

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Potter township schools will open Tuesday, September 4th.

Mrs. Allie Bitner accompanied Mrs. Mary Nyhart to her home in Mifflinburg for a short visit.

Miss Pauline Horner, of Colyer, was the guest of her friend, Miss Ruth Walker, at the Presbyterian parsonage, on Friday.

Misses Clara Mae and Anna Lou Row, twin sisters, of Philadelphia, are visiting their cousin, Marion Zang, at the Evangelical parsonage.

Elmer Ross, at Lemont, has engaged Edward Durst to paint the frame dwelling house at that place occupied by Philip C. Bradford, the railroad agent at Lemont.

A camping party at Hecla Park this week consists of the following young ladies: The Misses Mabel Burkholder, Anna Wert, Emma and Isabel, Jodon, and Laura Belle McCormick.

An electrical storm, accompanied by a brief but heavy fall of rain, visited this section at 11:00 o'clock Thursday night, complicating more than ever the harvesting of the oats crop.

Misses Catharine Bender and Ruth Hartley are attending the sessions of the Missionary convention being held at Central Oak Heights, West Milton, as delegates from the Young People's Missionary Circle in the Evangelical church.

Mrs. William Bailey, formerly Dorothy Emerick, accompanied by her two young sons, of Williamsport, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Emerick, in town, parents of the former. Mr. Bailey is a taxi driver and could not leave home at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. James Keller and sons, James, Jr., and Richard, of Lancaster, are guests at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Keller. Mr. Keller is assistant principal of the Lancaster West End Junior High school, where he has been teaching for ten years.

D. E. Kolb, manager of the Municipal theatre in Millheim, left Saturday night to join a party of business men of Williamsport. The party went by train to Philadelphia and from there to Canada where they will spend a week fishing. Mr. Kolb expects to shoot scenes of the complete trip with a motion picture camera, as well as bring the "bacon" back home.

E. S. Ripka, of Millheim, who is the district sales representative for the Staley Sales Corporation of Decatur, Ill., represents fourteen counties in East Central Pennsylvania for the Staley firm, and at a recent sales meeting in Baltimore he was praised for having one of the highest sales averages of all the firm's salesmen in the eastern United States.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Buckwalter and small daughter, Rosalie, returned to their home in Upper Darby on Sunday. Mrs. Buckwalter, the former Miss Vivian Packer, visited at her home in Centre Hall since the latter part of June, and was later joined by her husband, who spent his two weeks' vacation here. Mr. Buckwalter is employed as a chemist for the Surpass Leather Co., Philadelphia.

Miss May Ruth Musser, of Altoona, was elected to the position of staff nurse in the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children in Philadelphia. Miss Musser was a former resident of Spring Mills, being the granddaughter of Robert D. Musser. She is a graduate of Gregg Township Vocational School, an honor student of her class, and also a graduate of Hahnemann Hospital School of Nursing in Philadelphia. For the past year she has been residing with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rabold, in Altoona.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ebricht, accompanied by Billy Morrow, young son of Dr. Hugh Morrow, left here last Thursday for Raleigh, N. C., where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fuller for a week. The Fullers formed their acquaintance with the Ebrichts while living in Centre Hall during the time of the construction of the Pottery Mills-Boalsburg concrete State highway by the Lassiter Construction Co., with which company Mr. Fuller was closely associated, and at the same time Billy Morrow became a bosom companion of Roy Fuller, Jr. The Fullers have permanently located in Raleigh where they purchased a home.

Five of Rev. S. F. Greenhoe's former parishioners where he was a Lutheran pastor on the Orrstown charge, in Franklin county, came to Centre Hall Sunday morning to hear him preach and entertained him at dinner at one of the local restaurants. From here the party, consisting of J. W. Creamer, a road caretaker for almost twenty years, his son, I. S. Creamer, a garageman, and wife, and the couple's two sons, John I. and Irvin, all of Pleasant Hill, returned to their homes by way of State College, where they visited a former neighbor, now living on the farm owned by Prof. Nixon, the potato wizard.

Edward Durst was given the contract to paint the inside walls of the local high school building, by the school board, at a recent meeting. The job also takes in the repair of plastering on the walls. In this connection it is fitting to say that the average school pupil shows a lack of respect for school property, for the appearance of the local high school building, only ten years old, can lead one to think nothing else. It is to be hoped that when they assemble in the fall and find their school building neat, clean, and beautified, at no small expense to the taxpayers, pupils will vie with each other in an attempt to keep it so.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Representatives of "God's Army," from Butler, were in town Saturday morning.

