With the copious rain fall of last week and that of Monday night, the prospects for a corn and potato crop have been much enhanced. Even with less than a normal rainfall during August, a fair corn crop in this section is assured. The crop is far in advance of the season on most farms. Pastures and second growth of clover have also been greatly benefited by the rains during the past week.

GRANGE FAIR ASSOCIATION ADDS 35 NEW TENTS

Grange Encampment and Centre County Fair will again devote a considerable sum and much effort to enlarging and improving its distinctive and ever-popular feature—the camp. Thirty-five new tents have been added, uniform in size and workmanship to those purchased in recent years, replacing a section no longer fit for service. Special wiring necessary for electric cooking, $1.50 extra. Good for the week all tent rental, size 12x12, $7.00; size 14x14, $8.00.

Streets and avenues traversing the camp, where necessary will be resurfaced and otherwise improved for the comfort and convenience of the campers. Arrangements for more satisfactory lighting and a large increase in the number of lights is also included in the plans for 1934 improvements.

The premium book will be mailed out in a few days. It contains complete information for exhibitors in every department. Please note a number of added classes here and there, which it is hoped will solve some difficulties. Also pay particular attention to size of premiums, approximately reaching a total of $3500.00 for the last year as evidence of the commercial value to be an exhibitor at the Grange Fair.
