

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Kylertown is no longer a flag stop on the United Air Lines.

Albert Emery, rural mail carrier and ardent fisherman, has a 17-inch trout to his credit.

Mrs. David Kuhn and son and granddaughter of Dewart, are visiting relatives in Millheim, guests of the Knarr family.

John Spyer, who is making good use of his time in a York business college, was at his home here over Memorial Day.

Mrs. Thos. L. Moore had a serious heart attack at her home last week, necessitating her remaining in bed for several days.

Mrs. Myra Winegardner returned from Carlisle where she visited for several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. James J. Glenn.

A nineteen-inch trout with a ten-inch girth and weighing two pounds, five ounces, was captured by T. A. Hosterman in a local stream.

Thomas Henney accompanied his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Erb, of Latrobe, to Centre Hall on Tuesday, of last week and until Sunday he was a guest of Mrs. Lucy Henney.

Early Monday morning W. Frank Bradford left the Bradford hunting camp in Seven Mts. and in a few hours had taken seventeen nice trout, the largest 12 inches in length, from Stone Creek.

Senator H. B. Scott was named president of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children at the eleventh annual meeting held in Harrisburg on Friday, Dr. J. W. Claudy, Bellefonte, is secretary.

John L. Columbus, a son of Solomon (deceased) and Bessie Columbus, was an arrival in Millheim recently, having made the trip east from Los Angeles, his home for the past twenty-seven years, with the object of taking his mother along back with him. Mr. Columbus is a machinist in the employ of the Pacific Electric Railway Co.

Strange, indeed, that a wagon load of corn passing through town should attract attention, especially in a section where corn is a staple crop. Two rows are advanced for the light movement of corn from the farm: one is that the farmer, if a tenant, buys and feeds the landlord's share, and the other attributes it to lack of good farming.

The injury sustained by Joseph Wolf of near Potters Mills, to one of his eyes is gradually recovering, although at this time far from complete. Mr. Wolf is a brick-layer, and while working on the boomer garage a nail on the end of a plumb line struck him on the eye. Of course, he has been unable to lay brick since the accident, neither is he able to read.

Many of the Reporter readers will recall Mrs. Regina V. Longacre, an aunt of Mrs. H. L. Ebricht, and will regret to hear of her death which took place in San Bernardino, California, where she had lived during the past seven years. She was a native of Pheutz's Valley, Juniata county, and frequently visited here. During the lifetime of her husband, Mathias L. Longacre, an artist, the couple lived for most of the time in California.

Harry From, of Salina, Westmoreland county, on Sunday, met a number of boyhood chums in Centre Hall and Penns Valley. He is a son of the late William R. From, and lived with his parents at Potters Mills in 1881, at the time the grist mill at that place was destroyed by fire. The family later moved to Spring Mills and then to Millheim, at which places the elder From engaged in milling. Mr. From was accompanied by his wife.

Tax Collector S. Thomas Swartz reports 50 per cent. of the road tax in Potter township collected to date. The poor tax in the same township will be raised on the next duplicate from 4 mills to 6mills.

Albert Dutrow, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dutrow, was badly bruised and cut in a wreck he had with his Shetland pony hitched to an express wagon at decorated to enter the Memorial Day parade after being loaded with a half-dozen children. The pony was being led by his young master to the place where the parade was forming, and on making a turn the animal spied the decorations on the wagon, and made a dash for liberty. The youth was thrown to the ground and struck by the pony's feet. When freed from the lad's hands, the pony dashed through the Dutrow garden, but without destruction to plant life. The result of the incident was the substitution of boys for the pony, but the youths filled for seats on the decorated wagon held their tickets to the end of the parade.

M. A. Burkholder and T. F. Delaney, two potato growers in this section, were fortunate enough to secure ten bushels of Certified Doolley seed potatoes from Penty Pool, Ontario, Canada. The two farmers asked L. T. Denniston, potato specialist at Penn State College, to locate certified Doolleys for them, but he found no seed of this variety was available in the United States, consequently the importation. The potatoes were labeled grade extra No. 1 and from their appearance they were as such. Mr. Delaney planted seven acres to potatoes, while Mr. Burkholder planted twelve. Dr. E. L. Nixon and Mr. Denniston visited the Burkholder farm to see just what the imported seed looked like, and were given a two-bushel bag to plant in the potato test plots conducted by the Experiment Station of the School of Agriculture.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Isabel Goodhart, of Altoona, after visiting her mother, Mrs. Salina Goodhart, in Millheim, stopped with Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart on her way home.

Mrs. F. V. Goodhart has at her home again Hunter, nine months, and Isabel, four years, children of her sister, Mrs. Musser, living at Mill Hall, and is caring for them, a service she renders with delight.

On her way to Canada, Miss Mary Louise Goheen will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart. She is a daughter of Rev. John L. Goheen, a missionary, now on his field in India. The young lady is a senior in Wooster University, Wooster, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ritter, residents of Millheim, on May 26th celebrated the sixty-fourth anniversary of their wedding. The couple are in good health. Mr. Ritter is ninety years of age, and is a Civil War veteran. Mrs. Ritter was eighty-five last September.

Mrs. Ammon Burkholder and daughter, Miss Marjory, of Trenton, N. J., came to the home of the former's mother, in town, during last week. Mrs. Burkholder has already returned home, leaving her daughter for a longer visit about here with friends and relatives.

During the Kato-Centre Hall baseball game here on Saturday afternoon a foul ball hit Mrs. Calvin Weaver above the right eye, inflicting a bruise and cuts. It was necessary to have the wound dressed by a surgeon. The ball first struck the railing supporting the wire netting to the front of the grandstand, which fact reduced the speed of the ball, but at the same time gave the lady no chance to protect herself.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Stahl came to the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Stahl, prior to Memorial Day and lingered until this week among old friends. Mrs. Stahl's son, Thomas Hawthorne, who was married in March, is now located in Greenwood, S. C. He is a graduate of Penn State and at present is employed as a technician in the South Carolina State Forestry Department. By the way, when the Stahls return to Narberth it will be in a new Dodge 4-door sedan, purchased from R. S. Hagan.

Three doe deer jumped over a fence and into the road and dashed in front of the milk truck George Rimney, was driving, on Saturday morning. A wheel of the truck struck the foot of one of the frightened animals, and again they all leapt into a field. A second time the trio dashed over the fence and into the road, forcing the driver to either stop the truck or hit them. The former was chosen, and the deer took to the woods at the Pettepuff farm, along the Brush Valley road.

Tuesday and Wednesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ebricht entertained a group of young ladies at the Sunset Club House. The young people were Penn State College chums of their daughter, Miss Betty, and were Misses Mary Louise Shaner, Youngstown, Ohio; Dorothy Weigner and Jean Schantz, Allentown; Evelyn Kraybill, Rheams; Louise Davey, Pen Argyl; Jane Glenn, Westfield, N. J.; Laura Kirk Lodge, McConnellsburg; Jane Campbell, Penns Cave; Laura Bell McCormick, and Hazel Smith, the latter a personal local friend of Miss Betty. Miss Campbell was host to the girls for part of a day, during which time Penns Cave was viewed from a boat. Miss Shaner's father and Miss Campbell's father were class mates at Penn State.
