

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Fred W. Klinefelter, a few days ago, moved onto the Harter farm at Stone Mill.

Dodds, the South Dakota horse dealer, will be here Monday. See his ad and posters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Musser, of Rock Springs, were Sunday guests at the F. V. Goodhart home.

Miss Miriam Moore, public school teacher at Hershey, was at her home here over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bergenstock and daughter Helen, of White Deer, visited Rev. J. W. Zang and family on Thursday of the past week.

Bruce D. Rowe came to Centre Hall via the Greyhound bus line from Bloomfield, N. J., Friday morning, remaining until Sunday among his sisters in town.

While walking on a pavement made slippery by a coat of ice, Mrs. Harry Reich fell lengthwise backward, but escaped serious injury. She was picked up by Merchant George Johnson, who happened to be nearby.

Stuart Musser, of Pleasant Gap, has been suffering greatly from a severe attack of quinsy during the past two weeks. It became necessary to lance both sides of the tonsils. Mr. Musser is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Fye, of town.

Mrs. Dorworth, wife of Charles E. Dorworth, former Commissioner of State Forests and Waters, who suffered a paralytic stroke Thursday of last week, was reported improved on Wednesday noon. She continues to be confined to bed.

The heavy snow of Friday afternoon and night put to work 893 snow plows and 2,173 men. The snow fall in various sections of the State was reported to vary from six to fourteen inches in depth. In this section all roads were kept open.

Among students in agriculture education at Penn State who are getting their practice teaching this month in vocational schools of the State are Clifford C. Wood, of Red Hill, at Boalsburg Vocational, and D. Lee Mohney, of Jackson Center, at Spring Mills Vocational.

Walter Springer, of Coburn, was arrested on Saturday by Constable G. W. Wolfe upon information made by Springer's wife charging him with assault and threats. He was arraigned before Squire A. S. Stover, of Anaronsburg, and upon default of $300 bail was committed to the county jail until the next term of court.

Old age pension checks are said to have found their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, a deserving couple, west of town. The former has been granted a $15.00 monthly pay and the latter a $10.00 stipend. The couple have another income, one of $20.00 per month, for keeping a Potter township charge.

R. Paul Campbell, of State College, was formally admitted to practice law in the Centre County courts, on Monday morning, by Judge M. Ward Fleming. He is a son of Milo Campbell, of State College, a Penn State graduate, and later graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Law School, Philadelphia.

The committee appointed by the Centre County Baseball League to revamp the by-laws of the organization, met in the high school building and formulated several new rules that will be submitted to the league executive committee for action. The committee members who reported were R. S. Jamison, chairman, Centre Hall; Mallory, Rebersburg, and Miller, of State College. The county league will meet in the fire-house, Pleasant Gap, Monday evening.

Using a Chevrolet 4 1/2-ton truck, George Lutz is collecting a regular business in hauling soft coal from the Snow Shoe mountains. The five Shetfield milk plants in the county, located at Centre Hall, Spring Mills, Coburn, Howard and Bellefonte, are supplied with coal regularly by him under a contract, while White Rock Quarries, Pleasant Gap, is another regular coal customer. One of the qualities of Mr. Lutz that accounts for his being able to hold customers once acquired is his dependability.

The Young People's Missionary Society connected with the Lutheran church met at the home of Mrs. Paul Fetterolf, on Wednesday evening of last week. The organization is made up of the young ladies in the church, and support the Woman's Missionary Society in general mission work. New members were admitted. The officers are: Mrs. Fred Homan, president; Mrs. Harold Durst, vice-president, and Mrs. William Miller, secretary. At the close of the regular program the hostess served delicious refreshments.

William Adam Neese, of Spring Mills, a patient in the Centre County hospital for two weeks, was visited by the writer and Squire C. W. Slack and found to be in fine spirits due to the progress he is making in recovery from injuries received in an automobile accident, on the 9th instant, on the Old Fort-Boalsburg road. The chief injury was a broken knee cap. Another patient at the institution it was desired to visit was former Squire E. T. Jamison, also of Spring Mills, who has been cared for at the hospital for about the same length of time, but whose nurse reported he had just received a treatment and could not receive callers at that time. His condition, however, was reported as favorable.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

"The Glad Girls," an organization of youthful females, from local religious denominations, held their regular meeting at the home of Miss Dorothy Blazer, a member, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Blazer, west of Old Fort.

