

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Prof. and Mrs. James Hughes, and Mrs. Hughes' sister, Mrs. Ida Green, dined at the Jodon restaurant one evening last week.

Fred H. Raymond moved on Friday from the Condo farm in Georges Valley to the T. A. Meyer farm at Coburn.

E. W. Miller, of the Miller Motor Company, on Tuesday made a hurried trip to Harrisburg in quest of Chevrolet cars.

The local undertaker, F. V. Goodhart, during the past week had six funerals to take care of. None of the deaths occurred in Centre Hall.

Miss Miriam Moore, of Centre Hall, has been reelected to teach one of the primary grades in the Hershey city schools next school year.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vogt and two small daughters, on Sunday, motored to Wilkes-Barre where they were guests of relatives and friends.

Harold, son of Mrs. Lulu Brungard, of Rebersburg, was taken to the Centre County hospital, on Friday, where he underwent an appendectomy.

Mrs. Della Reiber and daughter, Miss Mary Reiber, on Wednesday went to Carlisle where for a few days they will be guests of Lieut. Wm. D. Reiber.

Merchant George C. Johnson and family spent a part of Sunday at the Johnson cabin, on Spring creek. The cabin is located near the hatchery on that creek.

Fred Homan, the plumber, is now occupying his new place of business in the W. H. Homan store building, formerly occupied by the late T. L. Smith. Mr. Homan contemplates branching out in several lines, hardware being one of them.

Mrs. Brininger, accompanied by her sisters, Miss Isabel Jodon, and Mrs. Glenn Corman, motored to Tyrone, on Friday evening to meet the former's husband, Hughes Brininger, of Johnstown, who came here for the week-end.

Bruce Knarr is making regular trips to a chiroprapist in Lewistown. He is experiencing trouble with one of his feet, due to an injury sustained while playing ball during last summer. He believes the difficulty is being gradually corrected.

"The Tiger," local high school paper, appears this week in 12-page form, commemorating the 300th anniversary of public schools in America. The issue is a credit to the pupils and their advisor, Miss Agnes E. Geary, English teacher.

Ralph E. Dinges, on Thursday, moved from Centre Hall to 318 East Bishop street, Bellefonte. He is employed at Whiteoak quarries. Paul Bradford a minor boss at Lancaster Valley CCC camp, will follow him as tenant in the Brungart property.

Robert Campbell, youngest son of Mrs. R. P. Campbell, at Penns Cave, penetrated one of his knees with the tip of a fork. Anti-toxin, was administered to prevent blood poisoning. In case such a germ should have entered the wound at the time of injury.

George Searson and son, James Searson, are now in the west for the purpose of buying a carload of horses to be shipped here and put on sale in Centre Hall the week of April 15th. The definite time and description of animals will appear in the Reporter and on posters at a later date.

Gervin Schaeffer returned to his home from the Centre County hospital on Saturday evening in fine condition after having undergone an appendicitis operation fourteen days previous. He expects to be back to the Kerlin poultry plant, where he has long been employed, in a short time.

The injury sustained by Frank White, farmer east of Centre Hall, while working at Whiteoak about two weeks ago, is improving, although he is not yet able to walk. It will be recalled that Mr. White was struck on the foot by a falling rock. Until recently the results of the injury were threatening.

The foundation walls for a building of considerable dimensions is being laid by Jere Stover, in Pleasant Gap, opposite the Grange hall. The foundation walls of stone are being built by Orvis Horner, who will also lay the concrete blocks for the two-story structure. The building will be used for a workshop.

Ford cars seem to be in demand, judging from the sales reported by Edward Vogt, the local agent. Cars were sold recently to Mrs. Nettie Bilger, Nittany Mountain, a deluxe 4-door sedan; John G. Love, Esq. Bellefonte, deluxe coach; Russell Breen, Rebersburg, standard coach; George Vogt, deluxe touring sedan.

W. R. Grazier, who for about eight years conducted the Millheim hotel, known as the National, retired on Monday, at which time Jacob Bateman of Bellefonte, assumed charge under a lease. While the young man has no experience in conducting a hotel, he has had ample experience as a chef, his last engagement having been with the Corner restaurant, in Bellefonte.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Ream, after having lived in Centre Hall for several years, have moved to the Israel Spayd farm, in the Penns Cave district, and will engage in farming. Mr. Ream on coming here purchased the H. W. Dinges place, improved the property by the addition to the dwelling house, and sold it. He then purchased the Henrich home, in the northern section of the borough, which was also sold a few weeks ago.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. D. C. Mitterling entertained at cards at her home one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Jodon attended the funeral of the former's cousin, Clyde T. Jodon, a Bellefonte grocer, on Friday afternoon.

Failure to carry a car inspection sticker for the first half of 1935 will put you in a position where it will require a ten-spot to get you out of it.

Mrs. J. W. Zerby, in the Penns Cave district, who has been ill for three weeks or more, has recovered sufficiently to be out of bed a part of each day.

The dog law enforcement officer is in Centre county on official business. The officer is A. C. Ackerman, of Huntingdon county, which county is included in his field of operation.

After having been at the home of her son, James B. Lingle, and family, at Kennet Square for much of the winter, Mrs. Jennie Lingle returned to Centre Hall a few days ago and opened her home.

Christ Keller is out and around again after having been confined to bed for a few days and to the house of his brother, W. P. Keller, during the remainder of last week. He was suffering from intestinal pains.

John H. Knarr, the local butcher, purchased a pony at the Gruenwald sale for the use of his children, John, Jr., and Nellie Jane. There is a likelihood that other similar animals will find their way here for the benefit of children.

Mrs. W. H. Homan, who has been an invalid for several years following a paralytic stroke, became very ill on Sunday with pains in the bowels, possibly due to the bowels telescoping. Wednesday morning her condition was reported to be very serious.

A report from the Centre County hospital, on Wednesday morning, was to the effect that John E. Gentzel of Spring Mills, who had been seriously ill, is improving nicely, and about the same report was given concerning W. Howard Durst, Centre Hall.

Mrs. Harry Condo, of Spring Mills, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wolf, in Bellefonte, since Saturday, at which time she was accompanied there by Mr. Condo, but who returned home on Monday to open the grade school in Spring Mills he is teaching.

The manner of conduct of Barber F. P. Geary at a garage at Port Matilda where he had his car repaired after a tire blow-out, which upset his car, suggested to the garageman that his customer was a preacher. With a bit of demonstration the motorist was able to convince the mechanic that barbers, preachers and garagemen sometimes used the same language to give expression to their thoughts.

A drive will be put on in the next few days for funds with which to improve the present and secure additional fire-fighting apparatus. Before you decide on the amount of your contribution, turn over in your mind what it would mean to you if there were no volunteer fire company, and what it might mean if its equipment were made just a bit more efficient should your property be threatened with destruction by fire. If we work together the load will not be heavy.

The Tyrone Daily Herald, issue of Monday, gives prominence to the story of "Bert" Bayard's retirement from newspaper work after 25 years' service as city editor on the Tyrone Daily Herald. While still a comparatively young man, Mr. Bayard's retirement has become necessary owing to an increasing deafness which has dulled a faculty, necessary for the acuteness of which is recognized by every good newspaper man. Mr. Bayard is well and favorably known here, and is the husband of Miss Florence Rhone, daughter of the late Hon. Leonard Rhone.
