A mistaken idea has become current S. Martz. with respect to the building of the new bridge over Penns Creek, on State Highway Route No. 45. Because of the fact that the heavy steel girders were temporarily laid farther to the P. E. Mersinger, from Tuesday north at the west end than their true position, the impression became prevalent that the west end of the new bridge would be shifted farther to the north than the old structure and that the course of the higway would lead directly toward the Meyer gurage. When completed the new bridge will be located approximately in the same position as the old one. To the eye, at least, no change will be noticeable.

A TRIP to town costs money-even if you should walk! Few farmers can afford to waste the time or to pile up unnecessary mileage.

That's one reason why it doesn't pay to be without a telephone on the farm. The trips it saves to town and to the neighbors will more than pay its trifling cost!
