trip to Washington

The senior class of G. T. V. S. will go on a three-day trip to Washington, D. C. May 14, 15 and 16. The class will go by bus in conjunction with the seniors from the following Centre county high schools: Centre Hall, East Penna Valley, Boalsburg and Hubersburg. The class during the past four years has raised sufficient funds to defray the expenses of this trip, as well as necessary commencement expenses.
The large audience that recently turned out for the senior play and the support given the seniors in the publication of the play program booklet added matterially to their funds. The class members are grateful to all who helped in any way. Miriam B. Tschudy and H.

Floyd E. Snyder's craftsmanship in woodworking is reflected in a handsome little chest he has just completed.
Mahogany and bird's eye maple are the woods used. The mahogany is inlaid with ebony and celluloid in a pretty pattern design, and a mother-of-pearl butterfly on the top lid adds an additional touch of beauty.

Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Corman, of Wilkinsburg, arrived in town Sunday evening. They will be guests at the home of Mrs. Corman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher for much of the week. This will give Rev. Corman and his host an opportunity to do a bit of trout fishing, of which sport both are very fond.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Heckert, B. F.
Heckert, Jr., and Miss Jean Hostler-man, of Millheim, motored to Harrisburg to attend the fiftieth wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Heckert, of Washington, D. C., the former being a brother of B. F.
Heckert, the event having been celebrated at the home of Mrs. Mar Heckert, a daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Samuel Rachau, who formerly lived at Farmers Mills, is now occupying the Dinges place, east of the borough line, which she purchased from John Keam about a year ago and is very much pleased with the surroundings. The family consists of Mrs.
Rachau and a daughter, Miss Ruth Rachau. Her son, Jay, Rachau, recently married to Miss Foreman, is tenant on her farm at Farmers Mills.

Dates of Commencement Activities

The senior class announces the following dates for the various Commencement activities:

Baccalaureate sermon, Sunday, May 20th, Methodist church, 8 P. M. Rev.
H. Pruyn, former pastor of the Methodist church, will preach the sermon.

Class Night exercises will be held in the Spring Mills Grange hall on Tuesday, May 22nd, at 8 P. M.

The Commencement exercises will be held in the Methodist church, Thursday, May 24th, at 8 P. M. Professor James P. Whyte, of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, will deliver the address. Prof.
Whyte addressed the class several years ago, presenting a most interesting and helpful address. Prof. F. Glenn Rogers, Supt. of Centre county schools, will present the diplomas to the class.

All pupils, parents and others inter-ester are invited to the commencement activities of the class of 1934. No admission charge to any of the activities. You will be welcome. The class members urge you to keep the above three dates in mind.

Most of World Put on Speaking Terms by Transoceanic Telephone

Radio-telephony in Its Seventh Year Links 29,700,000 Telephones in 53 Countries; Bell System Scientists Overcame Many Obstacles

Classic among the tales of financial genius is the story of the early British financier who employed carrier pigeons and fast sailing vessels of his own to gather vital market information, while his less astute competitors waited days, weeks and even months for the same news to trickle through to them.

But history will chronicle no more legends like that of Nathan Mayer, father of the first Baron Rothschild and builder of the financial dynasty tagged with the Rothschild name. Modern communication methods have seen to that.

For radio-telephony, linking more than 29,700,000 telephones in some fifty-three countries, scattered over five continents, has tended to make financial coups depending on speedy information increasingly rare.

Not many years ago a telephone call to London or Paris was an idea that belonged in one of those imaginative books that dip into the dim future. Today such a call is one of many in a daily stream of traffic that flows not only to London or Paris, but to the uttermost reaches of the globe—to Rome, Cairo, Cape Town, Sydney, Buenos Aires, Honolulu and Manila.

Since overseas telephone service was inaugurated in 1927 between New York and London the scope of this service has been rapidly enlarged—a city or two, a group of islands or an entire country at a time.

The service now embraces practically all telephones in Western Europe; Egypt and part of South Africa; all of Western and South Australia; the Dutch East Indies; most of Central and South America; Bermuda, Hawaii, and the Philippines.

Spanish Morocco, Palestine, India, Siam, the Canary Islands and the Balearic Islands, too, are all in reach now of any Bell System telephone, as are a score of ocean liners, even when in mid-Atlantic and beyond.

Radio and wire lines combine to form these voice channels to foreign lands. Calls to Europe, after passing through the transatlantic terminal at New York, travel over the original long wave and three short wave radio routes to the cross-Atlantic terminal at London, where connection is made respectively to the Bell System network in this country and to the telephone systems of the various continental countries.

Thus a call to Paris would go to London by radio and thence by land wire and submarine cable across the channel to Paris. Other circuits, terminating at London and other European points, provide service to Egypt, Palestine, South Africa, India and the Far East.

New York is also the terminus for short wave channels to Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Lima, Bermuda and ships at sea.

Another short wave circuit terminating at San Francisco furnishes facilities for service with the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies.
From Miami, Fla., radio-telephone service is provided with the Bahamas, Central America and the northern part of South America.

Magnetic disturbances create the most serious obstacle to short wave transmission. Static and "fading," with which all radio listeners are familiar, and the presence of an envelope of ionized gases some 200 miles above the ocean's surface also had to be overcome by Bell System technicians in developing the existing radio-telephone channels across the sea.

A thousand-and-one other scientific factors enter into the business of hurling the human voice at lightning speed back and forth across the ocean; but these are among those which may be said to be controlling. And one of the wonders of this transoceanic service is that all these hazards have been overcome!
