

Spring Mills

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personals from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Homan of Centre Hall, were dinner guests of the E. T. Jamison family, on Sunday. Mrs. Homan has been an invalid during the past five years, but remains quite cheerful and is able to enjoy a repast as well as any one.

While this column will show it, it is nevertheless proper to say that news items, happenings during the past week about here, have been very scarce or at least could not be discovered in time for this issue.

Four young musicians, students in the Vocational school, are at the Pennsylvania Farm Show this week, taking their place in a band of approximately one hundred pieces. The youths selected from the Future Farmers of America organizations in all parts of the state. The boys are Spurgeon Condo, Ellsworth Stover, Robert Corman, Cameron Musser.

Colleen Hazen and wife, of Petersburg, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Condo.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Godshall and young son, Teddy, will leave today (Thursday) for Mauricetown, Cumberland county, N. J., where the young man has secured a position on a large dairy farm. He is a graduate of Gregg Township Vocational, and took a course in dairying at Penn State, having been one of the mid-winter graduates. The couple will begin housekeeping.

About twenty members of Castle 169, Knights of the Golden Eagle, Spring Mills attended the funeral of William F. McKinley, Saturday afternoon. The burial service was participated in by C. B. Stover, acting Noble Chief for Clarence Gentzel, and Carl Meyer, High Priest. The service of the Order is impressive and was well performed by the officers named. Burial was made in the Sprucecreek cemetery.

Mrs. Melvin Grove accompanied Mr. Grove on one of his trips to Buffalo. Mr. Grove operates one of several large trucks owned by Howard Sober, and are used exclusively to transport automobiles.

Sixty-two persons from here attended the inauguration of Governor Earle, all traveling by train. Of this number thirty-three were members of the Spring Mills band. The trip was greatly enjoyed.

Constable William Smith, mention of whose mishap of the fracture of a bone in the right leg near the ankle was made in this column last week, is improving nicely. The limb was placed in a plaster Paris cast.

James C. Barger died Sunday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Elmer Foust, at Locust Grove church. A full account of the death will appear under the proper head in this issue.

The Keystone Degree was conferred on Ellsworth Stover, Robert Corman and Adam Condo by the Future Farmers of America, an organization made up of boys from Vocational schools in Pennsylvania. To obtain the Keystone Degree the future farmer lads must have had an average of a B or over all through their high school work. One of this number in the local Vocational school, Mr. Stover, is taking both the Academic and Vocational course.

Going East motorists will go by way of Millburg, Middleburg, and Mt. Pleasant, and on to the intersection of Route 11, north of Liverpool, and on by Amity Hall to Harrisburg. To go to Lewistown the much improved road through the Synagogue Gap to Decker Valley road leading to Sunset Club house on Route No. 322 appears to be the choice of short cuts through the mountains.

Robert W. Neese is reported to be improving.

Mrs. Gertrude Walters, daughter of John Ebert, of Beaver Dam, died at her home in Buffalo, N. Y., on Saturday. No details are known here. She is survived by a husband and several young children, also by her father, named above, and these and probably other brothers and sisters: Clarence, Beaver Dam; Edward, Bellefonte; Roy, Renovo; Irvin, Zoni; Charles, Hughesville; Minnie (married), Williamsport; Bertha, and Mrs. Frank Bohner. There were sixteen children in the Ebert family.

Mrs. Walters was aged 38 years. The children surviving are: Beatrice, Alice, Louise, and Sarah.

Mrs. Annie Eisenhuth, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Eisenhuth visited Cleve Gingerich in the State hospital, Danville, and report his condition as somewhat improved.

Miss Marion Tschudy, and one of her pupils, Miss Evelyn Brooks, motored to Harrisburg on Monday evening and returned Tuesday evening.

Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. defeated the Gregg Township Alumni team in a fast and well played basketball game Thursday evening at Spring Mills. Caldwell and Crust for Bellefonte and Condo, Rossman and Zerby for Gregg were the outstanding stars. The score: Gregg Township Alumni, 32; Bellefonte Y. M. C. A., 48. Referee, Rossman. Score keepers, Smith and McCool.

The State Farm Show is being attended by many of the Vocational school pupils, some interested in projects, others demonstrations, and yet others simply as visitors. The list gathered is as follows:

Senior project winners in State contests—Robert Campbell, 14th sheep; Leonard Ilgen, 8th sheep.

Tusseyville.

W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Annie Rossman, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. W. S. Martz and Mrs. Annie Rossman spent Thursday quilting at the R. W. Smith home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Holderman, granddaughter, Melissa, attended the funeral of Mrs. Holderman's niece, Mary Beaver, held at Lewistown on Saturday.

Miss Ann Wert, from Lock Haven, Teachers' College, spent the week-end at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gharet, Mrs. Chas. Wynn and son were supper guests Sunday evening at the A. W. Holderman home.

C. P. Rainer returned home Monday from a week-end trip to Philadelphia.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

GET SEEDS FOR GARDEN—Seeds of reliable vegetable varieties should be ordered for the spring planting. A shortage of seed stocks is reported this year as a result of the adverse weather conditions last year. Your county agent can tell you what varieties have proved most adaptable in demonstrations.

PROTECT POTTED TREES—Potted evergreens should be kept in sheltered places where they do not get the reflected midday heat from stone buildings and likewise should be kept from the corners where prevailing winds may harm them in late winter.

FARM GROUPS MEET—More than two dozen agricultural organizations are meeting at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg this week for business and educational sessions.

GROW TON LITTERS—Eighteen litters of pigs which weighed more than a ton each at six months of age were grown in Pennsylvania last year. Lancaster county led with five of these heavy swine families.

PREVENT MILK FREEZING—When milk freezes the chemical balance is disrupted by the breaking down of casein and butterfat structure. Under these conditions true samples cannot be obtained at the weigh platform.

CLUB MEMBERS FINISH—In Cumberland county where 4-H corn club work is popular, 141 of the 165 members who enrolled last year finished all phases of their projects. This is the best completion ever obtained in that county.

STUDY BY MAIL—There is an unusual demand for the correspondence courses in agriculture and home economics offered by the Pennsylvania State College. Have you asked the director of the courses at State College for a new catalog which shows how you can conveniently add to your education?
