

Spring Mills

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personals from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rossman are guests of their son, John Rossman, and family, at Warren, where Mr. Rossman is principal of the city public school.

Mrs. S. L. Condo, who had been seriously ill for some time, is now improving nicely with hopes of fully recovering.

Walter Everhart, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. G. H. McCormick and daughter, Miss Laura Belle, of Potters Mills, were in the village one day last week.

After spending about six weeks in Philadelphia with her sister, Mrs. Wm. J. Johnson, Miss Geraldine Bitner returned to her home here, with a very glowing account of her visit.

John Wilkinson is spending several weeks in Altoona, with Mr. and Mrs. Max Harsbarger and son.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stover and daughter, Miss Josephine, were one of a large number of families who ate their Sunday evening supper at Woodward Cave.

The P. O. S. of A. picnic held in the Pines below Penn Hall, Saturday evening, was largely attended. The net receipts are said to have been gratifying.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Braucht and daughter Henrietta, of Coalport, visited about here over the week-end. The Braucht family in the near future expect to make a trip to Chicago to visit the Century of Progress Exposition, and spend some time with Mr. Braucht's uncle, A. Merrill Allison, at Highland Park, a Chicago suburban town.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Erdley spent the week-end at their lodge below the first tunnel, east of Coburn. They had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swann, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Herman and daughters Grace and Gladys, and Mr. Mosier, of Lewisburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman S. Lambert, Centre Hall, R.D.

A number of persons from about here, some of them Jamisons, helped to make up the more than two hundred who attended the Jamison reunion on Grange Park, Thursday.

The festival to be staged by the Spring Mills band, on the Vocational school ground, Saturday evening, is expected to be the event of the season. Elaborate preparations are being made to entertain those who come here to spend the evening. There will be two bands, who will give a program of stirring music. The funds, of course, are for the support of the band, an organization that should have the hearty support of every one in the community.

The property occupied by Mrs. Sarah E. Corman, owned by A. J. Burrell, is being given a coat of paint by James Kerstetter of Penn Hall.

Prof. C. M. Watts recently autoed to Ohio and brought back with him his eldest daughter, who had been visiting her aunt.

The lunch room conducted for some months by Bruce McCormick was closed by him a few days ago.

Two properties are being improved by additions. The Elmer Ripka property, occupied by Melvin Grove, is having a new porch built to it and other minor changes made, while Earl Bartley has the rear extension of his home almost completed and will soon be ready to install bath fixtures.

Both fish pools were drained and thoroughly scrubbed on Monday, by men and boys who "worked for the love of it." The recent heavy rains carried great quantities of surface soil into the pools, which resulted in a stench coming from them within a few days. The young trout showed a bad effect almost immediately. The difficulty has now been remedied. Prior to cleaning the pools the fishes, varying in size up to four inches, were captured in nets and placed in nearby troughs.

Robert Keese is back to his home from the Geisinger hospital, and is reported to be in very favorable condition. Mention of the operation he underwent was made in these columns in the issue of last week's Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hawkins and two daughters, of Schuylkill Haven, were guests on Sunday of E. T. Jamison. Mr. Hawkins is a big-game hunter and comes here each season when deer are legal game.

Reports come from small-game hunters that there are good prospects for an abundance of grouse, ringneck pheasants and turkeys due to the seasons for hatching and rearing the young birds having been unusually favorable. Many broods have been seen, and most of them were large.

Mrs. Carrie Craeger, accompanied by her son, Norman Rossman, visited her daughter, Mrs. Wallace Runkle, in Centre Hall, who has been seriously ill during the past week.

The Groce Silk mill has been closed since Thursday of last week, up to which time it was running at about full capacity, say forty employees. Supt. J. C. Robinson is hopeful that by Monday the wheels will again be put in motion.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Herman, of Belle Vernon, Fayette county, visited their aunt, Mrs. Annie Smith, from Thursday to Sunday.

Mrs. George Hosterman and three young sons, who had been visiting with friends in Akron, Ohio, were brought home by Mrs. Wilmer Stover and daughters, who came east to visit with relatives at Aaronburg Mrs. Stover, on Monday, received notice to again begin work at the Millheim Knitting Mill, where she was employed for a number of years.

Edward Ripka and family and Howard Confer and family, the latter of Spruce town, ate their Sunday dinner at Woodward Cave.

Friday night's storm assumed the proportions of a tornado as it passed diagonally through Georges Valley breaking down or uprooting many trees, unroofing or otherwise damaging barns, dwelling houses and out-buildings. The path of the storm was from the Carson, now Decker, farm, in the northwestern-section of the valley, to the southeastern portion. It was not a continuous path of destruction but spotty, and yet the path could be well defined by light damage. On the Dan Ilgen place the damage was not severe, but on reaching the Ida Decker farm, tenanted by Gregg Carpenter, the doors were ripped from the barn and other damage done. Another deep dip of the storm to the earth is where John Feese lives, where considerable damage was done to the dwelling house, and a bit to the east of here the farm barn on the Harvey Vonada farm was ripped to the square. The iron roof, purlins and rafters were carried a considerable distance, while the harpoon and a section of rope were found at the cross roads. John Vonada occupies the Vonada home-stead and is possibly the owner.

Agnes Delaney, daughter of T. F. Delaney, Centre Hall, was a week-end guest of Mrs. Jacob Sharer.

Darwin Speese, tonsorial artist, of Lewisburg, is now located in what is known as the old post office building. Mr. Speese has had 26 years experience as a barber.

Mrs. Claire Ohl and two sons, Richard and Robert of Lock Haven, are visiting at the parental home of Mrs. Ohl that of C. P. Long; also her sisters, Mrs. R. H. Shook, and brother, C. A. Long.

St. Mark's Lutheran Sunday school will have their annual picnic at Hecla Park, Tuesday, August 14th.
