The Reformed church school will present a children's cantata "Praise and Service," on July 1st, at 7:30 o'clock.

Robert Bradford accompanied his uncle, William Bradford, to Phoenixville where he will remain for a week.

C. N. Kryder is recovering nicely following a sinus operation in Lewisburg by Dr. Allis, Thursday of last week. While he has remained at his home since, he is suffering little pain and but slight inconvenience.

Guy W. Jacobs, son "Buddy," and daughter Rose Anne, motored in from Steubenville, Ohio, Sunday, to visit home friends and relatives. Rose Ann is remaining with Grandma Jacobs for a week or two.

Rev. C. W. Dunlap, on Sunday morning, will fill the appointment in the Methodist church, at Centre Hall. Rev. Dunlap is a retired Lutheran minister, now living in Tyrone, and is well known about here.

Annual communion services were held at Buffalo Cross Roads Presbyterian church, Union county, Sunday afternoon. The church has been closed for a number of years, but each year a service is held in June.

John H. Knorr, who is a foreman at CCC Camp No. 70, near Weynesboro, Franklin county, was at his home here over the week-end. The camp is located in the Mt. Alto School of Forestry and Mt. Alto Sanatorium section.

Ezra Harter, his housekeeper, Miss Annie Weaver, of Spring Mills, and Mrs. S. S. Kreamer, of Lewisburg, were in town among friends on Saturday. Mrs. Kreamer informed friends here that her husband, who had been seriously ill, has greatly improved.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred W. Barry, of Highspire, stopped at Centre Hall on their way to and from Bellefonte where on Sunday Rev. Barry delivered the morning sermon in the Lutheran church, where he was a former pastor. Rev. Barry is held in high esteem about here, where, like in Bellefonte, he was a pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neff and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Potter, early Monday morning started on an auto tour, going direct to Chicago, where the Century of Progress will be given a once over, and then they will go on to North Dakota where the Potters will remain, while the Neffs will go on through the Yellowstone Park. They expect to be gone two weeks.

The funeral of John H. Meyer, at Somerset, was attended by his mother, Mrs. Nancy Bradford, Mrs. John A. Martz, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bradford, Centre Hall; Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford, Phoenixville; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bradford, Albert Bradford and W. H. Bohn, Willard, Ohio. A brief account of the death of Mr. Meyer appears elsewhere in this issue.

Ernest A. Frank, Harvey Flink and Hughes Brining, all school teachers, are attending Penn State Inter-Session, and later will also attend the Summer Session and the Post-Session, covering a period of twelve weeks, closing August 31st. The Inter-Session has an enrollment of about 400 students. The Inter- and Post-Sessions are three weeks each, and the Summer Session six weeks.

The baseball game played at Pittsburgh, Sunday, by the Giants and Pittsburgh was witnessed by Albert L. Emery, Stanley R. Brooks, W. I. Emery and George L. Goodhart, and was pronounced to have been an exciting one to baseball enthusiasts such as this group is. While in the city they were entertained by the Packer brothers—Prof. L. O. and Hensyl. The former dined them at noon and the latter provided an evening dinner at his home. The young men left here at 5:00 A. M. and got back Monday morning at 1:00 A. M., greatly delighted with the trip.

Without a bit of ceremony a Ford coupe belonging to a Lewisburg party dashed onto a porch to the front of the McCleanah old home, now occupied by Wilbur Meyer, located close to the concrete road as it approaches the mountain. A post of the porch was knocked off as was also the porch railings. The car showed to be well battered as a result. Mr. Meyer and family, who had been sitting on the porch, had left it only a few minutes prior to the time the Ford crashed into it, on Thursday evening.