Miss Mary Foreman, of New York City, is visiting among friends in Penns Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. James Foust and family motored to Harrisburg, on Sunday, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Graden, and on their return spent the evening in Sunbury with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gilbert.

Miss Mary Dashem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Dashem, of Centre Hall, R. D., joined a party of friends from Altoona, Sunday, for a week's visit to the Century of Progress Exposition, Chicago.

The Willing Workers Sunday school class in the local Lutheran church, taught by Mrs. J. M. Coldron, met on Grange Park, Wednesday evening of last week, and after the routine program was gone through an elaborate picnic supper was served.

Among the members of the Penn State soccer team to go to Scotland August 11th, to play a six-game schedule with Scotch amateur teams, is Woodrow Corman, of Hubersburg. That will add local interest to the performance of the team.

Agricultural fairs to be held in the central part of the State during the month of August will include Blair county at Altoona, August 15-18; Mifflin county, at Lewistown, August 20-25; and the Huntingdon county fair, at Huntingdon, August 27 to Sept. 1.

The Harrisburg News awarded Jack Coldron a handsome fountain pen as a prize in the News-Zain amateur advertising contest conducted by that paper. Jack displays the prize with considerable satisfaction—a satisfaction, by the way, fully warranted.

Friends and relatives from this section who attended the funeral of Edward Decker, in Akron, Ohio, were Mrs. Thos. Bennage, Jess Long, Mr. and Mrs. George Gingerich and daughter Grace, of Erush Valley, Mrs. Harry Shreckengast, Mrs. A. J. Burrell, Geo. and Winifred Decker, of Millheim, and Kenneth Mark, of Coburn.

Centre county has but $12,000 for public operations under the supervision of the local committee of the Federal Works Division for the month of August. The funds are being applied to the completion of the sewage system and remodeling the old armory, both in Bellefonte, and two projects in Philipsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher, of town, and their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Corman, of Wilkes-Barre, on Sunday went to Edinboro Lake, Erie county, about twelve miles from Erie city, where they will spend a week in Shenley cottage. It is the good fishing and beautiful scenery that attracted the family there the second year.

Guests of Rev. S. F. Greenhoe during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Catherman, of Philadelphia, who were parishioners of the minister when on his first charge at Buffalo Cross Roads. The couple were accompanied by their son and daughter, and were on their way to State College, where the son has been elected an instructor in P. S. C. Another parishioner to call at the parsonage was Prof. Peters, of Phoenixville, to whom the parson ministered while on the Dallastown Lutheran charge.

State employes cleaned up about the shade and ornamental trees planted along the highway between Old Fort and Spring Mills. Grass and weeds were cut around the trees for a distance of a few feet, and the bowl-shaped depression at the base of the tree trunks were brought to their original dimensions and depth, the purpose being to collect and hold moisture and thereby induce more rapid growth. Some of the trees are making a fine growth, greatly adding to the roadside appearance as one rumbles along.

Fred Bender, salesman for the Raleigh Pure Food Products, purchased the property in State College on West College Avenue erected by the late James Smith, for $4,000, and will move into it within the next few weeks. The fact that it is the center of his sales territory, and affords better opportunities for higher education for his children, are reasons assigned for leaving here after a residence of eleven years. The Bender family is highly regarded from the top to the bottom. The head is now president of the borough council and a man of progressive spirit.

Centre Hall gave first indications of scoring ability in the first of the eighth, but with three singles in the last half of the same frame, Pleasant Gap readily offset the locals' efforts, scoring runs number six and seven.

Mrs. Wallace Runkle, who had been very seriously ill during last week, is improving at this time.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Dunlap and Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Bayard spent Sunday afternoon at "Rhonemede."

Claude K. Stahl is very critically ill at his home in Narberth, a Main Line town near Philadelphia. Two weeks ago he was stricken with a nerve disorder, and since has been confined to his room and for much of the time to bed. His physician gave orders that he be kept absolutely quiet. Mrs. Stahl is caring for him. Information received by Mrs. Mary Stahl, his mother, Wednesday morning, was to the effect that he was "improving nicely." His many friends here will regret to learn of his condition. Mr. Stahl has been employed for a number of years in the offices of the P. R. R. at Broad Street Station.
