

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Izora Rupp, of near Oak Hall Station, was a guest of Mrs. Annie Homan, in town, on Friday.

The Centre Hall 4-H Club girls announce a festival to be held on the High school grounds, Saturday evening, June 23rd. Music will be a special feature.

Mrs. George Witmer and two children, of Selmsgrove, spent the past week-end with the former's cousin, Miss Laura Runkle, at the Centre Hall hotel.

Mrs. Morrow and baby son were brought to their home here from the Gelsinger hospital, on Sunday, by Dr. Hugh Morrow, the proud father of the youth. The baby has been named Hilton Hampton for a school chum of Dr. Morrow, now a practicing attorney and prominent citizen of Tampa, Fla.

J. Henry Garbrick, of Bellefonte, Pa., recently purchased the Hammermill chop mill operated for some time by George H. Stover, of Centre Hall, and will grind chop and other feed for Penns. Brusis, and Georges Valley farmers. Mr. Garbrick is experienced in the work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keller and Miss Sarah McClennahan, of town, the latter part of last week attended the funeral of Miss Kathleen McLanahan, a relative, in Tyrone. The young lady was a teacher of health and physical education in the Tyrone High school. She was a daughter of Fred McLanahan, of Tyrone.

Last Thursday, Miss Margaret Jacobs, her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs, son, W. L. Jacobs, and Miss Anna Sweeney, spent the day very enjoyably with Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Gilliland at their cabin on Spruce Creek. John Royer and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lee and daughter, all of Tyrone, visited the former's uncle, Frank D. Lee, on Saturday.

The recovery of Martha Strong, wife of Kenneth Strong, is expected from the effects of a bullet wound in the left chest inflicted by her husband while she was making a dash from the car in which she and her husband had been riding, and quarreling. The tragedy took place on a street in Philipsburg. Strong is at liberty, but under bail for appearance at the September term of court.

Edward Durst, the local painter with the power spraying equipment, a short time ago completed an interior job in the Richelieu building, Bellefonte, now occupied by Stempfy's Furniture store. Buff sidewalls and cream-color ceiling combine to make a pretty combination. Mr. Stempfy's store presents as fine an appearance as any business place in Bellefonte since improvements have been made.

On Tuesday, V. A. Auman, judge of the local election board, made a return to Clearfield county of the vote for State Senator in Centre county, having been appointed to do so by the board of county commissioners. Carl Bray, of Bellefonte, made the return on the vote for Congress, carrying the official papers to Hollidaysburg, the county seat of Blair county. Mr. Auman was accompanied to Clearfield by Mrs. Auman.

Dr. James Mullen, of Bellevue, accompanied by his mother, widow of the late John F. Mullen, drove from Pittsburgh to Centre Hall, Sunday, to look after graves of loved ones buried in the local cemetery. Dr. Mullen, when a boy not so many years ago, came to Centre Hall with his parents to spend the summers. He enjoys a large practice in the dentist profession in the Pittsburgh district.

An advertisement of the Boozer Garage appears in this issue. It is due the progressive spirit of the proprietor, J. S. Boozer, to say that the present structure which takes the place of the one destroyed by fire, a block and brick structure, modern in design, handsomely finished and conveniently arranged on the interior, is a credit to the town. The rest room for ladies is the best tourists will find in a long day's travel.

Allen J. Snyder, 23, pilot of the plane that crashed at Middleburg, was a personal friend of R. S. Jamison, of the local High school faculty. Mr. Snyder was the athletic coach in the Middleburg High. With him in the plane were two students, Carl E. Walters, 17, and George A. Erdley, Jr., 17, star members of teams coached by Snyder. After the crash the plane ignited, burning the three young men beyond recognition.

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Laura, and son Grover, of Loganville, attended the commencement exercises of the Centre Hall High school, the youngest daughter of the couple, Miss Violet, having been a member of the class. Rev. Smith, a former pastor of the Evangelical church here, and family, have many friends who extended greetings. On leaving Centre Hall, a year ago, the Smith family left Miss Violet here to finish her school work. During this time she lived with Mrs. Jennie Lingie.

