

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Miss Orpha Gramley accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wipdon Gramley to Centre Hall on Sunday evening and while here visited with the Bartholomew family.

Miss Emma Wolf, Ardmore, will be one of the guests at Sunset Club house of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Smith, who will begin their week's outing today (Thursday).

Blaine Bitner, rural mail carrier out of Spring Mills, drove away from the Hagan Garage, Thursday evening, in a new Plymouth sedan, which he will use in his work.

The Hagan Garage is being re-painted by George W. Long, Penns Cave. The color scheme is ivory with bright red trim, an unusual combination but looks altogether o. k.

Capt. Edward T. Kelley, Clearfield, and District Attorney Philip Johnson, Bellefonte, succeed the late John Blanchard as counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Among the forty-four who successfully passed the test to obtain an operator's license were Harriet S. Smith, Spring Mills; Ray Walker, Anonsburg; and S. E. Stover, Spring Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Hosterman and children, of State College, were guests on Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hagan, and greeted many of his former customers who were his regular patrons when in business here.

Ten million trees are expected by the State Forestry Department from the twenty tons of seeds sown during the past spring. Six hundred thirty-seven bushels of black walnuts and 240 bushels of red acorns helped to make up the bulk of the weight of the seeds.

Emma R. Isenberg, of Port Royal, failed to stop at the intersection of the State College road and Route 53, at Pleasant Gap, and crashed into a car driven by S. H. Lohr. No one was injured, but both cars were pretty badly damaged. The woman was held for a hearing.

Miss Jennie Bartholomew, who had been a patient in the Lewistown hospital for about three weeks where she was treated for a general breakdown, was brought to the Bartholomew home here, where she is living, on Sunday evening. Her condition is somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buckwalter and daughter, Rosalie, 4, of Philadelphia, returned to Centre Hall the latter part of last week, and since Mrs. Buckwalter and young daughter have been guests at the Packer-Brooks home, while Mr. Buckwalter hurried back to the city, on Sunday.

Robert Peacock, of Cleveland, Ohio, was an over-the-week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Smith. Mrs. Peacock was expected to be a guest here during this and next week, but due to activities carried on by a Circle of which she is president, connected with the Lakewood Congregational church, she will be unable to do so.

"BHU" Confer and Ed. Vogt, youngsters with plenty of leg power, rode their bicycles to Spruce Creek one day last week to visit the five town boys who are camping there. The distance on the round trip was 88 miles, so you can figure how much pedaling the boys had to their credit by the time they got home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Mullen and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Strobridge, from the Pittsburgh district, were in Centre Hall over the week-end. The gentlemen while here consummated a deal whereby they secured control of a hunting lodge in the Green Briar region in Gregg township, to be used by them and friends during the hunting and fishing seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kerlin and son William arrived at their home here on Monday evening, after an auto tour of a month. Principal places touched were St. Petersburg and Miami, Florida, north along the coast route to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York City, and across the state of New Jersey, into Pennsylvania, with the last stop at Allentown.

A valuable Guernsey cow belonging to J. C. Rudy, tenant on the Potter homestead west of Centre Hall, was struck by lightning and killed Friday night when in a pasture lot. The animal must have received a terrific stroke, for when found her position indicated having been pitched forward with such force that her horns were thrust deep into the ground. Mr. Rudy carries no insurance on his cattle.

George Albert, eight weeks old, was brought to the home of P. H. Luse, his grandfather, and is now being cared for by Mrs. Fred Luse. The child is a son of George A. Luse, the mother, Mrs. Beatrice Brown Luse, having died a few days after giving birth to him. Albert, after having been given close attention at the Centre County hospital up to a week ago, now appears normal and has become an interesting character at the Luse home, where the father also lives.

Harry Musser, who 16 years ago was convicted of murder in the second degree of William ("BHU") Musser, in the Madisonburg Gap a short distance south of Beck's store at Nittany, and was sentenced by the late Judge Quigley to serve from 10 to 20 years in the Western Penitentiary, will be eligible for parole this September at the expiration of his minimum sentence. Musser is an inmate at the Rockview prison now. It is understood that as soon as he is released he will be paroled in the custody of the State of Maryland where he will be given employment. If Judge Quigley were alive today, Harry's parole chances would be nil.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. W. H. Reish and children, State College, are visiting in Harrisburg this week.

Material for constructing a silo from concrete slabs was recently received by Morris Burkholder.

Samuel J. Wagner and son, Harold, of Boalsburg, on Tuesday attended the funeral of F. J. McClellan, a relative. While in town Mr. Wagner favored the Reporter with his presence.

A lawn festival will be held on the lawn of the Evangelical church on Saturday evening, July 7th, for the benefit of the Daily Vacation Bible School. Ice cream, cake and candy for sale.

In addition to the regular summer schedule of closing, Nieman's Department Store, Millheim, will close every Thursday afternoon during the month of July and August. See their notice on page one.

Rev. J. M. Zang and daughter, Miss Ruth Zang, and the latter's friend, Miss Alice Spiker, Wednesday of last week motored to Bedford, Everett, and back to Huntingdon for the evening. Rev. Zang was out on personal affairs at the places named.

A member of the State Constabulary, driving a sedan car, and accompanied a woman, early Wednesday morning crashed into the mountainside at the curve at the watering trough, between Centre Hall and Pleasant Gap. The right front of the car was badly damaged, and the car towed to the Hagan garage for repairs.

Rev. and Mrs. M. C. Drumm and daughter, Anna Mary, of Middleburg, were in Centre Hall on Tuesday, Rev. Drumm having preached the funeral sermon for the late J. Frank McClellan. They were greeted by many of their friends here, Centre Hall having been Rev. Drumm's first Lutheran pastorate.

A bolt of lightning was responsible for the death of a cow belonging to Jesse W. Klinger, of near Lemont, striking a hickory tree on the pasture land on which a herd of 26 head of cattle belonging to Mr. Klinger were grazing, Friday night, and killing the cow. Mr. Klinger's stock was insured, $50.00 having been collected for the loss of the animal.

Miss Beatrice Baumgardner, in training since last fall in the school for nurses in the Presbyterian hospital, Philadelphia, is on vacation and is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart, where she was living before entering upon her hospital work. Before coming here, Miss Baumgardner underwent a tonsil operation at the hospital where she is in training, and later suffered several hemorrhages which alarmed the surgeon and attendants in charge.

The Masonic picnic at Williamsport was attended by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Booser, R. M. Smith, Miss Roberta Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Odenkirk, Miss Sarah Odenkirk, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Booser, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bradford, G. W. Balston, Centre Hall; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bailey, Boalsburg. All returned home Friday, except the Odenkirks who visited with Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Keller, at Hughesville. Mrs. Keller is a daughter of the late Rev. Foster Fetterolf, a relative of the Odenkirks.

Rev. Martin Schweitzer, Ph. D., of Ephrata, Lancaster county, was one of the Reporter's callers on Monday afternoon. He has long been serving a Reformed charge at Ephrata, but began his ministry at Millmont, Union county, and it was while pastor there that he found Centre county such a delightful section peopled with most likeable persons. He is a Franklin & Marshall product, a classmate of Rev. R. R. Jones, former pastor here, now located at Landsburg, to whom he referred in a very complimentary way.

Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Arthur and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Miller formed an automobile party to auto from Philadelphia, arriving here Friday morning the latter couple going on to Tyrone, all returning home on Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur while in Centre Hall were guests of Mrs. Lizette Jacobs, and for part of the visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meeker, who live on the Fleisher farm in Potter township, the property of Mrs. Arthur, who before marriage was Miss Margaret Fleisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isiah Fleisher, both deceased.
