Mrs. Joseph Desmore, of Youngstown, Ohio visited her mother, Mrs. Helen Bitner, at the R. M. Smith home during last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Jordan, of Bloomfield, N. J., attended the Grange Fair, last week, and also visited relatives in Potter township.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Delaney, on the Baird farm south of Earlstown, on the 20th ult. The young Miss, sry as a lark, has been named Miriam Irene.

A daughter was born Saturday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Slack, at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Slack, where the young couple are living. The young lady tipped the scales to 8 1/2 pounds, and the physician in charge, Dr. Morrow, pronounced her perfectly normal. She has been named Joann Barbara.

Following a recent X-ray check up by Dr. C. E. Ervin, from Geisinger Memorial hospital comes the announcement that Prof. J. F. Wetzel has completely recovered. Mr. Wetzel takes this means of expressing his thanks and appreciation for the many kindnesses and courtesies extended him and his family during his sickness and convalescence.

J. Stanley Smith, of Williamsport, successfully passed the State Board examination and is now licensed to practice medicine in Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, and served his internship in the Williamsport hospital, where he is junior member of staff. The young physician is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith, and is a relative of Mrs. J. Cloyd Brooks.

Clearing the right-of-way for the new concrete road over the Seven Mountains is progressing nicely, that class of work having been completed except for that portion of road leading around Bald Mountain to the top of Sand Mountain. Immediately south of Pottery Mills a steam shovel is cutting down a hill, the work now being about one-half completed. Darlington A. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Brown, Milroy, is superintending the work of removing trees, etc., from the right-of-way.

Paul Huprich and Mrs. Huprich (nee Miss Faye Bohn), and infant son, of Akron, Ohio, motored to Centre Hall the last of the week for a short visit with Mrs. Huprich's brother, Russell W. Bohn, and wife. They also visited another brother, George Bohn, at Le-mont. Mr. Huprich holds the position of assistant manager of Armour & Co. in his home city. Mrs. Huprich is a Centre Hall High school graduate, and retains the charming manner which endeared her to her class mates during her school days.

The Centre Hall Camp P. O. S. of A. was represented at the Easton State Camp sessions by E. S. Ripka, District President, and Ernest Wagner, delegate. The 1934 State Camp sessions commemorated the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the free public school system in Pennsylvania. During the sessions a monument was dedicated to ex-Governor Wolf, near Bath, Northampton county, near the old stone academy where he taught over one hundred years ago. During his administration Governor Wolf supported all progressive school legislation, and it was on April 1, 1834, that he signed the bill creating the free public school system in Pennsylvania.

Among the Blair county residents who were lured by the Grange Encampment and Fair were A. B. Litz and Charles A. Malone, both of Hollidaysburg. Mr. Litz is editor of the Register, the oldest newspaper in the State preaching the doctrine of the Republican party, established ninety-eight years ago. Mr. Litz, who succeeded F. J. Over as owner and editor of the Register, is the third owner of the paper since its founding. Mr. Malone is the son of the Mr. Malone who in 1898 had the contract for laying the water mains in the borough. The young man was then a workman, but now is engaged as a contractor. It was his first visit here since the laying of the pipe line. He was surprised to see the improvements made in the borough since that time, and recalled a number of persons with whom he had become acquainted during his stay here in the summer of 1898.

Dr. W. E. Fischer, of Shamokin, was among his former parishioners in Penns Valley Saturday, Sunday and Monday, after having omitted his annual visit last year to his first pastoral field. Dr. Fischer came here fresh from Gettysburg Seminary in 1875, and gave the Penns Valley Lutheran charge the first eighteen years of his ministerial work. During this period two churches were built in Centre Hall, the first on the south side of Church street on the site now occupied by the home of D. K. Keller, which was erected at the beginning of his pastorate, and the present church, erected in 1885. When the last obligation of indebtedness due to the construction of the latter church was cancelled, Dr. Fischer accepted one of several calls extended him and in 1893 began his services at Shamokin, where he is active today. He filled the appointment for Rev. Greenhoe on Sunday evening in the church here, and gave his hearers a soul stirring sermon on an old testament text, II Kings 4:2, "What hast thou in the house?" He stressed that we use the things we have, whether small or great.—He was accompanied here by Gray Burbet, a chauffeur, who found humanity of special interest here.

the second half of the 1934 season looked very slim as the last half of the eleventh got under way, for Boalsburg had scored a run in the first half of that stanza, when losing pitcher Jack Markle walked, stole second, went third on Stover's error, and came home on Meyers' Texas leaguer.

