The petition to the court asking that State College borough be divided into four wards instead of two was dismissed by Judge Fleming the latter part of last week.

The rainfall at Centre Hall for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday summed up to three and one-fourth inches. The fall on Sunday alone was two and one-third inches.

The Bellefonte Academy, including all the properties held by it, was sold at Sheriff's sale Friday for $3500 to the Fidelity Trust company, of Pittsburgh, who hold a mortgage of $55,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Grayson, of Shippensburg, arrived here Wednesday of last week and since then Mrs. Grayson has been assisting in caring for Rev. S. F. Greenhoe, an uncle by marriage. Mr. Grayson returned home the beginning of this week.

Curtis M. Watts, principal of Gregg Township Vocational school, is one of 4,182 individuals whose biographical sketches appear in "America's Young Men", the volume which is a "Who's Who" of the young men of America. Prof. Watts is a son of Dean R. L. Watts of the School of Agriculture at Penn State.

The vault in the county treasurer's office of the Clinton County courthouse was entered Friday night or early Saturday morning by several burglars who cut a hole through the second floor. The same morning the treasurer, Lewis S. Zimmerman, disturbed thieves who he presumed were about to enter his home.

William E. Cole, 43, of Benton, is in a critical condition in the Lock Haven hospital with a fractured skull and other injuries and his companion, Russell Weaver, 25, of Bellefonte, is a patient at the same hospital with a broken collar bone suffered Thursday midnight when the car operated by Cole went off the highway on route 220, between Cedar Springs and Lamar.

The new Macadam road from Philipsburg to Black Moshannon Dam, along which are numerous lodges of residents from Philipsburg, Altoona, State College and Tyrone, pavilions, assembly houses, pretty lakes, is now completed. Work has already begun to extend the road to Unionville, over Rattlesnake Mountain, which will afford the shortest route from here to Philipsburg.

Although his colonies of bees were reduced fifty per cent by the excessive cold during last winter, the remaining forty colonies were able to produce between six and seven hundred pounds of honey during the past season for their owner and attendant, Roy M. Garbrick, farmer west of town. Mr. Garbrick is versed in bee lore and is able to tell of many, seemingly peculiar habits of the honey bee whose home is always well regulated.

M. C. Delaney was brought back on Saturday from the Geisinger hospital, Danville, where he had been a patient under observation for ten days. He suffered an attack similar to that experienced last spring, which kept him confined to his home for a considerable length of time. He is now able to be about the house, at times, but the bed is preferable. Mr. Delaney is a farmer, and is living on the Raymond farm, south of Earlstown, purchased by him a few years ago.

D. H. Slegal and sons, Fred and Robert of Spring Mills, were in town on Monday morning, stopping here on returning from Potters Mills where they had expected to do plastering for Thomas A. Davis, the lumberman. The veteran plasterer and his sons just completed the plastering in the bungalow erected by John Meeker, along the Krisse Valley road, in Seven Mountains. The new home of a young couple is very complete, with a hand-some front porch built of stone by Orvis Horner, the carpenter work having been done by Harry Shreckengast, Farmers Mills, and John Ream, Centre Hall.

Hugh Morrow, Jr. of town, is devoting the first week of his second year as a student in journalism at Bucknell University as a special correspondent for the Williamsport Sun and the Miltonian, daily newspapers. He is located at Lewisburg and is "pinch-hitting" for Mr. Buck, the regular correspondent, who is "covering" the Union county fair. Hugh gives promise of developing into a first-class newspaper man. He has boundless enthusiasm, a nose for news, and a good command of English—all necessary adjuncts. During his vacation he spent much time in the Reporter office, getting first-hand information in things mechanical, including the operation of the Linotype, besides giving Reporter readers interesting articles on the Centre County League baseball games.

After having been a patient under observation in the Wills Eye and Ear Hospital, Philadelphia, the information obtained there is not encouraging for Miss Vesta Blauser, who has had fear for some time that she might permanently lose the sight of one of her eyes. Miss Blauser is a school teacher in the Potters Mills grade school and some time ago discovered that at some periods one of her eyes was entirely sightless although, she experienced no pain in connection with it. She was taken to the hospital by her father, John Blauser, beginning of last week and returned home on Saturday. Hospital authorities informed her that it appears the eye is dying on the inside, and that little can be done from preventing the disease taking its natural course. She is, however, able to continue teaching and is doing so this week.

A chicken and waffle supper will be served in the Trinity Reformed church basement, Centre Hall, Sept. 29, from 5 to 8 p. m. Adults, 40c; children, 25c.

Miss Edith Boozer continues to be a patient in the Chestnut Hill hospital, close to the Mt. Airy school where she is employed, and is gradually improving. She will be brought to her home here shortly to remain until again able to perform her duties at the Mt. Airy school.

A newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lamping, of Joliet, Ill., were visitors over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Stoner, their uncle and aunt. Mr. Lamping conducted a gas station near Joliet, but turned his business over to the "boys" until he and his bride have finished honeymooning in Old Pennsylvania.

The construction of 4.91 miles of concrete highway on Route No. 64, between Mill Hall and Beech Creek, was completed Friday after almost a year had been spent in its building. The contract price was $167,978 and was paid with Federal funds. The road is part of a short cut through Bald Eagle Valley from Lock Haven to Tyrone.

Within two hours of the dead line, Mrs. Cordelia Bryce Pinchot, withdrew her name as an independent candidate for governor. Another independent candidate to withdraw was Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown, who filed petitions as a candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs. He is a Republican and polled 250,000 votes in the May primaries. Mayor McCloskey announced he would support Earle for governor.

William Gruenwald, the Dakota horse dealer, arrived here Monday evening in advance of the car load of horses he will sell Friday at Centre Hall. He was accompanied by his brother, Charles Gruenwald, and a son, William, Jr., a youth of seventeen, both of whom are seeing Pennsylvania for the first time. The son accompanied the horses, while the brother, also, Samuel Haire and Ray Rudy, of Millburg, traveled with the elder Gruenwald. The two Millburg gentlemen went west with the horseman, leaving here on a Friday morning at 3:30 a. m. They arrived at Mitchell, South Dakota, on Saturday at 11:00 o'clock a. m., the distance being 1285 miles. On their return here on the present trip a day was spent at the Chicago fair.

Let Chevrolet tell its own story of riding and driving comfort Make the ownership test

The best way to get the truth about the new Chevrolet is to make the Ownership Test. Drive this car over the same routes, in the same way you drive your present automobile, and let the results you can see and feel tell their own story. A ride will prove that Knee-Action makes bad roads good, and good roads better. A ride will prove that shock-proof steering, Synco-Mesh gear-shifting, a remarkably flexible 80-horsepower engine, and cable-controlled brakes make a big difference in safety and driving ease. A ride will show you why so many thousands have found it impossible to return to ordinary driving after an experience like this.
