Limbert, one of the prominent farmers along the Brush Valley road in Gregg township, was a brief caller at this office on Friday evening, on the return trip from the Centre County hospital, to which place he had taken Mrs. H. Gardner Smith, who was threatened with appendicitis. Mr. Smith accompanied his wife to the hospital.

Mrs. Sallie Ruble became a Centre County hospital patient on Monday morning, due to an injury to the third finger on the right hand received some days previous in a fall while in the back yard at her home. The couples were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. William Luse and Miss Grace Smith and Mrs. Levan Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Bayard were married in Louisville, Ky., by Rev. Dunlap. Mrs. Bayard, then Miss Florence Rhone, was on her way home from a trip through the West, stopped with her sister, Mrs. Dunlap, and was met there by Mr. Bayard, and, as stated before, were married. The couple received the congratulations of many of their friends who chanced to meet them. Mr. Bayard is connected with Col. Benjamin C. Jones' popular Tyrone publication, the Tyrone Daily Herald.

Curtis B. Reber, the local dairyman, can give you a good story how he was "sidetracked" on the way home from a trip to Brackney, in Susquehanna county, on Sunday. He took Russel W. Bohn to the camp where Mr. Bohn will again be counselor to the boys at the camp. Returning home alone, Curtis got wrong information as to direction upon reaching of a stranger. After proceeding for a distance of 25 miles through a mountainous region, and falling to see any familiar scenery, Curtis again inquired of this time of a boy on the way. He could imagine his surprise when the lad told him he was in New York State! Curtis' reply is not given, but probably is unprintable; but he was wheeled around and started on his way, thinking that by some good stroke of fortune he might catch up with the guy who steered him wrong. But such was not the case. Even Mother Nature was unkind to Curtis, for she let loose a half-dozen thunder showers in his rear. He declares a half-dozen belts of lightning concentrated on a large barn not far from Williamsport, enveloped it in flames and burned it to the ground in short order. To this he was an eyewitness. "Curtis' little trip stepped up the speedometer reading over 400 miles.

Mrs. William Gruenwald and two interesting little children, DeLor, 7, and Ferris, 2, of Mitchell, South Dakota, were callers at this office on Monday morning. She is a native of South Dakota, and this is her first trip to Pennsylvania. She and her husband and two of their eight children left home by auto Monday morning, 4th inst., and arrived in Tyrone on Thursday. Their travel was leisurely, but at that the 1300 miles were covered in a short time. Mrs. Gruenwald is delighted with the mountains and fertile valleys lying between them, the contrast with the home conditions, where all crops have been consumed with heat, being almost unbelievable.

The farmers east of here who recently had an electric light and power line extended to their farms for their convenience are now wondering why they did not take advantage of the offer of improvement long before. While they all were acquainted with the benefits of having a home electrically lighted and the great convenience of electric power, it has only been fully appreciated since the light and power is at their command by turning a switch. The drudgery of the housewife is greatly lessened, and the muscles in the farmer's arms rest while the invisible power operates the pump handle. Safety is another item to be taken into account. A kerosene lantern is a menace when carried through a barn, late at night or early in the morning.
