SILK MILL RE-OPENS TODAY According to a statement by Supt. Robinson, the Groce Silk Mill will resume operations today (Thursday) after a temporary shutdown.

Elaine, the younger of the two children of Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Pruyn of Morrisdale, who had been ill since January, is now recovering nicely. The child first contracted measles, and later pneumonia. The many friends of the Pruyms in this section, where they lived prior to locating in Clearfield county, will be glad to learn of the gradual recovery of a child held dear to all who knew her.

Mrs. Clayton Snyder is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Wm. Ream, who since the death of her husband is living with her children.

A trip to Johnstown, on Saturday, by Orrie Smith, of Aaronburg, and Miss Alice Detwiler, of Spring Mills, raised the question whether or not the young couple had marriage in mind. Mr. Smith is employed as a clerk in the general store of a brother, Charles Smith, in Aaronburg. The couple traveled in a new Chevrolet coach purchased from the Miller Motor company, which probably had something to do with the rumor that Miss Detwiler declared with positiveness to be entirely due to a fertile imaginative brain.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spellman and son Earl, of Paoli; Mrs. James Burd, Mrs. Carl Martz and Mrs. Jeff Martz, of Northumberland, were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Erdley, on Monday. Mr. Spellman is a limestone quarry operator on a scale similar to that of Whiterock, at Pleasant Gap.

FARM CALENDAR. Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

SAVE INJURED TREES—Girdled fruit trees usually can be saved by bridge-grafting. Unless such treatment is given the trees those that have been completely girdled by mice will eventually die and those partly girdled will be injured or killed. Soil should be mounded up around the base of the tree to keep the injured portion from drying out until the grafting is done.

START GARDEN EARLY—As soon as the soil is dry enough to work the garden should be started. Stable manure, green manuring crops, lime, and fertilizer will help to put the soil in condition for efficient production.

POTATOES CAN BE FED—Some of the surplus potatoes can be fed to livestock on the farm if certain precautions are observed. Ask your county agent about the feeding value of potatoes and how they can be fed to the various animals.

PEEL PULP WOOD NOW—Pulpwood peels easily in the spring when the sap is moving in the trees. The peeling season for most hardwoods, pine, and hemlock starts with the first warm weather and lasts until about June 1.

MAKE CHEESE AT HOME—Cheese is a valuable food which Americans have not learned to use as extensively as people in European countries. Surplus milk can be made into cheese for use at home. Your county extension workers can give you direction.

FEED GRAIN AS NEEDED—Grain should be weighed and fed carefully according to the cow's production. Any other practice is bound to be exceedingly uncertain and probably expensive.