The Centre County Motor Club was represented at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, held at the Marlow-Stanford hotel, in Wilkesbarre, on Thursday and Friday, by P. A. Frost, secretary of the county club, and H. L. Ehrig, one of the members of the executive board. The gathering was largely attended by representatives of local clubs throughout the State. Among the speakers were Col. Reynolds, of North Carolina; Leon Metzger, head of the Penna. Department of Revenue, and Frank Smith, executive vice-president of the American Automobile Association, Washington, D. C.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Two new USL 15-plate batteries now at the 13-plate price. These new USL batteries give you 70.6 per cent. more power than required by S. A. E.—J. S. Boozer, Centre Hall.

Hon. William B. Wilson, prominent Pennsylvania first secretary, of Labor under President Wilson, died Friday night while enroute from Daytona Beach, Florida, to his home in Blossburg. He was 72 years of age.

Miss Irene Zerby, home economics superintendent in Clearfield county, and sister, Mrs. W. L. Fink, of Philipsburg, both daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Zerby, on R. D. 2 east of here, were guests on Saturday of their sister, Mrs. R. S. Hagan, and family, in town.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Daup, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hagan, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hagan, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Homan and daughter, were among those from town who attended the Memorial services on the Gettysburg battlefield, where President Roosevelt spoke.

Eugene W. Burkholder, of Centre Hall, was appointed a member of the County Consumers' Council for Centre county, of which Charles S. Wyland, State College, is the chairman, and Edward N. Jones, Pittsburgh, is the State director. The Consumers' Council is a division of the National Emergency Council.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wetzel were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Brininger, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baker, children Hobart, Warren and Bernice, of McClure; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Seasholtz and children Joan, Marjorie and Donald, of Heavertown; Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Hughes of Cortland, N. Y.

About 250 fishermen from all parts of Pennsylvania, together with a few from neighboring states, attended the banquet of the Centre County Federation of Fish and Game Associations, held at the Nittany Lion Inn, on Friday evening. The banquet followed the official opening of Spring Creek for trout fishing. The stream was recently re-constructed and restocked under State supervision.

C. E. Flink, who has been confined to the house and much of the time to bed during the past three and a half months, is improving gradually and at present is able to walk about the house and eat at the family table. It will require some time yet until he will be sufficiently strong to handle milk cans and ice cubes, which work is now being done for him by George K. Rimney.

The familiar question, "What shall I do after graduating?" is still a challenge to the seniors. Adequate judgment, as to their desires and abilities, will prevent the misfortune of choosing the wrong occupation. Since most of the fields are now crowded, graduates feel the necessity of choosing their life occupation intelligently.

Some of the members of the class who are interested in the medical field are, Robert Bradford, who is interested in pharmacy; Richard Ross, medicine; Ruth Reiber, surgery; Irene Smith, Helen Weaver, Beulah Meyer and Doris Moltz, nursing.

Three of the boys are interested in aeronautics, Jack Kifer, Woodrow Meeker and Marvin Ishler. When the boys have plane troubles, they will probably call on Pau Foust, the machinist.

Donald Ruble, Violet Smith, and Helen Decker will specialize in beautifying the fairer sex by taking up beauty culture.

Two girls plan to enter the teaching profession: Sara Odenkirk in a music education course, and Alice Foust in physical education, and Mabel Burkholder expects to study home economics at college in the fall.

Other members of the class have not fully decided what they will do after May 25, 1934.

C. H. H. S. ALUMNI CONTRIBUTE TEN DOLLARS FOR LIBRARY USE

At the last meeting of the Centre Hall Alumni Association the members agreed to contribute ten dollars for the benefit of the high school library.

Miss Haines and Miss Geary, were chosen to select the new books. Some of the additions will be: "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde;" at least one book written by Irvin S. Cobb; and several of the Junior Literary Guild selections for 1933 and '34.

