

Spring Mills

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personals from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

Work on the new bridge over Penns Creek on State Highway Route No. 45, at the flouring mill at Spring Mills, was begun in earnest on Monday, following a bit of preliminary work during last week. The greatest length of the steel girders is ninety-eight feet, which figure represents the approximate length of the bridge. The roadway will be twenty-two feet, with a five-foot walk on the north side. The piers of the old bridge will be used to carry the structure. They will however be cut down to a point so that the 18-inch standard I beams laid on the proper level. The heavy I beams will extend over the piers on the north side for a distance of seven and one-half feet, which extension will provide for a walk. The new bridge will have a more modern appearance than the old one, its sides having a height over road bed and walk of but three feet, seven inches. There will be no riveting—all joints will be electrically welded. All the work is being done by the State. Carl Flick, of State College, is the foreman in charge.

The old bridge was erected during the term of Commissioners John G. Bailey, John L. Dunlap and C. A. Weaver, whose clerk was James H. Corl. This was pretty early in the present century.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Bitner, Tuesday of last week, returned from an eleven-day trip of 2500 miles, carrying them through eight states. Their first stop was at Finley, Tenn., with Mr. and Mrs. Lester McFadden. Mrs. McFadden is a daughter of Edward Sweetwood, of Potters Mills. From here a number of side trips were made, one to Step Rocks, Ark., where Mr. McFadden's father lives. The town gets its name from the contour of the section on which it is built—a great hill of rocks naturally stepped. Lincoln's birthplace, a Hodgenville, Ky., the center of interest in a National park. Bardstown, in the same state, where in a Colonial mansion the familiar song, "Old Kentucky Home," was written was a state park full of interest, but nothing was of greater interest than a tour through one of the great cotton gins of the South. Gin of another sort and the habit of serving chicken for breakfast were also attractive. In Tennessee, Mr. Bitner says, he paid the highest price—22 cents—for gas, and 12 cents, the sum collected per gallon in Missouri, was the lowest paid for motor fuel on the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Grenoble and two sons, of Smulton, spent Sunday with the couple's daughter, Mrs. Bruce Bailey and family.

A landslide on the road near the buildings on the J. S. Reish farm east of here, almost cut off traffic until the ground was removed.

G. Blaine Bitner, District Deputy Grand Patriarch, last Saturday night installed the officers in the Penns Valley Encampment, Spring Mills. On Friday night he will conduct installation ceremonies in Millheim for the induction of officers in Victory Encampment, No. 164; on Monday, 24th inst., a similar ceremony will be held in Bellefonte for Encampment No. 72, and on the evening following (25th) installation will take place in Summit Encampment, No. 74, State College.

Detour signs were erected over the short detour made necessary on account of the construction of the new bridge over Penns Creek. You enter the highway within a few hundred feet from where you leave it.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Speicher spent Monday afternoon in Lock Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burris, of York, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stover.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wagner and daughter, of Woodward, were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wagner.

C. A. Krape is confined to bed at this time due to a relapse following a light attack of pneumonia ten days or more ago. Mrs. W. A. Odenkirk of Centre Hall is helping to take care of him.

J. C. Robinson made a business trip to Lewisburg, on Monday. The Groce Silk Mill, of which, he is superintendent, is being operated at capacity. Up to this time the strike in the larger mill centers has in no way affected the operations here.

W. S. Auman spent the week-end in New York State.

Gloria, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Wingard, had the misfortune to fall down a pair of steps and in landing struck her head, cutting a gash requiring three stitches to close the wound.

Mrs. Pauline Rossman changed her living quarters from the former H. F. Rossman residence to that of the Bitner-Swab home.

The Harvest Home services in the Reformed church, on Sunday, regardless of the unfavorable weather conditions, were well attended.

John W. Decker became the father of a son at 12:05 Monday, p. m. He was given a hearty greeting by a sister, and of course, was cooed over by the parents. The youth is normal in every way, and is being cared for by Mrs. Sherman, R. N., of Lewisburg. Congratulations.

Mrs. Wm. Bressler has been seriously ill from a heart condition. There are hopes now for her recovery.

The "Bean Soup" at McClure was attended by a large number of persons—youth and old—from this section. The question raised in the mind of J. A. Wagner was whether or not the paper bowls would stand up for more than one serving of "soup."

Miss Geraldine Bitner, a graduate of Gregg Twp. Vocational School, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bright Bitner, entered the Marinello School of Beauty Culture, in Philadelphia. While taking this course of instruction she will live with her sister, Mrs. Catharine Johnson. Her friends here wish her success in the preparation for her chosen profession.

Miss Miriam Tachudy, home economics teacher, spent the week-end at her home in Lebanon.

Mrs. C. B. Stover is suffering from an attack of hay fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heckman visited Mrs. Heckman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones, Milroy, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fetterolf and two young daughters, and the former's mother, Mrs. P. A. Fetterolf, motored to Ventnor, N. J. Saturday, where they were reunited with Mrs. Rose M. Baird, daughter of the latter, who had been doing missionary work in Korea, Japan, during the past seven years. She is now on a year's furlough and she and her mother expect to live in Ventnor during the coming winter.

In a fall from a scaffolding at the barn of Harry Auman when threshing was in progress, Foster H. Noll escaped with injuries less serious than the first examination apparently indicated. Although the injury is painful, there are no broken bones in the foot or ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Morris, of Philadelphia, are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Vera Myers.

G. B. Bitner, D. D. G. M., installed the officers of Penns Valley Encampment last Saturday evening.

Last Sunday evening Mrs. Della Reiber and daughter, Miss Ruth, of Centre Hall, and her son, George, of New York, and Messrs. Meyer and Bayer, of State College, were visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Dukeman, of Clearfield, made a business trip in this vicinity.

The writer just received word that Samuel G. Leitzell, of Chicago, had died very suddenly. He was a son of the late Samuel Leitzell, formerly of this place. He left Spring Mills about forty years ago.

Tusseyville.

Mrs. S. T. Swartz spent Wednesday in Bellefonte visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Robb.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Martz spent Wednesday at the R. W. Smith home.

Mrs. Calvin Cooney, of Colyer, visited Friday with Mrs. Calvin Bottorf.

Mrs. Annie Thal, Maurice Miller, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gharet, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shadow, of State College; Mrs. Ellen Hess and Melvin Holderman, of Red Mill, Mr.

and Mrs. Wilbur Holderman and son, of Chicago, Ill., were Sunday visitors at the A. W. Holderman home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Grove spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Martz.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ramer, son Charles, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bottorf spent Sunday among friends in Jersey Shore. Mr. and Mrs. Bottorf expect to remain in the city for several days.

GOOD ADVICE

SUCCESSFUL farmers will tell you that of all their farm equipment nothing is more valuable than their telephone.

It helps them buy and sell to the best advantage. It keeps them in touch with market prices.

When things go wrong it brings them help without delay.

Take their advice and tell us to install a telephone on your farm. Nothing does so much for so little!