However, with one already down, Markle walked Knarr, who promptly stole second. Then Wip Stover stepped to the plate and kept Centre Hall in the game by driving in the tying run. With Wip going second as a play was made at home on Knarr, and going third as Welsh grounded out to first, Manager George Rimmey went in to pinch hit for Fetterolf, in an effort to end the game then and there. However, George was hit by a pitched ball, and then Markle struck out Martz for the third out, making a twelfth inning necessary in order to decide the issue.

Jamison opened the last frame by hitting his second single in two times at bat, but he was thrown out at second as Goodhart got on safely on a fielder's choice. Then, after Chick had gone second on catcher Meyers' error, Bradford stepped to the plate and won the game with a clean single.

Lefty Pastorius pitched his second nine innings of ball in three days on Saturday starting for the locals, and remaining on the mound for the first nine frames, allowing seven hits. Jack Welsh, pitching his first Centre County League game for Centre Hall, finished the game, allowing but one hit, and is credited with the victory, since the score was tied at 2-2 when he took over the mound.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Michael Lamey, a watchman at a hunting camp in the Fourteen-Mile Narrows, died a few days ago.

Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Wolfe, of Homestead, were recent guests of Mrs. Wolfe's sister, Mrs. W. F. Keller.

Miss Evelyn Colyer went to New York, Saturday evening, and may remain in that city for an indefinite time.

Two night-blooming cereus are displaying themselves in the homes of Mrs. W. H. Homan and Mrs. Charles Miller, in town. The flowers are exceptionally large, beautiful and fragrant. Mrs. Homan has a second plant about to bloom.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shoop on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Clair Vedy and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crounour and two children. Mrs. Vedy and Mr. Crounour are grandchildren of Mrs. Shoop.

James E. Frohm was a patient in the Phillipsburg State hospital for a few days last week, having gone for treatment for excessive bleeding from the nose. He was considerably weakened through loss of blood, but has since recovered.

Miss Isabel Bradford, on Wednesday, went to Danville to begin her studies as a student in the school for nurses connected with the Geisinger Memorial hospital. Another student from Penns Valley who will enter on the same line of work is Miss Malone, of Coburn.

Upon her 81st birthday, on Tuesday, Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs spent the day at Green Gables, Lewisport, in company with W. L. Jacobs, Misses Margaret Jacobs and Annie Sweeney. Although obliged to use crutches to move about, Mrs. Jacobs has a clear mind and keeps posted on the events of the day.

Miss Edith Boozer became seriously ill at Creshelm Hall, Mt. Airy Station, Philadelphia, where she has been living since a child, and was taken to Chestnut Hill hospital for treatment. She was visited there by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Boozer, on Saturday. Her case at that time had not been fully diagnosed. Mr. Boozer expects to visit her again within a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Lusk, of Philadelphia, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher, this being Mr. Lusk's first visit to Centre county. He is employed as an electrician in a large lace factory and is fortunate in having had continuous employment during the period of the depression. Mrs. Lusk, who before marriage was Miss Lola Ulrich, is a niece of Mr. Fisher, and is well and favorably known here.

PENN STATE GRAD GETS 10 DAYS FOR DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Charles J. Wilson, Penn State College graduate, was sentenced to ten days in the Mifflin county jail and fined $50 and costs when convicted on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

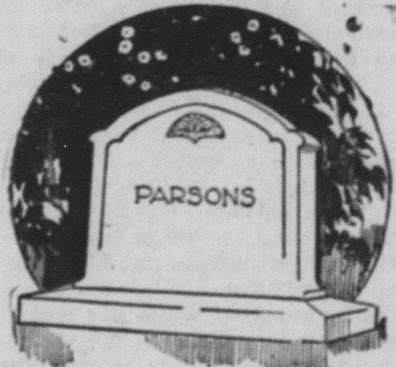

The First National bank is one of the 14,000 similar licensed banks to receive signs indicating that deposits made in them are insured for the full amount up to $5000, which maximum protects more than ninety-seven per cent of all deposits in insured banks. The signs are displayed at all windows through which deposits are received. It ought to be a real comfortable feeling on the part of the depositor to place his funds in an institution that has the National Government's guarantee that his deposit will be repaid 100% at any time. This has never been done before.

Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief Administrator, must have heard of Pinchot's pre-election promise to cut the cost of operators' licenses and license plates in two. He evidently presumed that a Pinchot promise could not be relied on even though it referred to feeding the hungry.