SENIORS SPEND THREE DAYS ON TOUR THRU CAPITAL CITY

Seniors of six Centre county schools, including Centre Hall, combined for the annual tour of Washington, D. C., leaving Centre Hall Monday morning, May 14, and returning late Wednesday night.

The trip was made by bus under the direction of Mr. Bachelor, and included spots of historical interest in Washington, such as Washington Monument, Library of Congress, Arlington, Mt. Vernon, and the Capitol.

The tour also included the Zoological Gardens and a gondola trip on the tidal basin.

Miss Agnes Geary and Mr. R. S. Jamison chaperoned the group from Centre Hall.

ROCKEY'S MEADOW PROVIDES FLOWERS FOR BIOLOGY CLASS

On May 11th, the sophomore biology class collected a number of flowering-plant specimens at Rocky's meadow where Miss Geary, the biology instructor, explained the flowers with their peculiar habits and appearances in their natural surroundings.

Some of the more plentiful specimens were allowed to be picked and pressed by the members of the class for future reference.

Both hillside and meadow flowers were collected so that the pupils may become associated with the wild life in this locality.

LOCAL BALL CLUB IMPROVES DIAMOND ON SCHOOL GROUND

Members of the local ball team have improved their playing field by leveling and putting sand on it. The leveling was done with a grader and a drag. About fifteen tons of sand were placed on the diamond and mixed with the ground that was dug up. After the grading and leveling was done the field was rolled by the Potter township roller.

hatching process add materially in making the trip educational," said Miss Geary.

On their return from Washington, the seniors found a striking floral tribute in their home-room, the contribution (they learned later) of Mr. Frank Arney, the janitor.

The bouquet was made of azalea blossoms closely massed together and tied with string to form a spike about eight inches high and four inches in diameter.

When interviewed, Mr. Arney said he had often made similar bouquets which attained a height of as much as three feet.

Mr. Arney's precision and love of symmetry can easily be detected in his arrangement of the school furniture, particularly chairs.

TIGERS PLACE SECOND IN SPRING BASEBALL TOURNEY

"The Tigers" with five baseball victories and three defeats took honors with Port Matilda in second place. The Snow Shoe team with eight victories and no defeats, is the champion of the Western Division. This team has taken a step toward the championship of Centre county by defeating Rebersburg, the champions of the Eastern Division, 10 to 2.

"When our class reached the hatchery, we were divided into two groups and each group was given a guide. We first visited the elongated building in which were many small troughs filled with fish. These fish were called fry. They were hatched in January and are now four months old. A fry is a young fish from one to two inches in length. The guide then told us that a fingerling is a fish from three to nine inches long. These they had outside in a pond.

"The guide then told us about the feeding. The fish are fed sheep's liver four times daily (twice in the morning and twice in the afternoon). He said it takes about 1400 pounds of liver a day.

"We then visited the pools outside the building. In these they have brown, brook, and rainbow trout. The fish in each pool are nearly all the same size because they are sorted or graded. This is done by nets except in the case of the very small fish, when special graders are used.

Kenneth continued to explain that the fish raised at this hatchery are used to stock streams. "The fish are kept until they are six or eight inches long; then they are sent to different trout streams. Some larger trout are kept here at the hatchery. During the winter they have about a half million fish on hand but in the summer the number is increased to a million and a half.

"We then visited the aerators. These are high stands with circular shelves built in pyramid form. The water is pumped to the top and allowed to fall down over these shelves. This is to let the air and sunshine cleanse and aerate the water for the fish.

"Before we left for home we visited the gold fish pool. These fish are kept just as curiosities."

Richard Ross '34 and Miss Geary provided transportation to the hatchery.

Miss Geary expressed her appreciation for the willingness of the superintendent of the hatchery to provide guides for showing the class through the buildings and grounds. "The eagerness of these officials in answering questions and explaining phases of the