Paul Fetterolf, clerk in the local post office, sustained a serious fall on an icy pavement, Tuesday evening, and upon returning to work Wednesday morning suffered such pain that it became necessary to assist him to his home. A badly sprained back developed into lumbago, and he is now confined to his home.

William Keelin, Jr., a few years ago, began the collection of match boxes and at this time has gathered a number of boxes of as many makes. The collection already includes some rare containers. This is a fad, of course, but by the time he attains his dad's age his efforts may be realized on much beyond present expectations.

Miss Bertha Rachael Palmer, of Evanston, Illinois, who has acquired fame as an educator, will bring to Centre county a new approach to the liquor problem, acknowledged to be thoroughly educational. Those desiring to attend the first school of alcohol education are requested to notify Mrs. Ellis Blerly or Mrs. W. A. Broyles, State College. The meetings will be held March 16, 18, and 19, at the Nittany Lion Inn, State College, afternoon and evening at two and seven.

A second pusher-type propeller driven sled found its way to town during last week. The youth who built the wind-splitter is Paul Brooks, one of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brooks, west of Centre Hall. The sled is known as a "bob," two sets of runners. The propeller, on the rear, is operated by an engine salvaged from a discarded Dodge automobile. The power-driven vehicle is guided with a steering apparatus similar to some extent to that found on an auto and is capable of shifting the front bob of the sled. It is a success, Paul says.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THE politicians at Leavenworth and Atlanta, where the government has a couple of colonies of them, sometimes get to telling each other their troubles, and they say it's just awful the way these boys has had it put over on them.

Two of these politicians was talking, and one of them says, "Well, how did you happen to get here, anyhow?"

"Why, a jealous, envious, low-down skunk in my own party done it to me. He was so sore at my good luck that he told in the papers that I had stole a million dollars from the treasury."

"Well, well, there's no end to the wickedness of some of these ungrateful dogs! But why didn't you come back at him and make him prove it?"

"That's just what I did. And I reckon I was a fool. When he proved it, why here I came, and here I'll have to stay until after next election anyhow."

FARM ACCOUNTING CONTEST LAUNCHED

Bankers Evolve Plan for Stimulating Important Aid to Farm Success

THE Cache county, Utah, bankers recently added a stimulus to banker-farmer cooperative work by launching a farm accounting contest. At a meeting of the Clearing House Association the project was put before the bankers, and methods and plans formulated.

Each bank in the county agreed to enroll a minimum of five farmers in the farm accounting project. The names of the farmers when enrolled will be sent to the Secretary of the Clearing House, and also to the Extension Division of the Utah State Agricultural College. The bankers agree to cooperate and keep in close touch with each farmer they enroll so as to insure the completion of a maximum number. The bank which succeeds at the conclusion of the contest in enrolling the largest number of farmers completing the project will be given a special recognition at the annual meeting.

The banks of Cache county have agreed to subscribe to an award fund, which will be presented to five winners as follows: first prize, $35.00; second prize, $25.00; third prize, $20.00; fourth prize, $12.50; fifth prize, $7.50.

Recognition for Good Farming

In addition to the cash prizes, every farmer customer enrolled, who scores sixty per cent or more, will be awarded a special certificate issued by the Clearing House Association and the Extension Service jointly in cooperation with the Agricultural Committee of the Utah Bankers Association.

The scoring will be done on the following basis:

Farm and home account records (accurate and complete) ... 50%

Success of year's operations as brought out in the summary of the year's business 25%

General appearance of farm and improvements and condition of livestock and poultry, (judging to be done during the summer months) 25%

The contest will end December 31, 1933. The judges will be the County Agent, the County Key Banker, a representative of the Clearing House Association, and two representatives selected by the Extension Division of the College.

Your eyes must "look" a thousand times..

IN ONE EVENING OF BRIDGE

And Now Light for "Good" Seeing Costs Less Than Ever!

IN twenty hands of bridge a thousand and forty cards are played. You look at each card in your hand, or in the dummy, many times. It is natural, then, that good lighting should improve the enjoyment of the game.

Our habits of living have tremendously increased the burden we place upon our eyes, since Edison developed the incandescent lamp fifty-five years ago. Recognizing this, careful students of illumination have laid down these rules for proper seeing: Have good general illumination, so that your eyes do not tire themselves by shifting from darkness to light. Have enough light on the seeing task. Avoid glare. Check your home lighting! We will gladly furnish a Sightmeter for this purpose... and make specific lighting suggestions. Better Light means Better Sight.
